Congressman Curtis' Victory Over Holtz Aided Greatly by Vote Here

Although traditionally Republican Newton returned a practically two to one majority for top State candidates of that party at the election Tuesday, on the local level, with respect to the Representative contests, the Democratic candidates exhibited a remarkable showing of strength.

In the contest for Representative in the 4th Middlesex District, the Republican candidates, Representatives Gibbs and Rawson, came very close to being upset in their bid for

Ceremonies in Hall of Flags To Mark First 'Veterans Day'

Plans for proper observance of the first Veterans Day in Newton next Thursday, already are being made by Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, it was announced today by Commander Edward A. Cunningham.

At 10:30 a.m. on November 11, services will be held at the Hall of Flags, City Hall, Newton Centre. Past Commander J. Joseph Ward is Chairman, and he has arranged to have the Newton High School Boys Chorus under the direction of Wesley Merritt. Joseph Chevarley, past exalted ruler of the Newton Lodge of Elks and a member of Post 48, will deliver the principal address. All are cordially invited to attend. Rev. John L. Johnson, pastor of Corpus Christi and Chaplain of Post 48, will give Invocation and Benediction.

President Eisenhower signed a bill enacted by Congress to change the Day of Armistice, November 11, to Veterans Day. Explaining the reason for changing the name of this patriotic holiday, Commander Cunningham said:

"Armistice Day was originally dedicated to the cause of world peace, and in the past has been regarded and observed throughout the country as a day to hondr the veterans of World War I who fought, and especially those who died for that cause.

"The holiday, however, was ignored by many on the grounds that it was associated only with the signing of the Armistice on November 11, 1918, two wars ago. Since that time, the United States has fought in World War II and in Korea for the same objectives which World War I veterans fought to advance and preserve."

Commander Cunningham pointed out that redesignating "Armistice Day" as "Veterans Day" does not establish a new holiday, but "it expands the significance of an existing holiday in order that a grateful nation on a day dedicated to the cause of world peace, may pay proper homage to all its veterans who have contributed so much to that cause and to the preservation of the American way of life.

"We hope," said Commander Cunningham, "that all citizens of Newton will join the American Legion in suitable observance of Veterans Day on November 11."

Newton-Wellesley Hospital In Red Despite Red Feather

The Newton-Wellesley Hospital is currently operating on a deficit pattern, despite financial aid from both the Newton and Wellesley Community Chests, the trustees were told at the quarterly meeting held in Usen Auditorium, Newton Lower Falls.

A year ago on October 1 the hospital had lost $22,673 during nine months of operation. This year operations for nine months resulted in a deficit of $92,446.

Newton ($42,600) and Wellesley ($10,650) Community Chests have matched last year's donations, leaving the hospital $39,196 in the red for the year to date.

Like a majority of the nation's hospitals, the Newton-Wellesley institution experienced a drop in the average number of days a patient stays in the hospital. Improved medical and surgical practices are responsible. However, this has kept the hospital from meeting increased expenses, including higher salaries.

The trustees were told that the deficit pattern is improving, by measures being planned and put into action. The five per cent raise in rates a few months ago was described as the factor that has kept the situation from wotsening.

A recommendation made by staff physicians to increase income by relaxing obstretical restrictions, thus allowing more women from surrounding communities to use the hospital,

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Gov. Herter's Strength and Sen. Saltonstall's Near Defeat Stand Out as Big Surprises of the Election

Governor Christian A. Herter, on the strength of his spectacular victory in the face of Tuesday's Democratic trend, would stand today as probably the outstanding Republican Presidential prospect, in the event President Eisenhower does not seek another term, if it were not for a thin constitutional technicality that probably disqualifies him from sitting in the White House.

The two big surprises produced by Tuesday's voting were the size of the plurality Herter rolled up and the small margin by which Senator Leverett Saltonstall escaped defeat. Most political observers had anticipated that Herter and Saltonstall would survive the election but that Saltonstall was the safer of the two.

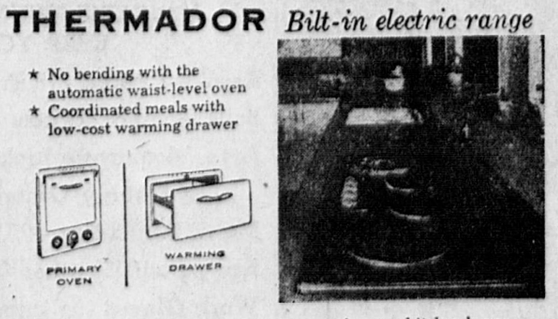

It didn't prove that way, when the returns rolled in on Tuesday night and during the early hours Wednesday morning, and Herter, in his second State-wide campaign, demonstrated both his increased vote-getting stature and the fact that the kind of administration he had given the people of Massachusetts during the past two years has made an impact upon the public.

One reason Saltonstall was so seriously menaced by defeat on the first returns that it was believed he was defeated was that the political picture was thrown out of balance by the fact that the vote totals from Western Massachusetts, where State Treasurer Foster Furcolo made so strong a run, came in before those from some other sections of the State.

Says Reports of Violence In South Africa Not Exaggerated

JOHN A. REVLING

"I do not feel that American press reports of fear, tension, violence, hatred and danger in South Africa have been exaggerated. In fact, I think that most such reports have been very moderate and balanced in so far as they have reported specific situations," says Dr. John A. Reuling of Boston just back from an intensive five months visit to Africa, including South Africa, Rhodesia and Angola. He will speak to the Men's Club of the Union Church in Waban, tonight (Thursday). His subject will be "Which Way Africa."

A Congregational Christian layman and secretary for Africa and Mexico of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, Dr. Reuling has made three comprehensive visits to Africa since 1946, when he became secretary for Africa, and prior to that time had been a Congressional Christian educator among the Bantus in Adams, South Africa, for 14 years.

Africans are naturally law abiding, Dr. Reuling declares, but there are numerous instances now where they have been dangerously aroused. Responsible African leaders who still hold out for cooperation with the white man and for a lawful and orderly approach to the problem are finding it increasingly difficult to maintain their positions of leadership," he adds.

Many reports coming to America "do not give full recognition to those white South Africans, Dutch and English alike, who on Christian ethical and economic grounds, have been waging a valiant battle against the forces of evil that are abroad. These folks are often discouraged by world criticism from America, Europe and Asia which conveys the impression that every white South African stands over the African with a whip in his hands," Dr. Reuling emphasizes, while at the same time adding that there is "too much complacency among a large section of the white population."

Because he is a layman, Dr. Reuling's message appeals to the man in the pew, for he talks in language laymen understand. He is a member of the National Committee of the Congregational Christian Laymen's Fellowship.

For a period between service on the field in Africa and his present international post, Dr. Reuling was the president of Northland College, Wisconsin, where he served with distinction through difficult war years; but his heart was still in Africa and when asked to become secretary for Africa by the American Board in 1946 he accepted the call.

Nebraska born, Dr. Reuling spent his early life in Wisconsin and was educated at Michigan State College and Cornell University. Both in America and in Africa he was active in the Boy Scout movement and founded several troops among the Bantu boys. For over 10 years he was commissioner of the Coastal District of Natal and assisted in numerous Gilwell Training Courses for Scoutmasters.

"Almost without exception African leaders ask for the aid of churches rather than secular agencies, having proved to their own satisfaction that mere knowledge without spiritual and moral stiffening is self destruction," says Dr. Reuling. "If world Christian forces rally to assist and lead the Africans in their development, they have the possibility of making a tremendous contribution to world peace."

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Because television receivers are such delicate and complex instruments, you can't say too much about the importance of sound engineering and careful manufacturing for satisfactset be compact, well-designed, caretory performance. Not only must the fully assembled with good parts, but other precautions, such as proper shielding of the wiring and parts, are essential

A TV set can act as a transmitter itself. Your neighbor's set, for instance, might be the cause of those diagonal dark lines traced across your picture. A radiating receiver is one of the worst of all causes of interference in reception. Manufacturers with a conscience take great pains to shield the offending parts of the set and to prevent radiation by any other means. Radiation simply means that traces of the TV signal escape in the air, where they can easily be picked up by a nearby receiver.

Since the early TV receivers were made a great many things have been learned about these unwanted signals, and long strides have been taken in getting the set to screen out anything but the main signal coming from the station transmitter. Today's antennas, too, do a better job "screening" the signals in the air.

Fall Memories

It's a clear, chill Saturday — a long, long day, week-long longed for — but far too short, ere sundown, for all the things that a boy can do.

There are, among other joys, nuts to be gathered in the leaf-strewn woods, harvested now against snow-bound Saturdays to come. Then there will be the hulling, the cracking, the eating with a sprinkle of salt — and goodies saved for cookies and cake.

What memories! The boy who was born and raised in Hometown America will always remember the excitement and fun, the stain on his hands, the ring of hammer on flat-iron — all on a homesick afternoon in the Fall.

Hopeful Generation

Watching today's adolescents, many observers are moved to dolorous comment. They counsel our buoyant youth with a sad shake of the head and the proud boast: "When I was your age I was working." No one can contest the truth of this statement. In 1900, only 400,000 children attended high school. This figure represents less than 7 percent of the 14- to 17-year-old age group of that year. In 1953, however, over seven million children were in our public and private high schools, a little better than 77 percent of our teen-age population.

Obviously, children are staying in school longer. No one begrudges fathers their laurels for sober industry at a tender age. But the children should ask a hearing.

The labor market for the 14- to 17-year-old group has shrunk considerably with the advent of child labor laws and more especially with the giant strides of technology and industry. With few exceptions, teen-agers are not welcome in employment offices. The jobs their fathers performed as lads are in many cases non-existent now or are relegated to the adult non-skilled worker. Most industries and businesses demand of their employees at least a high school diploma. Emphasis in almost all phases of the phenomenally variegated vocational world of today is upon skill, training and adaptability.

Teen-agers of our time have had a raw lesson in adaptability almost from their first protesting cries. Reared through the tensions of war, startled by the strides of a cold peace, confused by Korea and faced with the draft, few are the children who have much resembling the good old days to look back upon. If they think the future looks bright and are willing to train for it with the changes and challenges it will bring, the bulwark of hope lies in encouraging them.

Teacher Training

Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard University, recently declared that the nation's schools emphasize educational methods at the expense of intellect. He shares this opinion with many other of the nation's leading educators, such as President A. Whitney Griswold of Yale.

What these educators are saying, in effect, is that the schools are paying too much attention to the form of education, and not enough to the content. Teachers' colleges are emphasizing methods too much, they say, at the expense of subject matter. Teachers spend too much time learning the "how" of their profession—in courses such as psychology of education—instead of the "what."

The one, in fact, is indistinguishable from the other. A teacher steeped in the classics who is unable to reach his pupils is as ineffective as one who knows how to teach but has nothing to teach. It may well be that in recent years educators have stressed techniques too much, at the expense of the subject. If this is true, they undoubtedly did so to correct an earlier lack of balance.

Teachers should be guided by Mr. Pusey's advice that they "should be encouraged in all their experience to grow as persons, rather than to become educational technicians." Teachers, in other words, should be neither all scholar nor all educator. A fine balance, keeping method and subject matter even, is needed.

Code for Comics

The Comic Magazine Association, an organization of comic book publishers, has made public a code of ethics which its members hope will succeed in cleaning up the industry. The code will be administered by former New York municipal court judge Charles F. Murphy. He will have the power to grant or withhold his approval of any comic book.

The idea of an industrry policing itself is sound and has worked before. But to succeed it will have to have the support of all publishers. Comic books have come in for a great deal of criticism, most of it justified. There has been talk about imposing censorship by law. While the idea of censorship is abhorrent to most Americans, some control over the matter presented for reading by the young will have to be exercised. If the industry does not bring itself into line it will face the prospect of censorship from without.

Freedom to publish must not mean freedom to corrupt and that is what some of the comic book publishers have been doing. Let them clean up their mess in a democratic manner, assuming their rightful responsibilities. The industry will benefit from the clean-up quite as much as will the public. They are making a good start.

Capital Visiting List

The annual trek of foreign dignitaries to the nation's capital is under way. If anything, this year's list is more imposing than ever. As a result, regardless of the outcome of next month's elections, Washington is in for one of the biggest social whirls in its history.

William V. S. Tubman, president of Liberia, was the first to arrive in Washington for a state visit. Prime Minister Mohammed Ali of Pakistan and his wife were in the capital city October 22, and later, West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The highlight of the Washington social season will revolve around the visit of Queen Mother Elizabeth. Before she leaves, Prime Minister Yoshida of Japan will appear on the scene to take his place as guest of honor at the many events planned during his stay. Chancellor Raab of Austria will visit Washington late in November, while early in December, the Prime Minister of Ceylon is expected on the scene. January will find Paul Magliore, the president of Haiti, in Washington. It is possible that subsequently French Premier Mendes-France may visit the capital, and there is some speculation that Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia may be tendered an invitation. Other dignitaries of lesser stature will be arriving periodically.

This imposing list is more than a gauge of Washington's social life. It is essentially a demonstration of the importance of this nation in the world today. The world's greatest people come to Washington to see and be seen, to hear and be heard. They come to learn, to ask advice, to seek help for their nations. They come regardless of which party wins the election—to do homage to a nation that is the wellspring and chief defender of political democracy.

Who Was Elkanah?

Elkanah Watson, pioneer in promoting canal building, left as his most lasting moment that popular institution, the county fair. In 1810 he organized the first cattle show in Pittsfield. Out of it grew today's fairs, with contests for prize cattle, vegetables, fruits, amusements and refreshments, an event looked forward to for months ahead.

Fame is fleeting. His name seems not to be mentioned at today's fairs.

Like Father, Like Son

Christopher H. Phillips must be an unusual person. He is the son of a veteran diplomat, following his father's profession. That happens every day with the sons of lawyers, doctors and businessmen, but rarely with diplomats. Phillips, who has been a state senator in Massachusetts, has been named Deputy Assistant Secretary of State of International Affairs. He is 33, the State Department's youngest high-ranking official.

His father, William Phillips, has been for nearly half a century in the diplomatic service. He has been Undersecretary of State, and has represented the United States in Italy, Luxembourg, and other countries, besides serving on many special international commissions set up to solve knotty problems. Both parties have used his services freely.

If the younger Phillips does anywhere nearly as well as his father, he will be an asset to the State Department.

Countryside PTA

Dr. and Mrs. Carleton Singleton and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Horovitz were the judges at the second annual Halloween dance-party held by the Contryside School P.T.A. on October 28. Women's division winners were Mrs. Irving Platt as a circus clown cop, and Mrs. Leonard Newman as a baby bassinet.

Award takers among the men were Mr. Martin Talcofskya as a Neanderathal (sp) man and Mr. Edward Silbergerg as a spaceman.

Door prizes were awarded and refreshments served. El Rico and his orchestra played for dancing. Dance committee Chairman Albert Datz on behalf of the committee and the Countryside School P.T.A. expresses thanks to all who attended reminding them that through their donations to the dance the P.T.A. will be enabled to operate more effectively this season.

Studying Taxidermy

Taxidermy may once have been considered a "stuffy" subject, but not according to local residents who are enjoying the up-to-date and engrossing Techniques of Taxidermy course at Boston's new Museum of Science. Among the students who will have the opportunity to prepare mounts of a fish, a bird and a mammal are David Phillips, 211 Bellevue street, Newton, and Andrew Morrison, 79 Atwood avenue, Newtonville.

Letter To Editor

SEN. LEE REPLIES

Editor, Graphic:

Many citizens were puzzled by the circular published last weekend too late for any reply before the election. Here are the answers to some questions raised by the circular.

Question. Would this bill prevent me from getting 100% coverage on my auto liability insurance?

Answer. No. Any motorist who wanted to could have the same coverage that he carries today. (See lines 66-68.)

Question. But I thought this bill compelled each owner to be a co-insurer of 25% of the first $1000.

Answer. That is not so. It is easy to reach a wrong conclusion about a technical statute. The present law compels car owners to carry $5000 insurance for any one claim. This bill would merely take the compulsion out of some of that. Whether he carried insurance on the balance would be left to individual choice.

Question. Then does it mean that I would pay a full premium but get only partial protection?

Answer. Of course not. You would pay a smaller premium for the lower coverage, about 18% less.

Question. Why does not the bill mention the lower premium?

Answer. That provision is in another section of the law. Section 113B.

Question. Would this bill compel me to pay a lawyer's fee in addition to my insurance premium?

Answer. Not if you were satisfied with the way in which the insurance company was handling the case. If they want to settle and you refuse, then it is natural you should have your own lawyer.

Question. Would this proposal favor the insurance companies?

Answer. No. It would give them smaller premium returns and require more negotiations with the insured. The insurance companies opposed this bill.

Question. Who did sponsor it?

Answer. A group of seven or eight men, including a couple of lawyers, a motor vehicles inspector, and an insurance agent.

Question. What was their purpose in proposing such a plan?

Answer. To cut down the number of traffic accidents by making drivers more accident conscious and to lead juries to be more careful in awarding damages.

Question. Why did you file this bill?

Answer. Because I thought these gentlemen should have an opportunity to present their plan to the legislative committee on insurance.

Question. Why did you vote this bill?

Answer. I did not. Personally, I prefer to see individual merit rating given a fair trial before we turn to any other scheme.

Question. Then why are you bringing this bill up again in 1955?

Answer. I am not bringing up the bill in 1955. It is a dead issue.

Question. But the circular said it was coming up again.

Answer. Then the circular was wrong. It is not on the docket for 1955.

Question. But why would anyone bring up a dead issue in the campaign for the next legislature?

Answer. Not being the one who brought it up, I cannot say. Unfortunately, the effect of such tactics might be to deter a legislator from filing any bill except one he wrote himself or got from his own party officials. This would make it impossible for a citizen without political pull to have his ideas considered. It seems to me that a senator should be ready to give a hearing to any group which wants to present its views.

Richard H. Lee

'DEPLORABLE RELICS'

Editor, Graphic:

In this time of enlightened, mature interest of the ordinary citizen in his elected community government, it has become apparent that some of our children are being denied access to adequate educational facilities by the inaction of incumbent politicians.

Specifically, the Mason and Rice Schools — deplorable relics of a Victorian era in the center of our progressive community— might be condemned to disuse and replaced by an adequate, modern structure in which our children and teachers would be both physically safer and phychologically better adapted to learning or teaching.

This change is prevented by political inaction. It seems evident that those officials whom we have placed in office must now publicly defend their position in this matter.

Dr. and Mrs. Jack Metcoff.

FUTURE OF N.C. COMMON

Editor, Graphic:

Newton Centre at long last finally has a prospect of modern school buildings. Newton Centre children go to school in the two oldest buildings in the city — Rice built in 1870 and Mason in 1901.

I was proud to be a Newton Centre resident when I read that our mothers and fathers proposed a very low-cost structure that will save the city a lot of money even though they have patiently waited a long time for modern school buildings.

Now that the School Committee has voted approval of low-cost one-story structures to be built on the Newton Centre playground, there seems to be only one major obstacle, and that is the association of the new school buildings with the long range planning problem of what to do with Newton Centre Square. Newton Centre Common is an historic spot in Newton, and the discussion is apt to continue a long time — and rightly so — before it is decided what is best for the city. It is too important a decision to hurry.

But let's hope Newton Centre school children will not be denied safe and decent school facilities comparable to the rest of Newton while the many different plans for modernization of Newton Centre Square are discussed pro and con for an indefinite period ahead.

Do you remember Mayor Lockwood's (then Alderman Lockwood), plan for modernizing Newton Corner? After 10 years of discussion there is still no positive action.

Long Range Planning for Newton Centre Square and the need of safe and decent school facilities in Newton Centre are distinctly different problems and should be kept separate for the overall good of the city as well as for the residents of Newton Centre.

One of the post-election questions that will be argued in the coming weeks and months will centre on the eligibility of Governor Herter to serve as President.

This writer does not qualify sufficiently as an expert on the Constitution to offer an authoritative answer. Those who do qualify contradict each other in the opinions they offer. It is our impression, however, that Governor Herter is ineligible for the Presidency.

He was born in France of American citizens, and while he presumably qualifies as a natural-born citizen, his birth did not occur within the continental limits of the United States.

That is a matter which school teachers may well be discussing with their classes in their discussions of government and history. No man ever has been elected President who was not born within the United States.

But Herter came out of Tuesday's election with many honors and with great prestige. A majority of the voters gave a hearty stamp of approval to his administration and indicated their appreciation of what he has done for the State.

Even some of the Democratic figures who were publicly on the side of Representative Murphy in the gubernatorial fight realized that Mr. Herter has been a good Governor and possibly a great one. This was reflected by the fact that a number of Murphy's leading supporters, including the newspapers that backed him, carefully refrained from attacking Mr. Herter or even criticizing him.

It would be impossible to cite any one factor responsible for producing Herter's plurality. He ran a strong, steady race. He stood up well almost everywhere.

He carried weathervane cities and towns which usually shift with the political winds. He wrested away cities which normally are found in the Democratic column. He cut Murphy's plurality down sharply in Democratic Boston. His organization brought out a big Republican vote.

All those factors joined together to build a ringing victory for Herter and to save Saltonstall's political life, for if Herter hadn't won by as substantial a margin as he did, Saltonstall would have been defeated, and so, too, probably would have been some other victorious Republican candidates.

Congressman Laurence Curtis won what some sports announcers would describe as a "squeaker." That has real political significance because if Herter should not stand for another term in 1956, the Republican candidate to succeed him will be either Curtis or Lieutenant Governor Summer G. Whittier whom Herter also helped to pull through.

Former U. S. Attorney Jackson J. Holtz not only gave Curtis a terrific fight, but for a time it appeared might defeat him, but Curtis, always a good vote-getter, made a last-ditch stand that saw him surge from behind to win.

One of the remarkable things about Herter's decisive victory was that a slight Democratic tide was running in Massachusetts, as in other parts of the country, on Tuesday.

That was reflected in the defeat of Republican Congressman Angier Goodwin. It was mirrored in the fact that a political novice such as John F. Kennedy of Canton rolled up an impressive victory over Republican Representative Augustus G. Means of Essex.

With all due respect to Mr. Kennedy, who may well make a good State Treasurer, this observer can offer no explanation for his defeating Representative Means, except that he is a Democrat and that he has the same name as U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy.

While there is little doubt that Kennedy was nominated in the primary because his name is the same as the junior Senator, most persons who pay any attention whatever to politics, must have realized on Tuesday that they were voting for an employee at the Gillette Safey Razor plant and not for Senator Kennedy.

Means, incidentally, was one of the most colorful and ebullient of the Republican campaigners, but he wasn't able to draw the Democratic and Independent votes which Herter collected.

Back in the spring of 1952, a group of prominent Republicans waited on Governor Herter, then a Congressman, in his office on Capitol Hill and appealed to him, to run for the Governorship.

His prospects at that point of defeating ex-Governor Dever, who was strongly entrenched at the State House, were dubious. Herter knew it, and the people asking him to give up his seat in Congress knew it.

In effect, he was being requested to make a political sacrifice for his party. While they didn't come right out and say so, the idea was that even though Herter himself might be defeated, he probably would be strong enough to pull the State Legislature back into the Republican column.

It is history that Herter defeated Dever by a wafer-thin margin in 1952 and that as Governor he has given the State an outstanding quality of leadership for the past two years.

But for the small group that walked into Herter's office two and a half years ago and prevailed upon him to become a gubernatorial candidate, Tuesday almost certainly would have been a day of disaster for the Republican party in Massachusetts.

He was the rock who stood firm in the Democratic storm. He was a bulwark of strength for the other candidates carrying the G.O.P. label. It was he who saved for the Republican party most of what was saved.

"Newton's 1954 Halloween parties have been successfully carried out in the general success pattern since their early beginnings in 1939," said Recreation Commissioner Johnson.

"The total community interest in this outstanding program is a credit to the tremendous community spirit as evidenced by the cooperative assistance of parents throughout the city.

Newtonville Man Is Recipient Of Army Commendation Ribbon

In a ceremony at the Seattle Port of Embarkation, rich in military tradition, M/Sgt. George F. Hillier, Jr., 33, Newtonville, received the commendation ribbon with metal pendant last week, for meritorious service in Korea from Colonel E. Jeff Barnette, port commander.

Two platoons of SEPE batallion troops and officers and civilians of the port stood at attention when the 388th Army Band played the National Anthem. As a chilled wind whipped through the dockside ceremonies, Lt. Colonel Jean P. Sams read the commendation citation and Colonel Barnette pinned the medal on Hillier's blouse.

Hillier won the decoration while serving as a first lieutenant at Sokcho-ri, Korea as a member of the United States Military Advisory Group to the Republic of Korea during the period August 16, 1952, to June 10, 1953.

The citation read in part: "He advised Republic of Korea Army officials on the proper procedures of unloading equipment or personnel from incoming ships, acquired vehicles to move cargo, and supervised cargo and personnel disbursement. His broad technical knowledge and exemplary display of tact and diplomacy in all of his dealings with Korean personnel were instrumental in the smooth and efficient functioning of the organization. His loyalty, initiative, and devotion to duty earned him the respect and admiration of all those with whom he served. The meritorious service rendered by Lieutenant Hillier throughout this period reflects great credit on himself and the military service."

This is Hillier's second tour of duty at SEPE. He served the port from 1949 to 1951 after which he was assigned to Fort Eustis, Va., and then to Korea.

During World War II he served with a Quartermaster Depot in England and was also with the American Graves Registration Command in France.

Hillier is also possessor of the Korean Service Ribbon with three campaign stars and the European Theatre of Operations Ribbon.

Hillier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hillier, 120 North street, Newtonville. In civilian life he graduated from Newton High School and attended Bentley School of Accounting in Boston.

He married the former Joan Dury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Dury, 3 Albert Grove, St. George, Bristol, England. They have one daughter, Sharon, six years old.

He now lives at 8633-36th Avenue S.W., and is presently assigned to the Personal Property Branch at the port.

All Real Estate Tax Bills Paid In One Lump Sum

Employees of Newton's tax collecting department didn't have to bother with some 211 individual checks for payments this week when the local tax collector received a lump-sum check for $110,613.74 from the Provident Institution for Savings at 36 Temple place in Boston.

The check represented the 1954 tax bills of 211 individual owners of local homes or other real estate. The lump-sum checks are part of a system devised by the Provident bank and saves tax collectors in local communities the task of handling over 5000 individual payments in the tax-paying rush on November 1. This year the Provident sent lump-sum checks totalling nearly $2,000,000 to tax collectors in more than 60 Massachusetts communities, thus eliminating the handling of the large number of individual checks by each local collector. The Provident's lump sum checks were each accompanied by a list showing which individual taxpayers in each community shouuld have their bills marked "paid" and forgotten for the year.

Horace Mann PTA

For their first meeting, Nov. 9th at 8 p.m., the Horace Mann PTA will have E. W. Williams as the guest speaker. Mr. Williams, a former New England fire department official, has worked closely with Liberty Mutual's Fire Prevention department in developing the production. In addition to his fire fighting experience, he draws from his experience as a magician in presenting "FIRE! . . . In Miniature"—not to achieve false results but to underline entertainingly points and features in the show's fire prevention message.

Every demonstration in this unusual and amazing show is in miniature and witnesses are perfectly safe. However, the reality of cause and effect is there in vivid detail. There is the suspense of fire getting its stealthy start. There are rending explosions. There are crackling flames. Everything is reproduced from actual fire cases.

Harvest Fair Slated Nov. 16 At Lower Falls Methodist Ch.

Have you ever wished to be psychoanalyzed? Are you looking for the perfect gift for Aunt Martha or a doll to charm a favorite niece? Is your supply of jams and jellies running low? Do you like good home cooked food? Are you the domestic type who likes to wear an apron when she works in the kitchen? Do you have a "green thumb?"

If you can answer "yes" to any of these questions, you will want to be an early arrival at our exciting Harvest Fair on November 16 at 2 p.m. at the Lower Falls Methodist Church of Newton and Wellesley.

We think you will love touring our Country Store! Perhaps you will remember your grandparents' stories of the country stores where they reveled in the delights of the cookie barrel, smelled the mixed and sundry scents of cheeses, leather harnesses, and sour pickles soaking in their brine. If these stories intrigue you, be assured, that you will be able to experience these delights at our own Country Store.

The handwriting expert "Alice the Analyst", is as all seeing as any psychoanalyst. Bring a friend who knows you really well and let her be your judge. This is not too early to think about that Christmas list. Aunt Martha, discerning as she may be, will admire your taste if you send her a bureau scarf embroidered in lovely colors. A hand knit stole will keep grandmother warm this winter.

Your favorite niece will be enchanted with our dolls dressed by women from all over the United States. If you like good home cooked food you will want to try some of our delicious food stuffs.

Our aprons are at once useful and decorative. We have tea aprons that even the less domestic women will love at first sight and—they make wonderful Christmas gifts. The "Green Thumbers" will want to try their luck with our plants. You will find an extensive selection in our miniature greenhouse.

Don't forget our Harvest Supper on November 17, at 6:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Leon Hardy at LAsell 7-0261.

Open House at Claflin School To Be Held November 8

During National Education Week, Claflin PTA will hold its annual Open House on Monday evening, November 8, from 7:30 until 9 p.m. Special exhibits in individual classrooms are to illustrate what the curriculum does in the way of combining the basic skills of reading, writing, and arithmetic with music, art, science and social studies. For example, the grade VI exhibit will concern itself with a display gathered from the recent Peterboro visit; Mrs. Egan's grade III features a floor map of Newtonville drawn in proportion and showing the location of each student's home. In Mrs. Hoff's grade II, students have made a mural on boats in connection with a social studies unit on transportation. These are only a few of the many interesting exhibits planned. Programs given visitors when they enter the school will list them all.

Mr. Harry V. Anderson, Principal of the school, emphasized the fact that, "Although every week is education week, this is a time when we would particularly like every parent and interested neighbor to visit the classrooms in Claflin school to see what children are doing and to pay tribute to one of our greatest democratic institutions".

Parents and non-parents, friends and neighbors are welcome to visit the various classrooms, see the children's work on display, and meet the school personnel and other parents. Room mothers will act as hostesses.

Elected Officers

Recently elected as class officers at Wentworth Institute, Boston, where they are enrolled for the academic year 1954-55, were Edward Allen, 41 Park street, Newton, President of industrial electronics division; Joseph Paolini, 103 Adams street, Newton, athletic manager of architectural construction division; and, William Cummings, 40 Jane road, Newton Centre, Athletic Manager of building construction division.

Woman's Alliance Of Unitarian Ch. To Visit Temple

Temple Shalom of Newton will welcome the members of the Women's Alliance of the First Unitarian Society in Newton at the regular Sabbath eve service tomorrow (Friday) night at 8:15; Rabbi Murray I. Rothman will address the women and explain some of the meanings of the service at 7:30. Mrs. Kenneth Huberman, president of the Sisterhood, and members of the Sisterhood Hospitality Committee will welcome the guests.

Temple Shalom enjoyed the hospitality of the First Unitarian Society when the High Holiday Services were held in their church on Washington street, West Newton. It is significant that at this service the Torah reading is taken from Isaiah 41.6 which reads "They helped everyone his neighbor," which was the theme of Rabbi Rothman's sermon.

On Saturday at 11:45 a. m., services will be held at the Temple for the Bar Mitzvah of William Swett, son of Mr, and Mrs. Herbert C. Swett.

Midgets Grapple In W.N. Armory Friday Night

Four amazing mat mites will headline this week's Burns-Kerr Legion wrestling show as the Legion wrestling show Friday night at the West Newton Armory.

In a tag team tussle, sad-faced Farmer Pete and midget king Sonny Boy Cassidy will collide with dapper Diamond Jim Brady and Vince Garibaldi.

As fast and clever as they are small, these dynamic dwarfs are expected to stage a rip-roaring ring riot replete with thrills, spills and unusual mat antics.

Handsome and muscular Jessie James will make his initial local appearance of the season when he tackles Gypsy Joe Gonzales in the semi-final. This contest has the makings of a hero-villain setto, with the clean-wrestling James a likely choice for the former role.

Gonzales, mean and tough, is rated one of the more formidable members of the cauliflower circuit.

In a special bout launching the program at 8:30 o'clock, former Canadian hockey star Ray Walker of Montreal, Que., will tackle an unknown ring rogue named the Black Terror.

The main event is a best-of-three falls fray with a one-hour time limit. The other two contests will also be best-of-three falls affairs but will not exceed 45 minutes.

Temple Reyim Sisterhood

Mrs. George A. Rudkin of Beverly will present her program "Books in Brief" at the regular meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Reyim Monday afternoon at the Temple. A coffee hour at 12:30 will precede the meeting.

Mrs. Rudkin is a graduate of Emerson College and is well-known for her reviews of books and plays. Her program on Monday will include an excerpt from a book on the Jewish Tercentenary.

Mrs. Jack Bernstein is program chairman for the afternoon. Mrs. Charles Kaufman, Mrs. Meyer Sheffer and Mrs. Daniel Shusterman will serve as hostesses.

Lt. Thomas Dowd

Second Lt. Thomas F. Dowd, Jr., son of Dr. Thomas F. Dowd, 868 Beacon street, Newton Centre, who entered active military service last June, has completed the basic officers course at the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga., and is serving at Ft. Dix, N. J., with the 272nd Regiment of the 69th Infantry Division.

A graduate of Boston Latin High school, Lt. Dowd earned his Bachelor of Science degree at Rutgers University. Prior to entering the Army, he was employed as a radio announcer at Station WCTC. Lt. and Mrs. Dowd, the former Carol Cray of New Brunswick, N. J., reside at 210 Elizabeth street, Pemberton, New Jersey.

Newton Sports

A fired-up herd of speedy Mustangs from Medford brought Newton's two-year, 13-game win streak to a soggy end Saturday afternoon by completely frustrating the Tigers to wind up on top of a 15-7 count.....Penalties, miscues and bad bounces by the football every Newton offensive drive until late in the game, when even the most stalwart Tiger fan had given up hope of a last-minute rally.

About 1700 well drenched and chilled spectators suffered through the dying gasps of Newton High's longest unbeaten string in recent years.... The Tigers started off the game with arch-conservative tactics, hoping that Medford would have trouble handling the slippery football. But end Billy Reilly, doing the booting for Newton so as to spare quarterback Chuck Fogarty's weakened knee, couldn't match the booming punts of Medford's Leo Mericantante.... Gradually pushed back toward its own goal, the Orange and Black found itself on its own 34 in the beginning of the second period. Then followed a comedy of errors that was anything but funny to Coach Bud Hawkes... On first down, Reilly went back in punt formation. As he kicked the pigskin, Fogarty — the closest blocker to the kicker — backed into the ball. Reilly postponed trouble by outlegging the charging Medford line to put the football on the 27.... Then Fogarty moved into the kicking spot after calling for a fake kick and screen pass. The play was beautifully set up, leaving fullback Bobby Lee clear with a horde of hungry blockers, but the passback from center soared high over Fogarty's head and bounded deep into the end zone. Chuck recovered the ball and then was thrown to the ground a yard short of running it out.

This two-point safety forced Newton to kick off from its own 20, and the Mustangs roared back to the attack with a steady, well-balanced offensive despite the muddy going.... The key play — typical of the breaks against the Tigers all that gloomy afternoon — was a 19-yard pass play. The ball bounced off Bobby Lee's hands as he prepared to intercept it, spun into the air and dropped into the arms of the intended receiver on Newton's 28.

With first down on Newton's four, the Orange and Black line dropped the next running play for a yard loss. But as the Tigers seemed finally ready to throw back the invaders, an ill-timed substitution cost the Orange and Black five yards and set up the touchdown.... In the third period, Newton put up a tremendous goal-line defense to hold on the six. This series of downs was got under way when sub halfback Barry Gilvar chased a pitchout back from the 12 but was unable to overhaul the bouncing ball .... On fourth down, Medford lost an easy chance to score when a pass was overthrown to a halfback coasting out all by himself in the left flat as the Newton defenders were faked to the right. The threat seemed well by the boards when Reilly lofted the ball out to the 34 on first down..... Medford immediately struck for its second touchdown on a play stolen straight from Saturday afternoon's Canadian football telecasts. Len Carapezza cut inside right end for about nine yards, was spun completely around and finally banged up against two Tigers. A fraction of a second before he was stopped, Carapezza lobbed the ball off to the right where halfback Sal Todaro gathered it into his arms in full flight and scampered untouched the remaining 25 yards to paydirt.

Behind 15-0, Newton clicked for the first time. Dick Lucier popped through right tackle, made a beeline for the right sidemarkers and fled 75 yards to avert a whitewashing.... He was considerably aided on his trip by Guy Vassalotti, who ran the safetyman out of the play into the center of the field and then doubled back to obliterate a Mustang as the Medford player finally caught up to Lucier at the 10.

This loss was no fluke. Medford, psychologically high as a kite for the game, clearly outplayed the Orange and Black. Newton's attack, depending heavily upon passing and clever ball-handling, felt the effects of the rain much more than the heavier Mustangs... Lucier, Newton's top ground-gainer all year, in 11 rushes had a net gain of zero yards until his 75-yard gallop, The entire Tiger rushing attack, excluding that TD run, made only 16 yards. Overhead, one pass out of five attempts clicked for 19 yards, while two of the aerials were picked off by the alert Mustangs.... Medford had a nifty 60-yard punt runback called back for an offside. Todaro, the outstanding back of the game who didn't seem to notice the heavy footing at all, somehow ran through the middle of six Tigers without being touched and outlegged everyone else.... The Orange and Black will try to start its streak anew Saturday at Gloucester. Although Gloucester is a Class B outfit, this game figures to be the toughest yet on the NHS schedule. Gloucester's speedy team, along with top-notch coaching, combined two weeks ago to produce the top upset of the schoolboy season by dumping previously unbeaten Class A power Beverly.... Newtonites who can make the trek up to the North Shore community should be rewarded with a game well worth the watching.

INDUCTION ASSEMBLY

The second schoolwide assembly of the year was held in the auditorium last Thursday; council officers were sworn in by Mr. Blaisdell, our principal. These officers, who were elected last spring, are Kent Barrabee, 53 Morseland avenue, Newton Centre, president; Grace Broad, 21 Elmore street, Newton Centre, secretary; and Kenny Novack, 35 Newbury street, Newton Centre, treasurer. Vice-President Danny Armet, 448 Ward street, Newton Centre, was unable to be at the assembly but was sworn in later.

Each of the officers and Mrs. Bernard Perlmuter, 32 Lantern lane, Newton Centre, gave brief talks. Mrs. Perlmuter represented the parents who are on the council. Mr. Harmon, a new teacher at Weeks, also addressed the assembly.

Sworn in at this assembly were all council representatives and alternates. Officers of many important groups in the school were inducted as members of the Council.

BAND

Weeks is very fortunate in having an excellent band again this year. Led by Mr. Alvin Parker, it plays at all home football games, at most schoolwide assemblies, and at several other events. The unit marches annually in the Memorial Day parade, a custom inaugurated many years ago.

The unit rehearses two mornings a week, Tuesday and Friday. Musical selections are school songs and other suitable numbers. Many of which are arranged by Mr. Parker.

Junior Chamber Raising Funds For '56 Olympics

The Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce will actively participate with 2750 other Junior Chamber chapters in a nationwide drive to send U. S. teams to the 1956 Olympic Games and to the 1955 Pan American Games in Mexico City, according to an announcement today by Carleton P. Merrill, president of the local Jaycees.

Robert Shaw, Newton Olympic Fund campaign chairman, stated the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the U. S. Olympic Committee, Life Magazine and other organizations, is spearheading a nation-wide "Money March" to finance expense of sending U. S. athletes to Australia, Italy and Mexico. The drive now underway will continue through December 15.

The Newton Jaycees, with the cooperation of the local merchants, will distribute money containers throughout the city during the campaign.

Davis School to Hold Guest Week Nov. 7-13

The Davis School of West Newton has made extensive plans for the observance of "American Education Week," November 7-13. "Bring a Friend to School," has been chosen as the Newton theme. During "Education Week," parents of present and former students, and neighbors are invited to visit the school.

Miss Mary J. Nugent, principal, has sent circulars explaining the activities and programs that may be seen. On Friday, the 5th, each child will write a personal note to his parents telling the plans his class has made.

The room mothers, under the direction of Mrs. Carl Hartbower have formed a telephone chain. Prior to November 7 each parent will be called and his attention drawn to the many interesting educational experiences that he may see and enjoy.

Students will greet visitors and invite them to sign the "guest register." Boys and girls, under Miss Nugent's supervision, will serve as guides.

It is hoped that parents, neighbors and friends will be present during "Education Week" at the Davis School.

Efforts of Parents Cited by Angevine

"Our Newton Halloween parties, General Chairman Angevine declared, seem bigger and better than the ones before. Newton's fourteenth Halloween party was our biggest and best. Because of the generous contributions of time, thought, love, and money which the citizens of Newton so freely contribute for this purpose.

"Halloween has become a period of close cooperation between family and school, a time of sharing the fun and responsibility in the united effort to produce an evening of pleasure for the children. It is an enriching experience to work with so many devoted citizens who are helping to make these parties such a worth-while project. The thousands who spent time and effort on the 1954 Newton Halloween party are entitled to the thanks of the City for such an outstanding achievement.

"Special thanks are due to Commisisoner C. Evans Johnson, to Supervisor Nicholas Tedesco and to all the workers in the Recreation Department which sponsors the parties, and especially to Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, whose capable and tireless leadership for so many years has been an inspiration. Further, I wish to convey my gratitude to the Mayor and to the people in the other Municipal Departments without whose ready assistance we could not function so smoothly and safely. To the School Superintendent, Dr. Gores, the principals, teachers and custodians, we extend appreciation. We are indebted to the clergy of all faiths for their active and helpful support.

"The Chamber of Commerce as usual, with Mr. Rupert C. Thompson in the lead role, solicited over 5,000 business organizations and citizens for small contributions which when added to the funds provided in the budget of the Recreation Department, supply the ever essential means to carry on the programs and provided the refreshments. Thanks also to the Red Cross, the Parent Teacher Associations, and the various civic organizations whose spirited aid is indispensable.

"I am most appreciative of the excellent newspaper publicity coverage provided through the combined efforts of Emil F. Haberstroh and our local newspapers. I am also indebted to Mrs. Meyer Ritvo for her special contribution of publicity through other channels.

"The dance at the Totem Pole was an inspiring spectacle. Richard Lucier, president of the Newton High School Associates, combined the efforts and talents of the Associates into an excellent promotional effort. Dr. Leo Barry, principal of the High School, faculty members and parents lent their guidance and support to this student managed program. The major credit, however, must go to Thomas L. Gill, owner of the Totem Pole Ballroom, who each year has made the Totem Pole available exclusively for the Halloween Dance for our Newton young men and women of high school age.

"Again may I thank all of you for support. I hope you share with me a feeling of satisfaction in a job well done."

Selective Serv. Tests To Be Given Dec. 9

Colonel Chester A. Furbish, State Director of Selective Service, has announced the fifth series of Selective Service College Qualification Tests will be given on Thursday, December 9, and Thursday, April 21, 1955.

To be eligible to apply for the selective service tests a student (1) must intend to request deferment as a student; (2) must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction; and (3) must not previously have taken the qualification test.

Application blanks for the test and addressed envelopes may be obtained at local boards or at the institution which the student attends. They must be mailed by the student to Science Research Associates, Chicago, Illinois. Applications for the December 9 test must be postmarked no later than midnight Tuesday, November 23, 1954. Those for the April 29 test must be postmarked no later tha nmidnight March 7, 1955.

The present criteria for deferment as an undergraduate student are either a satisfactory score (70) on the qualification test, or specified rank among the male members of the class (upper half of freshman class, upper two-thirds of sophomore class, or upper three-fourths of junior class).

Colonel Furbish emphasized that local boards are not required to defer students meeting the criteria. Meeting the criteria merely makes a student eligible to be considered for a student deferment. If a local board refuses to defer a student meeting the criteria he, of course, has the right to appeal his case.

"Everglades" Scenes at Science Museum

"Prowlers of the Everglades," an action-packed Walt Disney true-life adventure heads up the November Weekend Film Program at Boston's Museum of Science. Abundant in animal life an dstill untouched by cibilization, the Everglades provide ideal nature material for Disney's expert color camera work. Dramatic sequences show otters and raccoons, egrets and herons, as well as the villain of the piece, the alligator and his family. Especially fascinating are the baby 'gators hatching out of eggs, all ready to bite!

Another facet of nature comes to the Science Park screen in "The Birth of a Florida Key," a documentary film on the origin of the tiny islands that start from mangrove seeds rooting under water.

Starting Saturday, these films will be shown in the Morse Auditorium at the Museum of Science Saturdays at 11 a. m. and 3:30 p. m., Sundays at 3:30 only, throughout the month. And there's ample parking space on the Museum grounds for those who drive in.

Although one-third of the membership of the Boston Association for Retarded Children comes from Newton, the Association is trying to reach other families in the city who are affected with the program.

There are about 300 families directly concerned with the problem of retarded children, but the Association feels that more should be contacted since mental retardation affects some three per cent of the population. Families interested may gain further information by calling Mrs. Michael Lourie at DEcatur 2-8950.

re-election. Here, Cooke, one of the two Democratic candidates polled 6,867 votes compared to that of Rawson, the Republican candidate, of 8,358, giving Rawson a plurality of only 1,491 votes. Gibbs, the other Republican candidate from this District polled a vote of 8,933 compared to the vote of Cooke of 6,867, or a plurality for Gibbs of 2,066. The other Democratic candidate, Barton, also polled a surprising total of 6,717 votes. In this contest, particularly, the Democratic party in Newton gave every evidence that from now on, the Republican group which has completely dominated the vote in this city, can anticipate hard contests in the future. In fact, the vote cast for Democratic candidates in all contests, State as well as local, showed a definite trend of increasing Democratic strength here.

In the 5th Middlesex District, Representatives Heaney and Thresher, Republican candidates, won more handily than was true of the Republican candidates in the 4th Middlesex District, yet here again, the Democratic candidates, Delaney and Hurst, by their vote, showed a growing Democratic strength here.

In the contests for offices at the State top level, the Republican candidates showed a margin of about 2 to 1 over their Democratic opponents with few exceptions. These exceptions were for Auditor, Councillor, County Commissioner, County Treasurer, Congressman, and State Senator.

In the latter contest Alderman Leo Cannon showed considerable Democratic strength here, obtaining 14,786 votes compared to his Republican opponent, Senator Richard H. Lee, who polled 22,407 votes here.

In the contest for Congressman from the 10th District, the vote cast here for Congressman Laurence Curtis unquestionably brought about his victory over Jackson Holtz, the Democratic candidate. Here, Curtis received a pluarlity over Holtz of 6,001 votes and apparently was sufficient to give Congressman Curtis re-election in the 10th District by a margin of between 2,000 and 2,500 plurality.

In the Referendum on an eighth ward in the city, the voters returned a "Yes" vote of 23,648 as against a "No" vote of only 7,149. Thus Newton will now be composed of eight wards in future contests.

Denies Reports Blood Sold by RC to Hospitals

The American Red Cross today emphatically denied printed reports that it is charging for blood furnished to hospitals. In a prepared statement Dr. David N. W. Grant, medical director of the organization, said, "The American Red Cross today was distressed to learn that erroneous statements appearing in the press have again raised charges of selling blood against the organization.

"Throughout the entire history of its Blood Program, no charge has ever been made by the Red Cross to hospitals or individuals for blood or blood products. The Red Cross wishes to emphasize that no change has been made in this policy.

"Erroneous statements in newspapers and on the radio hours have created a widespread misunderstanding and already have resulted in a decrease in the collection of blood so vitally needed every hour of the day in hospitals.

"Every pint of blood donated to the Red Cross has cost the organization an average of $5.12 for its collection, processing and distribution to hospitals. During the development of the Red Cross Blood Program many refinements and changes in equipment, methods and procedures have taken place. The present plan of sharing with hospitals concerned a limited portion of this cost involving supplies which can be used only once and blood transportation charges is an adjustment to meet local conditions which was worked out with hospital authorities. Approximately 10 of the 45 Red Cross Regional Blood programs have made this adjustment.

"The costs of these supplies and delivery services to the hospitals vary from $1.75 to $2.50 per pint of blood according to the locality. In most instances hospitals have absorbed these extra costs without passing them on to the patients. Full cooperation has been received from hospitals taking part in this plan.

"The only purpose of the Red Cross in this program is to provide urgently needed blood to the American people. At present the Blood Program serves about 3500 hospitals throughout the United States, providing the total blood supply for over 2,000 and supplementing that used by about 1,500.

"In addition to furnishing about 40 per cent of the whole blood used in the country, the Red Cross Blood Program also provides Gamma Globulin, a blood derivative needed to fight measles, hepatitis and infantile paralysis. It also makes available to the public without charge for the products other valuable blood derivatives."

Halloween Parties Termed 'Best Ever'

Newton's 1954 Halloween celebrations held last Saturday night far exceeded any similar previous event, not only in attendance but, also in the excellence of the programming for every party.

Visitors were deeply impressed by the efficient handling of all activities and by the fact that these activities were so brilliantly conceived with respect to the age levels of the children participating.

Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, Recreation Department supervisor and general program chairman of the city's Halloween celebrations since their inception 14 years ago, expressed admiration for the work done by the 2000 committee members, most of whom are parents.

"I can't pay them too high a tribute," she said, "for the wonderful job they did. Theirs was no easy task. I know what their problems were, because I faced them back in the early years of our parties before I had such all-out assistance from so many hard-working, enthusiastic people. The programs they planned couldn't have been improved; and the way they keyed those programs to definite age levels was simply marvelous. I amgrateful to all these good men and women, and I'm sure they're getting a lot of justified satisfaction from having done such an outstanding job."

Although precise figures are not yet available, estimates place the attendance of the 250 or more individual parties at close to 15,000 boys and girls of all grades from kindergarten through senior high, drawn from public, private and parochial schools, as well as junior college. The dance for high school students at the Totem Pole Ballroom, again generously made available by Mr. Gill, attracted the largest number, upwards of 1300. It would be impossible to highlight any one party, or even several, as being the best. All left nothing to be desired on the part of those attending.

Back of all the happiness of these thousands of young folks, was the serious business of preparation, as Ernest G. Angevine, general chairman of the Halloween Comittee, pointed out.

"Our Halloweens," he said, "are a tremendous undertaking. They have reached their amazing degree of success only because of the almost unbelievable spirit of co-operation that is evidenced by all concerned. I have in mind C. Evan Johnson, recreation commissioner, whose department sponsors these celebrations and who, personality, has given so much of his time and energy to furthering them. And, of course, there is Mrs. Hovgaard, the guiding spirit of the whole enterprise, whose tireless devotion and unfailing spirit of good cheer have won for her the affection and respect of all associated with her. Working closely with Mrs. Hovgaard has been Nicholas Tedesco, also of the Recreation Department, who effectively handled much of the detail work.

"I want especially," said Mr. Angevine, "to express my deep appreciation to Mayor Whitmore for his co-operation. Newton's Halloweens lie close to his heart. He preceded me as general chairman of the Halloween Committee, serving in that position for several years. In spite of the heavy demands on his time as our chief executive, he took an active part in this year's parties and gave impetus to the fine spirit that permeated our entire organization."

Mr. Angevine also paid tribute to the many city officials who aided in the preparations for the celebration; to Chief of Police Philip Purcell, who has always been a firm believer in the value of the parties; to Dr. Harold B. Gores, superintendent of schools, whose enthusiastic co-operation, and that of his teaching staff, was a vital factor in the success of the event; and to the exceptional co-operation of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, the Fire Department, the Parent-Teacher Associations and other civic organizations.

Three new party locations were added: the Hunnewell Club, where a group from the Bigelow Junior High gathered; the new Beethoven School in Waban; and the new Spaulding School in Oak Hill.

Take No Action On Cement Firm Zoning Petition

No action was taken by the aldermen Monday night on the controversial petition by the Riverside Sand and Gravel Company for a zone change on Grove street at the Lower Falls-Auburndale line after Alderman Leo M. Cannon raised a charter objection.

His objection automatically blocked any vote on the petition until the next meeting of the aldermen a week from Monday. Although he was not required to explain his move, the Ward 1 alderman-at-large stated he objected since he had no opportunity to inspect the site since a similar petition was rejected two years ago.

The company, currently operating its cement batching plant on Grove street property now owned by S. S. Pierce. At a pair of hearings two weeks ago, a company attorney explained that S. S. Pierce would probably not allow the cement plant to remain at the site very long after the lease expires early next year.

If the zone change is not granted, enabling the plant to be built at 300 Grove street, the company claimed, then it will be forced from the city.

Strong objections have been lodged by nearby residents, who took the stand that manufacturing should not be permitted so close to homes.

The docket for Monday's meeting listed the petition as being given "leave to withdraw" —an outright refusal—by the claims and rules committee. An accompanying petition seeking a license to erect a garage on the rezoned property was also rejected by both the claims and rules and the franchises and licenses committee.

The franchises and licenses report was accepted by the aldermen unanimously, thus denying the garage, but since the second committee's report on the same garage came under the charter objection, both will be considered at the November 15 meeting.

Mr. Brown was MC and Mr. Morse, Miss Vaznaian, Miss Williams and Mrs. Robbins, helped in the organizing of the affair. The party, however, was mainly parent sponsored. The following parent-teacher committee planned and produced the party: Mrs. Daniel Morrison, general chairman; Mr. John Ford, game room; Mr. Charles Brown and Mrs. James Robbins, dances; Mrs. Benjamin Proctor, refreshments; Mr. and Mrs. William O'Connell, control; Mr. Samuel Gilvar and Mr. Julian Alexander, decorations; Miss Helen Vaznaian, tickets; Mr. Renald Russo, prizes.

Seventh Graders had an opportunity to meet each other out of class and divisions in a get-together party held in the Boys' Gym last Friday after school. Refreshments were served.

The Hallowe'en edition of the Daytonian, first of the year, came out last week. Bethel Bilezikian is Editor. Mrs. Robbins and Mr. Frye are faculty sponsors. Assemblies for November include a play by the Eighth Grade Drama Group on November 5, the annual pupils Talent Show, November 12, and a film on American Education Week for November 19.

There will be an Open House for parents who would like to visit the Day School on Tuesday, Nov. 9. Parents will visit regular classes of their children in a regularly run Tuesday schedule. Parents may bring their own lunches and eat after the pupils have finished in the cafeteria.

R. I. Man Named Supt. of Laundry At N-W Hospital

The size of the annual "family wash" that will face newly appointed Newton-Wellesley Hospital Laundry Superintendent Ernest J. Paquin during the next 12 months is sufficient to dampen the ardor of the most enthusiastic.

The weekly laundry for an average family of four amounts to 15 pounds; at the Hospital this amount of laundry is processed daily for each patient. The result? Last year 981,070 pounds of laundry were handled.

However the 40-year-old addition to the hospital's executive staff comes to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital well prepared for his seemingly staggering task of keeping fresh linen flowing to the hospital wards.

For the past seven years he has been in charge of the laundry at St. Joseph's Hospital Providence, R. I. The Army veteran first entered the laundry business in 1935 and has had considerable executive training to prepare him for the duties he assumed a week ago.

He took a course in laundry management at Boston University; studied for one year at the Boston Evening College of Commerce, and received a certificate from the American Hospital Association.

The new hospital laundry superintendent is a member of the American Institute of Laundering, the New England Institute of Laundry Managers and the National Institution of Laundry Managers.

Though he has been on the job at the Newton-Wellesley only a few days, he has been impressed with the laundry's $92,000 worth of equipment. Most of it is the most modern available, having been purchased and installed during a modernization program three years ago; The latest improvements were put into effect less than a year ago at a cost of $1000.

Rebecca Pomroy PTA Holds 1st Meeting of Year

The Rebecca Pomroy House Nursing School Parent-Teacher Association, held its first meeting of the year at the Pomroy House last Thursday evening.

The group was welcomed by Mrs. Ruth Tedesco, head teacher, who explained some of the aims of the Nursery School, including program and home visiting. She introduced Miss Clare Power, member of the Newton Visiting Nursing Association, who visits the Nursery School three times a week for health inspection. Miss Power talked on the health and care of the children.

The meeting was then turned over to James Boudreau, chairman of the P.T.A., who led a discussion on the types of meetings the parents would like to have for the year. He showed color movies of a morning at Pomroy House Nursery School with the children in the out-of-doors program.

There were 23 parents present, and a transportation committee was formed to try to insure attendance at the future meetings.

Officers of the group are president, James Boudreau; treasurer, Gerard Matthews; secretary, Mrs. Margaret Murphy; and refreshment chairman, Mrs. Walter Hattery. After adjournment of the meeting, refreshments were served by teachers Mrs. Ruth Tedesco and Mrs. Eileen Klatsky.

Things are getting brighter around the house. Manufacturers now are bringing out mops in lime, lemon and other colors; green, blue and yellow clotheslines; pots and pans in all colors of the rainbow.

Unique Exhibit By Handicapped Artist at YMCA

The Newton YMCA will present an exhibition of oil paintings by James Roche, a native of Newton, through tomorrow (Friday). The exhibition will include landscapes and seascapes depicting the beauties of rugged New England in all seasons.

The nostalgic warmth so evident in the paintings of Mr. Roche is perhaps the result of the manner in which he works. In ill health for the past few years, he is unlike most artists, unable to sit before his scene out in the open and paint on the spot.

He depends entirely on a "photographic memory" to recreate in oil, scenes that he has seen briefly on an occasional automobile ride, or that he recalls from some time past. The beauty captured by the eye and held prisoner in the heart, is released through his talented hands. The fidelity of his painting belies the handicap under which he works. Particularly appealing are his winter landscape and snow-scenes.

The exhibition is open to the public and will be held in the ABC Room of the Newton YMCA from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. each evening. Private showings to clubs or groups may be arranged for any time by contacting Mr. Garfield at the YMCA.

Bowen School P.T.A.

The Bowen School will hold its second P.T.A. meeting on Tuesday, November 9. Parents will have an opportunity to discover what their children will learn throughout the school year and also more about the method of teaching. Parents are encouraged to send questions to their child's teacher in advance of the meeting so that she may include the answers in her talk. Teachers will meet with the parents in the classrooms for these talks.

The following schedule has been set up to accommodate parents who have more than one child in school: Grades 1 and 2, 7:30 to 8:00; Grades 3 and 4, 8:00 to 8:30; and Grades 5 and 6, 8:30 to 9:00.

Refreshments will be served continuously in the cafeteria from 8 to 9:30.

The entire community is invited to attend an exhibit and book sale to be held in the Bowen School Library the same evening. Children's books of every age group will be offered for sale. Here is an excellent opportunity to purchase books for Christmas and other occasions and, at the same time, help the library fund. A certain percentage of the proceeds from the sale will be given to the library for new books.

Council of Church Women To Observe Community Day

The Newton Council of Church Women will observe World Community Day Monday, November 8, at the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre, at 2 p.m. The speaker will be Mrs. Albert Buckner Coe, wife of Dr. Coe, moderator of the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches in the United States and president of the Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference. Her subjejct will be "The World Council of Churches from a Woman's Viewpoint."

Open to all church women in the city, the fall meeting emphasizes each year the concern of Christian women for the people of the world. The theme for 1954 is "Let the Children Come to Me," and the "Parcels for Peace," brought that day from the 23 member churches to be shared with destitute children, men and women in countries ravaged by war. They will contain warm clothes, remnants, as well as household linens and blankets. These will be distributed through Church World Service. The offering added to that given by Councils of Church Women all over the country, will be divided between the World Health Organization, an agency of the United Nations, and the General Department of United Church Women of the National Council of Churches.

Mrs. George Brookhiser, chairman of World Christian Relations, will give the devotions, and will relate the needs of Arab children displaced from Israel, of child refugees who arrive daily in Berlin, of the hundreds of thousands of orphans in Korea, and of the 15,000 homeless refugees from Chinese Communist tyranny. Miss Felicia T'an, a Chinese student at Andover Newton, will receive the offering.

In 1948, Mrs. Coe was an observer at the first assembly of Churches in Amsterdam, Holland. She traveled in Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, and visited Poland, Czechoslovakia and Germany in the interest of the Committee on War Victims and Reconstruction. Since 1946 Dr. and Mrs. Coe have traveled in 27 countries as students of the world scene. Last summer Mrs. Coe was an observer at the second assembly of the World Council of Churches, held in Evanston, Ill.

Mrs. Hugh Robinson, president of the Newton Council of Church Women, will preside at the business meeting preceding the program. Hostess at the First Church will be Mrs. Walter C. Tong, president of the Women's Benevolent Society.

Health For All

THE "ANGELIC" INVALID

Anyone who has been an invalid or who has cared for one knows that physical illness can seriously affect the personality. Especially during an illness such as tuberculosis which may require months of treatment, the patient's behavior may change so much that he seems a different person. Unfortunately, he does not always become the angelic invalid we read about in novels.

The modern doctor thinks in terms of "psychosomatic medicine". His patient is not a machine with parts that need repair, but a whole human being. He knows that purely physical derangements, such as fever, can cause temporarily disturbed emotions. He knows also that the way a patient feels about his illness may not only keep him from following prescribed treatment, but actually make him worse or cause some new physical upset to complicate the original illness.

Uncertainty about himself, his future, his family is perhaps most difficult for the TB patient to endure. Unless he is reassured by the attitude of the people around him and by learning the facts about his disease, he will have to relieve the stress of intense anxiety in some way. He may do this by giving up adult behavior.

He may display irritability, tantrums, and unreasonable demands. Other patients may react as submissive, well-behaved children. They may become over-dependent on the doctor and on receiving treatment, and resist any effort to break the bonds. Still others release their anxiety by becoming hostile and aggressive, and try to hurt themselves and others. The type of reaction, of course, depends on the basic and sometimes hidden personality traits the sick person brings to his new situation.

By facing the psychologic problems of illness frankly and with sympathetic understanding, the family of the TB patient can make an important contribution to his welfare. Satisfying his mental and emotional needs can be just as important as performing the mechanical tasks of nursing.

Thanks to Workers By Mayor Whitmore

"The Halloween parties conducted last Saturday evening entertained more young people at more locations than ever before. To plan, organize and conduct these parties, more parents and citizens participated, reflecting better programs and fuller enjoyment everywhere throughout the city," Mayor Whitmore declared this week.

"I personally—and I know on behalf of the citizens of Newton—extend deep appreciation and thanks to the thousands who worked so diligently and successfuly in this greatest of civic-citizen cooperative enterprises.

"The benefits of the parties have been evident for years. The outstanding reputation which Newton enjoys for developing and promoting them has been further enhanced and we should all feel very proud of our accomplishments in this important field of youth activity and education.

"I wish it were possible to thank individually the thousands who worked so hard on this project, but since it isn't, I thank you all here, most sincerely," he concuded.

Hot Liquids Cause Many Fatal Burns

The Massachusetts Fire Reserve has compiled the following fire prevention advice:

More pre-school children die from burns than any other accidental cause except automobile accidents, insurance statistics show.. Among children one year of age, fire has become the leading cause of accidental death. Warning parents not to leave children unattended at home, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reports that most of these deaths were the result of children being caught in burning buildings and unable to escape. In many cases, the children were left alone in the house.

Between the ages of one and two, it was shown, most of the fatal burns were caused by children upsetting or falling into hot liquids. As the children grow into the toddling stage, matches left within their reach and open fires become a chief danger.

National Board engineers point out that while science has made great strides in reducing the children's death toll from disease, the accident death rate is still high. Metropolitan Life Insurance figures show that whereas the children's death rate from disease fell 73 percent over a recent 14-year period, the children's deaths from accidents dropped only 28 percent.

Emphasizing the need for constant supervision of youngsters, fire authorities urge parents to follow five rules in protecting children from fire:

1. Have an adult or responsible sitter in charge when you leave the house.

2. Keep matches out of children's reach. Train youngsters that to play with matches is dangerous.

3. Keep children out of the kitchen or any room in which boiling liquids are likely to be within reach.

4. Don't allow children to get too close to bonfires. Have a metal screen in front of a fireplace.

5. Don't dress children in highly flammable clothing.

Miss Mary-Ann Wiswall Weds Mr. Kenneth Collinson Jr.

Health For All

Now In November

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by: Malden Board of Health, the Tuberculosis Committee, and the Middlesex Health Association.

We might as well face it. We may have a few of those crisp, bright days that fool us into thinking winter won't be so bad this year. But it will. Now in November begins the triumphal march of the common cold.

Wherever as many as three people are gathered, there will be at least one sneeze, one sniffle, or one cough. And that one will soon be multiplied many times. It's all very well to advise people to avoid gatherings in order to avoid colds. Few of us can or want to follow the advice. The children must go to school. The breadwinner must take the crowded bus or streetcar to work. Church, club meetings, parties, movies — the American people aren't going to stay home till spring comes.

Then what can we do to prevent the round robin of colds from making this winter a season of misery? In the first place, no salve, nose drop, gargle, laxative, vitamin pill, or vacine on the market can be depended on to prevent or cure the common cold. There's hope, but meantime the advice of the medical profession is to save your money. Or better, spend it to make sure your family gets a balanced diet containing te protective foods. See that they get enough sleep, rest, and recreation to help ward off infection. At least try to keep them in warm, dry clothes.

There are a few reasonable steps to avoid contagion. Stay as far away as possible from people you know have colds. Never share drinking or eating utensils(towels or toilet articles. Wash the hands well with soap or water before eating or handling food.

If, in spite of all precautions, you do catch cold, play safe and take a day of rest, preferably in bed. If any member of the family seems to have frequent colds, consult the doctor. The trouble may be an allergy or some other condtion that can be corrected.

W. N. Man Is 'Good Samaritan' To Duck Flock at Norumbega

A stranger standing by the Weston Bridge spanning the Charles River near Norumbega Park late any afternoon would get the impression that the entire duck flock there is having an attack of mass hysteria.

At the approach of a certain car, all 450 ducks converge on the shore where they wait with open beaks. Jammed wing to wing, they anxiously swarm up out of the water as the car eases to a halt.

The cause of this daily commotion is Walter R. Koe of 86 Fairway drive, West Newton, who has devoted himself to keeping the ducks from starving through the chill, floodless winters. Each afternoon he scatters 80 pounds of grain and 120 pounds of bread to the ducks, whether the day is fine or as miserable as a New England winter day can be.

Over the past 10 years, the ducks have come to know Mr. Koe and his car. Word of his free meals when scavenging is next to impossible and visitors no longer toss food into the water, has spread throughout the duck kingdom so that each year more and more "strang-

Four Recounts Slated to Begin Next Week in Newton Balloting

Robert Shannon Awarded Bronze Star for Korea

Former Newton High football standout Robert J. Shannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Shannon of 5 Gardner street, Newton, has been awarded the Bronze Star for "exemplary service" in Korea combat.

Shannon, who played on the NHS 1949 through 1951 elevens and was named "All-Massachusetts" halfback his last year, was cited for his performance for an 11-month period when he arose from rifleman to platoon sergeant. He now holds the rank of sergeant first class and is assigned to Company I, 271st Infantry Regiment at Ft. Dix, N. J.

Among his awards and citations are the Combat Infantryman's Badge, Korean Service Medal, the United Nations Ribbon and the National Defense Service Medal. Upon his discharge from the Army next month, he plans to enter Boston University.

The citation accompanying his medal read, in part, that he was decorated for "exemplary performance of duty from May 15, 1953, to April 12, 1954, when he rose from rifleman to platoon sergeant, and upon assuming the varied positions, he proceeded to reorganize and improve upon his unit. He was constantly planning for better defensive positions and training methods during periods of combat as well as reserve, and due to this planning and leadership his unit was a well organized, combat-ready team.

"Displaying vast comprehension of infantry tactics and inspiring devotion to duty, he won the respect and admiration of his superiors and subordinates. His cheerfulness and guiding hand were an inspiration to all with whom he came into contact. The service rendered by Sgt. Shannon reflects great credit upon himself and the military service."

Some funds are still needed before construction begins. It will include an auditorium for 200 people, several work rooms, reception room and a kitchen. The lower floor will have a large recreation room for boys and also work rooms. The building chairman is Archibald Barron, with Maxwell P. Gaddis as co-chairman. Mrs. Edmund Anthony is the financial chairman.

Cannon, Holtz Try to Unseat Republicans

Four recounts of ballots in last week's election — sought by candidates for congressman, governor's councillor, state senator and register of probate and insolvency — have been scheduled for next week and the following Monday by the Registrars of voters.

The contest between Cong. Lawrence Curtis and Democrat Jackson J. Holtz of Brookline for congressman, with Curtis apparently the victor by 2003 votes, will be recounted starting Monday at 8:30 a.m. In the 10th Congressional District, which includes Newton, Brookline and seven wards in Boston, Curtis had 72,379 votes to Holtz's 70,376. The congressman's margin of victory came in Newton, where he drew 21,818 ballots to 15,816.

Wednesday morning the recount will get under way between Governor's Councillor David B. Williams of Concord and Endicott "Chub" Peabody of Cambridge. Peabody nosed out Republican Williams' re-election bid by a narrow margin, despite being on the short end of the vote in Newton by 3490 ballots. The local vote was Williams, 20,035; Peabody, 16,545.

Scheduled for Friday morning, also at 8:30, is the recount between State Sen. Richard H. Lee and Alderman Leo M. Cannon for Lee's senate seat. Lee's better-than-7000 margin in Newton

Set Final Dates For Delivery of Christmas Mail

As a result of conferences held between officials of the Boston Post Office and the Postal Transportation Service, a schedule of final closing dates has been released which would assure Christmas delivery of letters, cards and parcels to any part of the country.

Postmaster Joseph P. W. Finn commented that the postoffice was favored with god weather conditions for the past two Christmas mail seasons but that any severe snow conditions anywhere in the country would seriously affect the mails both coming into Boston and leaving this area. The postmaster expressed delight at the reports that the public were actually making Christmas purchases earlier than last year since he is convinced that it will be reflected in the public sending gifts and cards earlier in the mails.

November 27th has been listed as the final date when ordinary gift parcels should be deposited for Christmas delivery in Arizona, Oregon, California and Washington. Cards for these states may be posted up to December 8th and air mail up to December 18th.

Christmas gift parcels for the Rocky Mountain States and the deep South should be mailed not later than December 3rd with cards not later than December 10th and air leters and air parcels as late as December 18th.

December 5th marks the deadline for assured Yuletide delivery of packages by ordinary mail for Delaware, District of Columbia, Indiana, Maryland, Kentucky, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

Jackson Street Merchants Seek Parking Limit

Oppose Establishment of A State Board of Appeals

Monday a public hearing was held at the State House by the Special Commission on Planning, Zoning and Subdivision Control, relative to various proposed amendments to the State laws and the establishment of a State Board of Appeals to review decisions of local boards.

Attending for the City of Newton were Ulderico Schiavone, city engineer; William Hopkins, chairman of the Newton Planning Board, and State Representative Arthur G. Heaney. In general, they opposed the changes, particularly the State Board of Appeals, as being contrary to the principle of home rule. Mr. Hopkins expressed the conviction that such a board would only cause further delay and confusion and that it would be far more difficult for a community to make any kind of long range plans for development, knowing that the State Board could scrap such plans by an adverse decision.

Representative Heaney reminded the Commission that only 3 years ago the State could and did over-ride local boards in the matter of issuing building permits. On at least two occasions the Newton Building Commissioner was forced to issue permits for dwellings which did not conform to the Newton Building Code, and it was this intolerable condition which caused the Oak Hill District Improvement Association to prepare and sponsor corrective legislation returning to cities and towns authority over the issuance of building permits. The establishment of a State Board of Appeals for zoning, subdivision and local building matters would be a backward step towards tying the hands of local communities all over again.

The Commission is to report its findings to the General Court in January, together with drafts of legislation necessary to carry its recommendations into effect.

Presidential Greeting Marks Mrs. Hall's 100th Birthday

An engraved birthday greeting bearing the signature of President Dwight D. Eisenhower was among the hundred plus cards and gifts received by Mrs. Abbie Jane Hall for her centennial birthday which she celebrated at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bela Sziklas, 143 Highland street, West Newton, Saturday, October 30.

Relatives and friends paid their respects to the frail little lady in her flower-filled room and were served birthday cake and luncheon in the spacious dining room and living room. Guests enjoyed the tape-recorded message sent by Mrs. Hall's only grandchild, Miss Mildred Hall Mason, daughter of Mrs. Sziklas, air-mailed from the U. S. Embassy at Leopoldville, Belgian Congo, Africa, where she is serving with the U. S. state department, as information officer and public affairs director.

One of the few surviving widows of the Civil War veterans, Mrs. Hall was married in 1876 to Dr. Stephen Augustus Hall, who had joined the Massachusetts Volunteers at sixteen. The young dentist and his wife made their home in Hingham until his death in 1890.

Mrs. Hall is the youngest of three daughters of the late Samuel Graves Bazin and Jane (Nichols) Bazin. On her father's side she is descended from

E. H. Cooley, World Traveler, To Address Newton Post, A.L.

Commander Edward A. Cunningham of Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, advises the speaker at the Americanism Night meeting, Thursday, November 18, will be Edward H. Cooley, world traveler, economic and engineering consultant, both domestic and foreign. The meeting will be preceeded by a fried chicken supper with Dick Guzzi a popular and well known local accordionist furnishing the music.

Mr. Cooley, who is a resident of West Newton is called upon several times a year to travel to different parts of the globe in his capacity as an industrial consultant. It is not unusual to have the long distance operator call his home and say the President of Brazil or the head of some other country is calling, or our own State Department is on the line. He is an authority on foreign affairs and knows the threat of communism, especially in South America to which he has traveled many times. He is also familiar with the China question. He has met all the well known leaders of foreign nations and has consulted with them on their particular economic problem.

There will be a drawing for two choice tickets to the Boston College-Boston University football game, as well as the usual Thanksgiving turkey and, of course, the door prize which will be doubled on account of the holder of last months drawing not being present.

Other Post activities shortly coming up is the Veterans Day Exercises to be held in the Hall of Flags, War Memorial Building, 10:30 a.m., Thursday, November 11th and the Memorial Mass on Veterans Sunday, November 14, to be held at 8 a.m. in the Church of Our Lady Help of Christians, Newtonville. Post members will be furnished a light breakfast in the High School by the Holy Name Society. To all the Post activities the public is cordially invited to participate.

Demands for Nursing Services Increase Board Report Notes

The growing need of expanded facilities for physiotherapy and the inadequacy of available funds for that purpose for Newton sufferers was presented at the monthly meeting of the Board of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association Monday. Accent on Use, a motion picture produced by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, was shown, and demonstrated the impressive rehabilitation possible through the application of physical therapy.

Hard pressed by a current shortage of nurses, due to a vacancy and three illnesses on the staff, Director Katherine MacDonald in her report pointed to the increased need for volunteer help in the Well-Baby Conferences, and in the work of cleansing syringes at the Headquarters.

By undertaking such tasks at the Conferences as the weighing of the babies, and the keeping of records, lay assistants can release the highly trained staff nurses for the care, treatment, injections, and instruction which only they are competent to give.

The part which the Board member and volunteer can play in the successful functioning of their agency, through informed participation and interpretation to the community, was further emphasized by Miss MacDonald and Mrs. Charles E. Megargel in their reports of the annual meetings of the Massachusetts Nursing Associations at Swampscott October 25 through 28. Mrs. Matt B. Jones, Jr., president of the Association, and Mrs. Roy G. Hoskins, chairman of Nursing, also attended the conventions.

1228 visits were made during October, the Director announced, including those involving guidance, care, observation and supervision; 13 health inspections of Pomroy Nursery School as well as the 10 regular Well-Baby Conferences were held.

Grateful acknowledgment of responsible community interest in the work of the Visiting Nurse Association was made to the owners of the Moye Chevrolet Company for their generosity in storing, free of charge, the seven cars used by the nurses. The budget, presented by Mrs. Joseph C. MacDonald, chairman

Named Instructor At Univ. of Maine

Alice V. Finnegan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Finnegan of 72 Summit street, Newton, has joined the University of Maine as an instructor in physical education.

For the past two years, Miss Finnegan has served as director of health and physical education at Nazareth reth, Ky. She received a Bachelor of Science in Education degree in 1952 from the Bouve-Boston School, which is affiliated with Tufts College.

Jackson Homestead to Hold Annual Open House Sunday

Open House at the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington street, Newton, will be held Sunday afternoon, November 14, from 3 to 5 p.m. The exhibit of Early American Glass, under the direction of Mrs. Alexander I. Peckham, has been very popular and will be continued through November. The window containing mostly Sandwich glass from her collection, is of special interest. Additional pieces of lovely colored glass have been added, many of them belonging to Mrs. Edward J. Sawyer.

Shown in the dining room are Thanksgiving Proclamations, one issued by Governor Elbridge Gerry for November 29, 1810; this is on loan from Mr. Fred C. Alexander, chairman of the trustees of the Homestead. Another, issued by Governor William Claflin for November 19, 1869. An oil portrait of Governor Claflin hangs over the mantel, a gift to the Homestead from his great-grandmother.

The Fall edition of the Jackson Journal, edited by Miss Betsy Allen, will be available to all visitors.

The special guests invited to this November open house are the history teachers of the Newton schools.

Since the Homestead is a historical center for Newton, it holds much of interest for such a group. However, the general public is always most welcome and is urged to attend. All will enjoy the friendly hospitality of candlelight, punch and open fires, as well as Girl Scouts in hoop skirts, such as were worn by the Jackson ladies of a 100 years ago.

Mrs. H. C. Thomas has general charge of the afternoon, and Mrs. R. D. Roquemore will serve as hospitality chairman.

Acting as hosts and hostesses will be: Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dana McKay, Mrs. E. Graham Bates, Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Mr. Charles P. Slocum and Mrs. W. R. Sears.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Eisenhower's Popularity and Last Minute Appeal to Get Out and Vote Stemmed the Rising Democratic Tide

President Eisenhower is still tremendously popular. That was indicated by the results of last week's congressional elections across the country and by the receptions accorded him on his visit to Boston and other recent stops he has made.

It probably is true that his standing has fallen two or three percentage points, as some of the nation-wide polls show, for no man in high public office could remain at the peak which Mr. Eisenhower achieved in his 1952 election.

But it also is undoubtedly a fact that President Eisenhower, after nearly two years in the White House, today could defeat any candidate the Democratic party could match against him, whether it be Adlai Stevenson, Estes Kefauver, Stuart Symington or someone else.

That appraisal might be challenged by some Democratic politicians, but it is made on the basis of a large amount of political evidence that could not easily be disputed.

It is a fact, as the Democratic politicos would be quick to point out, that Republican candidates for the U. S. Senate were defeated in five of the six States which the President entered and that the G.O.P. gubernatorial contenders lost out in the three States he visited.

Cub Scout Leadership 'Pow Wow' to Be Held Sunday

An exciting adventure in Cub Scout leadership development is promised for adults attending the Pow Wow to be held Sunday, November 14th from 1:00-6:00 p.m., at the Wellesley Senior High School.

The Pow Wow is for all Newton, Wellesley and Weston adults interested in Cub Scouting. Cubmasters, assistants, den mothers, committeemen and interested parents all can come and "learn while doing" the things that provide good Cubbing.

Many adult leaders in Cubbing and parents whose present activity only is to help their own children advance through the Cub Scout program feel a need for guidance in their responsibilities. The Pow Wow has been arranged to meet this need. There will be sections on games, handicraft, ceremonies and entertainments as well as Pack administration.

Each section is a "do" section. Whether it be playing games, making handicraft items or putting on ceremonies, the adult leaders can increase their skill by actually doing these things along the lines suggested by successful Scouters from throughout the Norumbega Council area. Also, there will be exhibits of the various Packs' accomplishments in many phases of Cub Scouting so that adults from other Packs can get ideas for use in their own Cubbing work.

With broad representation from each Pack, adults attending the separate sections can return to their Pack activities able to share the background of this new adventure with associates who attended different sections of the Pow Wow. Each Pack thereby will have the opportunity of drawing from the successful experience of all other Packs so as to formulate the most interesting and beneficial program for the year ahead. The Pow Wow will have many answers to such questions as: "What shall we do at our next meeting?" and "How should we do it?"

Christmas Concert Is Planned for December 5

ith another Christmas Season just around the corner, the Newton Community Chorus is hard at work smoothing out their annual Christmas program to be presented December 5th at the Newton High School auditorium.

Again, as in past years, the program will consists of a well rounded selection of varying Christmas themes. Director "Jim" Remley has primed, prodded and pushed the chorus into and through the intricacies of compositions by Johann Sebastian Bach, Randell Thompson and Fred Waring. He is now developing the many varying intonations which contribute so heavily to the beauty of the music.

This concert will be presented without an admission charge which is in keeping with the holiday season spirit as felt by the members of the chorus.

Inaugurating Discussions and Brief Talks

In keeping with the effort of Temple Emanuel of Newton to make each phase of its Congregational program a source of inspiration and an opportunity for learning, Dr. Albert I. Gordon, spiritual leader of the Congregation, is inaugurating, as a part of its Onegei Shabbat which follow the Friday evening services, a series of brief talks and discussions on the general theme, "Know Your Jewish Community."

This series will commence on Friday evening, November 12, when David Greenberg, President of the Jewish Family and Children's Services of Greater Boston, will deliver a brief address on the work of his organization. Following upon the presentation, the congregation will be invited to ask questions, of Mr. Greenberg and other experts in this field.

Others in the series will include representatives from American Jewish Congress, Jewish Community Council of Greater Boston, and Beth Israel Hospital.

Navy personnel and the Navy's contractors produce more than 1,000 inventions for patent each year.

Bid For Japan

A member of the Japanese Diet group which recently visited Communist China said that Chinese Premier Chou En-lai spoke of co-existence on five points, one of which was trade. The Red Chinese Premier's approach should inspire some serious thought in this country.

The Communists would do almost anything to woo Japan and our other Asian allies away from us. One potent weapon they possess is the possibility of trade. Our allies, Japan included, need trade and unless we can offer it to them they are likely to turn elsewhere to get it.

The United States has done a great deal to help its allies. But we cannot rely on gratutude to overcome the lure of trade. We can only meet the Communist move in this direction by showing a willingness to make trading with us easier. That means lower tariffs.

If Japan should establish trade with Red China the Communists could use that as a wedge to separate Japan from the West. With conditions as unsettled as they are in the world we must not fail to be alert to the Red attempt to use trade as a poltical tool.

November Eleventh

Armistice Day as such has disappeared from our calendar of national holidays. November 11 will be known as Veterans Day to honor all those who have served in all our country's wars.

Nevertheless, to a great many Americans the date will never be anything else than Armistice Day. It was on November 11, 1948, that World War I ended. The world celebrated wildly for this was to have been "the war to end all wars." Scarcely 20 years later the world was to realize how extravagant and unfounded that hope had been. The war that history had called simply the "World War" had to be renamed "World War I."

Historians maintain that mistakes made after the Armistice led directly to the rise of Hitler and World War II. Yet despite the fact that the bright hopes of Armistice Day met disappointment, hope has not been abandoned. Good men still seek peace in fulfillment of obligation owed to those who fought and died in that war.

But it should be remembered that President Eisenhower, risking a blow to his own prestige, went to those States where Republican candidates for U. S. Senator and Governor were hardest pressed and in the greatest trouble.

Ike didn't pick out those States where his party's standard-bearers were most likely to win and thus make him look good. He went into areas where the Republican candidates were facing probable defeat and tried to rescue them. On the surface his mission was unsuccessful everywhere except in Ohio.

But the overall returns across the nation create a clear and distinct impression that President Eisenhower did prevent a Democratic sweep and heavier losses for the Republican party.

There is no way of proving what would have happened if Mr. Eisenhower had not assumed a more active campaign role than any previous President in the history of the nation in a so-called midterm election. However, there are some political measuring sticks by which reasonable conclusions can be reached.

The party in control of the White House invariably loses ground in a midterm election. Only once this century has there been an exception to that political rule. That was in 1934, when the popularity of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt and the New Deal was still on the rise.

During that period the average loss for the party in power has been 40 seats in the national House of Representatives and four seats in the Senate. The G.O.P. last week suffered a net loss of 16 seats in Congress and two in the Senate. So the Republican drop, as contrasted against the record for the past 50 years, was less than normal.

All the tests of sentiment that were made up to the time that President Eisenhower plunged into the campaign indicated that the Democrats would make substantially greater gains in the two branches of Congress than they actually achieved.
years later. That was one instance where

The Maine election in September foretold a pickup of more than 40 seats in Congress for the Democrats. So, too, did the weathervane election in Alaska. In the past the returns from Maine and Alaska have been accurate and reliable barometers of what to expect in the following national elections. This year virtually all the polls that were made supported the stories that the voting in Maine and Alaska, at opposite ends of the nation, seemed to tell.

Something happened so that this year the returns from Alaska and Maine didn't mean what they usually do with respect to the rest of the country. Instead of a Democratic sweep, which they indicated was coming, merely a Democratic drift developed.

The only thing that could have slowed down the Democratic tide and altered its course was the forceful intervention of President Eisenhower.

His most important contribution, in the opinion of this writer, was in breaking through the G.O.P. apathy during the last two weeks of the campaign and in substantially increasing the Republican vote that came out.

It is the considered judgment of this observer that President Eisenhower, although he did not come to Massachusetts during the campaign, actually saved Senator Saltonstall and Congressman Laurence Curtis from possible defeat and increased plurality by which Governor Christian A. Herter won reelection to a second term.

Herter probably would have survived the election on the strength of his own record, but by a smaller plurality, if Ike had remained on the sidelines, but it is quite likely that Saltonstall and Curtis would have been defeated but for the President's get-out-the-vote efforts.

It is evident that the Republicans did a better job of bringing out the vote than did the Democrats, except in a few scattered locations. Some of the credit for that belongs to Governor Herter's organization and, particularly, to Republican State Committee Chairman Elmer C. Nelson who is a superior political workman.

But in their final drive during the critical stage of the campaign, when the outcome hung in the balance, the Bay State G.O.P. leaders had vital and valuable help from the man in the White House, and many Republican voters went to their polling places in response to the appeal of the President.

Further evidence of the effectiveness of Mr. Eisenhower's campaign effort is the fact that the Republicans suffered heavier losses in the gubernatorial races than they did in the senatorial and congressional contests. In several States the G.O.P. lost the Governorship without dropping a Senate or House seat. That is extremely significant, if one is trying to estimate President Eisenhower's standing with the people. It probably means that many persons, who voted Democratic in other contests, felt that Ike should have a Republican Congress working with him.

This onlooker does not feel that Vice President Nixon campaign stint was as effective as the G.O.P. high command professes to believe. It is our opinion that Nixon did not gain any votes for his party and that he may even have lost some. Nixon was campaigning long before President Eisenhower stepped onto the firing line, and there was no evidence or indication that he made any impact whatever on the political trend, when he was spearheading the Republican drive.

One newspaper columnist incidentally recently expressed the opinion that Jimmy Welansky, who operates a restaurant in Cleveland Circle, played an important part in saving Congressman Curtis from the threat of defeat. That is unadulterated political nonsense and drivel.

Curtis won reelection for several reasons: 1. He was an attractive candidate. 2. He has been a conscientious, hard-working Congressman who gave good service to his district. 3. He had the support of many veterans who ordinarily vote Democratic. 5. He was running in a district where Governor Herter was extremely strong and which Herter served in Congress for 10 years. 6. He benefited from Herter's strength and from President Eisenhower's efforts to bring out the vote.

Former Assistant U. S. Attorney Jackson H. Holtz did extremely well in his first Congressional run, and he will be a figure to reckon with in future election battles. Holtz proved himself both an attractive candidate and an able vote-getter. Some of the persons active in his campaign probably cost him support he might otherwise have received. But Holtz is the type of candidate who is likely to recognize the mistakes made by some of his lieutenants and profit by them another time.

How much the Democratic party really won in last Tuesday's election in Massachusetts and throughout the nation remains to be determined.

The loss of control of Congress may not be as much of a blow to the G.O.P. as it might seem at first glance. Many Democratic Congressmen are committed to supporting President Eisenhower.

And if President Eisenhower does consent to stand for reelection in 1956, the 84th Congress might well prove as apt a whipping boy for him as the 80th Congress did for former President Truman in 1948.

If the Republicans had not gained control of Congress in 1946, Truman probably would not have been elected two the Republicans won a battle and lost a war.

It also should be emphasized that a midterm loss for the party in power is normal and to be expected. It does not necessarily foretell defeat in the next Presidential election. In this case the G.O.P. had no cushion in the two branches of Congress to absorb the losses it suffered.

Health For All

BORE YOURSELF TO SLEEP

The dog, the cat, the baby in the crib—how do they spend most of their time? Sleeping. It's so easy for them to drop off anywhere, anytime. Then why can't you sleep whenever you wish? It's probably because you're so intelligent.

It was quite an achievement when man got smart enough to stay awake two thirds of the time. New born infants, like the lower animals, wake only when stimulated by hunger, pain, fear, or some other primitive urge. When their needs are satisfied, they go back to sleep. As the brain develops, the baby becomes more and more aware of what goes on around him. There are many more sensations to keep him awake. And when he becomes an adult with a fully developed brain, life can be so very stimulating that sometimes he just can't sleep.

The type of insomnia that afflicts almost everyone once in a while results from over-stimulation. You get into a political discussion, and when you go to bed you lie awake thinking up perfect arguments. Or you have an important job to do tomorrow, and you worry about how you'll do it. Or you are in a strange bed. Or you drank too much strong coffee.

If you have trouble getting to sleep, try boring yourself. An occasional evening with dull company or a dull book will be helpful. Take a cup of warm milk or similar innocuous beverage before retiring. Establish a bedtime routine of insignificant chores to slow down the activity of your brain. Music may help, if it is pleasant but uninteresting. Be sure not to confuse annoyance with boredom. People or things that annoy you are stimulating rather than soporific.

The main thing is to get into the habit of sleeping. There's no need to worry about losing sleep occasionally, but chronic insomnia is very serious and may require a doctor's help.

Women's Alliance

The West Newton Branch of the Women's Alliance met yesterday (Wednesday) at the Parish Hall of the First Unitarian Church, West Newton, for Guest Day.

J. Duane Squires, chairman of the Department of Social Studies of Colby Junior College, New London, N. H., gave a talk on "Securities for Peace; the work of the specialized agencies of the United Nations."

By appointment of Governor Hugh Gregg of New Hampshire, Mr. Squires is chairman of the official state committee for U. N. Day in the Granite State. He has taught a course on the U. N. at Colby since 1946, and has frequently visited the New York headquarters.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Tennessee is confronted with a problem in constitutional law as a result of the election of two State Senators who are under the 30-year age minimum required by the State charter. Whether the two "baby Senators" will be able to sit in the 33-member body will be decided by the other Senators since the courts have indicated an unwillingness to intervene.

The Scripps Institution of Oceanography in San Francisco is planning to throw 12,000 message-bearing bottles into the Pacific Ocean during the next year to determine where they are carried by the off-shore currents.

After being granted a divorce from his 70-year-old wife in Iola, Kans., and sternly warned by the judge that he could not remarry for six months, Thomas Kimzey, 90, answered: "I understand that, Judge, but it won't keep me from browsing around."

When Edward Maszle of Homeville, Pa., after being convicted of burglary, was given his choice of spending 18 months in a reformatory or a penitentiary, he told the judge: "I prefer the penitentiary because there are too many young punks in reformatories who would get me into trouble."

Owners of the Saltee Islands, six miles off the coast of Ireland and the country's finest bird sanctuary, have been confronted for several years with a problem of rabbits who prey on birds. They flew 500 cats onto the island, but the rabbits bred faster than the cats and killed them off. Then they collected 20 fox cubs, kept them in captivity until they were old enough to hunt and turned them loose on the islands. Now the foxes are a greater menace to the birds than were the rabbits.

Authorities in Compton, Calif., were unimpressed by James A. Beazley's explanation that the reason he was flying his airplane so low that it aroused vigorous protests was that his wife wanted to point out the bowling alley she patronized. James was fined $100 for reckless flying.

Deaths

Jeremiah A. Coleman

Jeremiah A. Coleman, 88, custodian of the Burr School in Auburndale for 40 years until his retirement in 1936, died Monday morning in Rhode Island Hospital, Providence, R. I. He made his home at 252 Islington road, Auburndale, until a few months ago when he moved to a daughter's home in Providence. Besides his daughter, Miss Anna E. Coleman, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary E. (Sweeney) Coleman. A Requiem High Mass was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) morning at Corpus Christi Church, Auburndale, with burial in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Margaret Rand

Miss Margaret Rand, 79, a native of Newton Centre and dean of Lasell Junior College from 1938 to 1944, died November 3, in Peterboro, N. H. Miss Rand taught at Newton High School and at Lasell Seminary (now junior college) from 1904 to 1919. She returned to Lasell after serving as dean of women at Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio, from 1921 to 1930. Miss Rand retired from Lasell in 1944 due to poor health and made her home since in Francestown, N. H. She leaves two sisters, Miss Winifred Rand of Francestown and Mrs. B. E. Lindsly of Falls Church, Va., and three brothers, Avery of Miami, Okla., Robert of Belmont and Stuart of Boston. Services were held Saturday at Newton Cemetery Chapel.

Tuberculosis Death Rate Is Decreasing

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has reported that the death rate from tuberculosis has been decreasing much faster than the case rate in Massachusetts. There are still approximately 150,000 active but unknown cases in the United States.

Mrs. Therese D'Abre, Association Health Educator, in commenting on this report said, "Improved surgical methods and new drugs today save the lives of many who would have died from tuberculosis ten years ago. It is imperative that we find the unknown cases of tuberculosis early enough to facilitate treatment for the disease."

"To this end, the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association is constantly expanding its case finding program. During 1954 the Association gave 3,030 free chest X-rays in Newton. This is 899 more than were given in 1953 and in the 1955 program, which depends entirely upon this year's Christmas Seal Sale, we hope to offer the opportunity for a free chest X-ray to an even greater number of Newton people."

Enter Sir Anthony

Anthony Eden is no more. He has been made a Knight of the Garter, an honor which carries with it the title of Sir. We shall now have to get used to speaking of him as Sir Anthony Eden, just as acceptance of the Garter made it necessary to put a new handle on a familiar name and call the recipient Sir Winston Churchill. Many still find it hard to prefix Sir to the name of the ebullient premier.

The Knightship of the Garter has been the most prized of British awards since its founding in the 14th century, chiefly because of its social distinction. The comparatively recent Order of Merit is really a greater honor given only to persons of outstanding achievement in science, literature, art and government.

The Garter, however, is so exclusive as to limit its membership to the King, the Prince of Wales, foreign rulers such as the King of Sweden and the Emperor of Ethiopia (admitted only lately), and 25 ordinary members. Today only two of the 25 are commoners, Eden and Churchill. In the past there has never been more than one.

With the non-titled membership just doubled, can the Garter be going democratic?

Radio Anniversary

Thirty-four years ago on November 2, 1920, station KDKA in Pittsburgh made the first successful radio broadcast. The station had been chartered on October 27 and a broadcast had been attempted on November 1 but it failed. Technical difficulties were ironed out and on November 2, with the cooperation of the Pittsburgh Post, the returns in the Harding-Cox presidential election were broadcast. The audience was small but enthusiastic.

Few people who heard the broadcast, or who read about it, dreamed that radio would become the factor in politics that it is now. The development of radio allowed candidates to cover more ground in a few minutes than they formerly could have covered during an entire campaign. Radio speeches as a political technique have become more and more important. The high point was reached during the administration of the late President Roosevelt when he took the problems of his office directly to the voters in "fireside chats."

By coincidence the elections this year fall on the anniversary of the first broadcast of election returns made by KDKA. When tuning in the election returns it might be well to remember the amazing progress made in this field of communication in so short a time.

Letters to the Editor

FROM COUNCILLOR PEABODY

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I am extremely pleased with the wonderful vote I received on Election Day in my first bid and great prividege for elective office. It is an honor and great privilege to be chosen to serve the people of the Third District on the Governor's Council.

I would like to express my deep gratitude to the citizens of this district for their support and to your newspaper for the fair way in which you handled the entire campaign.

It was a privilege to meet so many fine people, and I look forward to renewing those acquaintances at every available opportunity.

ENDICOTT PEABODY
Councillor-elect.

—0—

FROM REP. HEANEY

Editor, Newton Graphic:

May I express, through you, my gratitude for the tremendous vote of confidence given me last week by the voters of Wards 4, 5 and 6, in electing me to my first full term as State Representative. My thanks also to the army of volun teers who worked fathfully and untiringly on behalf of all the Republican candidates.

I hope my fellow residents of the 5th District, regardless of party, will not hesitate to call on me at any time they feel I can be of service.

Sincerely,
ARTHUR G. HEANEY

FROM SENATOR LEE

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I wish to thank the more than 22,000 voters of Newton who gave me their vote for Senator November 2nd. Mrs. Lee and I are particularly grateful that so many voters had faith in the fairness and good judgment of their Senator, in the face of hostile criticism, with no time for reply. This is the kind of confidence and loyalty which I appreciate more than I can say. During my 8 years of service, I have never yielded to the demands of any pressure group, but modern laws have become so complex that it is difficult to analyze them, and easy to make charges about them. With your backing, I shall continue to work for laws that will be fair to all citizens, and remain independent of selfish pressure groups.

FROM REGISTRAR FOLEY

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I am deeply grateful for the splendid endorsement which I received on Election Day for the office of Register of Probate and Insolvency in Middlesex County. I wish to assure all the people of the County that I will serve faithfully in this office to which they have elected me.

To my many friends, who helped me during the campaign, I extend my wholehearted thanks. I also wish to thank the newspapers who were very kind in their handling of all publicity in connection with this campaign. It will be my endeavor to justify the confidence that the voters have placed in me by doing a good job as Register of Probate.

John J. Foley
Mayor of Cambridge

FROM COOKE AND BARTON

Editor, Newton Graphic:

We wish to take this opportunity to express our thanks to those who worked and voted for us in the recent election. The results have reinforced our belief that vigorous campaigns and the active co-operation of the interested citizens will secure a victory in the near future for the Democrats in Newton. And in the process, our district can not fail to benefit from real two party competition.

Penn to Franklin?

Why should a university change an ancient and honored name? The University of Pennsylvania, which dates back to the 18th century, has for most of its career borne that name. Lately a strong movement has developed, proposing that it be renamed Benjamin Franklin University, in honor of the distinguished man who was the first president of its board of trustees. The Pennsylvania Gazette, the alumni organ, has been taking a poll of the graduates' sentiments, and reports that 1,101 have so far voted against the change and only 234 in favor.

This should end the matter. The present name is not only hallowed by time. It has the merit of being informative, telling where the university is located. The one question might be whether it is misleading, seeming to call the Philadelphia institution a part of the state educational system, like the state universities of Michigan and Illinois. That is hardly sufficient reason for a change, especially as Pennsylvania State University, at State College, Pa., takes that place in its own state.

Besides, Benjamin Franklin does not need any further honors.

Parade of the Tomtegubbar To Be Held November 12, 13

The Parade of the Tomtegubbar to be held in the Parish House of St. John's Church, Lowell avenue and Otis street, Newtonville, on November 12 and 13, will have three Scandinavian young people in their native costumes. Pirrko Hari of Finland, who is attending Belmont High School, Sirgun Gjennestad from Norway, a student at Beaver Country Day School and Stephen Aronson, of Sweden, who is studying at Brookline High School, will be present to add to the color and atmosphere of this gala event.

These young people are from a group of 444 of high school age who are living with private families throughout the United States and studying for one academic year in American high and private schools. They are here on an exchange program under the sponsorship of the International Scholarship Group of the American Field Service.

There are 25 of these students living in the Boston area, one of whom is Marie Beaucamps from France, who is living with Dr. and Mrs. Robert Linton of West Newton, and is attending Newton High School. Pirrko is living with Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Ludcke of Belmont, Sirgan is with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwartz of Wellesley and Stephen is with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rudnick of Brookline. Newton Centre Woman's Club Activities Off to Flying Start

Under the direction of Mrs. John Metz, president, the Newton Centre Woman's Club 1954-1955 season is off to a flying start. Eagerly anticipated by members and friends of the Club is the first dance of the yearly series of three to be held at the Clubhouse Saturday night, November 13, from 9:00 to 12:00 p.m. Perhaps the oldsters' Fox Trot is a shade more sedate than the youngsters' Memphis Shuffle, but these dance evenings are a lot of fun when indulged in with contemporaries, and better than vitamins for that forty-ish feeling! Fine dance music will be supplied by Ruby Newman under the direction of Walter McKenna.

Plans are under way for several dinner parties to precede the dance and the evening is sure to be as successful as those of the previous season. Reservations may be made with any one of the Committee members who are: Mesdames F. Earle Conn, chairman; Leonard D. Baker, Virgil G. Casten, Thomas P. DeWan, John H. Hanks, B. Chester Heyman, Ames E. Kent, Anthony Leone, Parker J. Pond, Charles E. Supper, Edward A. Thompson, and John W. Watts.

On November 15 at 2:00 p.m. members of the American Home Committee will be privileged to hear an exceptional program presented by the Celanese Corporation of America, "Beauty and the Budget" keynote of "Your Home Charming." Fifty-eight color slides will be shown and suggestions galore given for beautifying each room in the house — on a budget. Door prizes will be given. Mrs. Lester M. Menkes, chairman of the Committee will read the commentary. Luncheon at 12:30 will precede the program.

The Literature Committee, Mrs. Edward Levine, chairman, will meet on Wednesday, Nov. 10, at the home of Mrs. Moses G. Brudno, 67 Brackett road, Newton, at 1:30 p.m. The hostess will be assistedd by Mrs. James A. Downing, Mrs. Louis Marks, and Mrs. Ralph Morse. Mrs. Gustav Breitzke will review the book "Sayonara" by James A. Mitchener.

Mrs. Orville P. Carter, chairman of membership committee, has announced that the board of directors has voted in the following new members: Mrs. Josephine Alvord, Mrs. Laurence S. Bitner, Mrs. Joseph McKay.

Dr. Chakravarry to Speak at Shalom Supper Club Sunday

Temple Shalom of Newton will hold its first Supperf Club meeting this year this Sunday at the Temple in West Newton. In honor of the 5th anniversary year of Temple Shalom, a new and exciting series has been planned for the group, which meets for supper followed by an informal talk and discussion. The program, striving to establish a deeper understanding of our neighbors, will include speakers on some of the great world religions. The concluding lecture, given by Rabbi Murray Rothman, will be a general summary followed by the participation and discussion of the group.

DR. CHAKRAVARTY

Dr. Amiya Chakravarry, at present Professor of Comparative Religions at Boston University, will be the first guest and will speak on the "Religions of India and the East." His qualifications as a scholar, writer, and keen interpreter of Eastern philosophy, promise a most interesting and informative evening. As a close friend and counsellor of Mahatma Gandhi, present adviser to the Indian delegation at the United Nations, and world-wide traveler, Dr. Chakravarry brings to his audience the personal warmth of his varied experiences. His visit to Israel several years ago, at the invitation of Prime Minister Sharret, and the spirit of warm friendliness he feels toward the struggling new nation will certainly be of great interest to the Supper Club members. This is the first time Dr. Chakravarry has been asked to speak to a group from Boston's Jewish Community.

This series, as part of Temple Shalom's Adult Education Program, promises informative and stimulating meetings in a pleasant social atmosphere. Because of inadequate facilities, the group is necessarily limited.

However, the Temple looks forward to expanding its facilities and extending its Adult Activities in the near future.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

There have been a lot of developments in television set controls. One of the most interesting is the production at moderate cost of remote control arrangements that let you adjust your set from your favorite easy chair. They aren't difficult to install, and they add to television enjoyment.

But there have been many improvements in the regular controls of our TV receivers. The set manufacturers have tried to cut down on the number of front controls to make tuning in your favorite show a simpler, faster action. Experiments have been made in re-locating the controls for easier access . . . and many strides have been made toward true "one-knob" control of the TV picture. As for the service side of the control picture, they sometimes do need adjustment. The channel tuners (with the exception of the continuous tuners on some sets) can get out of line after long use. More often, adjustments are needed on the rear controls which the average set owner isn't able to adjust so accurately. Here's one tip for more pleasant viewing: don't fiddle with the focus, brightness and contrast controls unnecessarily. Set the controls for a comfortable picture (neither too bright and harsh nor too dim) . . . and then leave the controls alone. That picture will stay right. And when your controls won't give you a good picture, leave the "fiddling" to our experienced TV technicians. They have the knowledge and equipment to make accurate repairs and adjustments.

For the finest interference-free reception, choose one of our precision engineered CBS COLUMBIA TV sets. It will screen out those unwanted signals, "screen in" the best picture. See CBS TV at

He was sent to Europe and was captured by the Germans in December 1944 during the Battle of the Bulge. Lt. Mayo was then serving as a rifleman in an infantry company. While still a student there, he received the Field Artillery Medal, the highest award in the Reserve Officer Training Corps given at the College. He graduated in June 1950, receiving at the same time a regular Army commisison.

Upon completion of training at Fort Devens, he left on August 4 for Korea. He was captured by the Communists in November 1950, about eighty miles north of Seoul, after his unit had suffered 75% casualties. He spent 34 months as a Red captive, and was released at Munsan in September 1953 during the prisoner exchange operation.

Davis School Plans Grade Meetings Throughout Year

The room mothers and teachers of the Davis School in West Newton met at the school on Tuesday afternoon, November 9. Plans for grade meetings throughout the year were discussed. Miss Mary J. Nugent, principal, explained the purpose ot the meetings.

In the past, five general P.T.A. meetings have been held. These have usually included a panel discussion, a guest speaker, an Open House, a pupil participation program and some other similar activity. This year, however, it was felt that four general programs, supplemented from time to time, by smaller grade meetings in the evening, might prove even more effective. It is hoped that this will afford an opportunity for parents and teachers to discuss areas of mutual interest and to strengthen the already well established parent-teacher-pupil bond. Only through this interactive process of seeking, discussing and sharing of ideas, can a truly democratic school function.

The tentative dates for the grade meetings are:—
Jan. 12, Grades IV and V.
Jan. 18, Grade III.
March 15, Grade VI.
March 29, Grade I.
April 4, Kindergarten.
April 12, Grade II.

In addition to Miss Nugent, faculty members attending the meeting were:—Miss Margaret Wingate, Miss Anne Gorman, Miss Pauline Larson, Miss Helen Laganas, Miss Anne Schiavone, Mrs. Caroline Allen, Miss Lillian Neary, Mrs. Pauline Gilman, Mrs. Phoebe Bloor, Miss Ann Keene, Mr. Frank Favorat, Mrs. Mildred McCarthy, and Mrs. Natalie Romberg.

Mothers who were present at the meeting were:—Mrs. Paul Landry, Mrs. Thomas Hayden, Mrs. James Ray, Mrs. Stanley Smith, Mrs. Stuart Herrick, Mrs. Robert Giles, Mrs. Carton Stewart, Mrs. Donald Lawson, Mrs. Ellis Bowen, Mrs. Kenneth Morey, Mrs. Thomas Flynn, Mrs. Robert Ingham, Mrs. Max Brauniger and Mrs. Carl Hartbower.

The next executive board meeting will be held at eight o'clock on Monday evening, November 15 at the home of Mrs. Wayne Schell, Elliot avenue, West Newton.

Civil Defense Participates in Simulated Enemy Attack Tests

Civil Defense in Newton participated in the first of a new series of state-wide, command post, simulated enemy attack tests Monday evening, November 1. Pretended was that Worcester and Providence were attacked by atomic warfare and that Boston and its environs, including Newton, were showered with high explosive and incendiary bombs. Newton Civil Defense Director, Alan D. Duff, pronounced it the most effective test yet undertaken. He enthusiastically claimed that it proved that Newton will soon be ready to meet any emergency.

Preparations for the test were prepared by Deputy Director Herbert S. Robbins, of the Control Center, assisted by Administrative Assistant, Frank R. Wasson, and supervised by Chief Deputy Director, Wallace E. Allen.

Mr. Robbins, in a statement following the test, declared that the excellent cooperation, team work, and loyalty of personnel made the test a successful one.

Acting as telephone operators in the Control Center were Miss Patricia Cunningham, Miss Weinande Favorite, Mrs. George Dewsnap, Mrs. Charles Ricker, and two Newton High School students, Miss Ruth Ring and Miss Laurie Alcott. The Boy Scouts in uniform as messengers were Dick Reynolds, David Wilbert and Fred Grady.

Miss Elizabeth Graf, Miss Margaret Connolly and Mrs. Daphne Schaub were Logging Clerks; O. R. Anderson and Clifford Fisher were Routing Officers; Bernard Pearson and Carmin Panzara were Intelligence Officers.

Control Center service representatives consisted of Auxiliary Fire Chief Milton P. Young, with Joseph Jasset and Martin Berman as Liaison Officers. Sgts. John Foley and Albert Smith acted for the Police Department; Leslie Shea, Francis H. O'Connell and Charles O'Donnell were Engineering Liaison Officers, with Peter Chapple and Kenneth Kolman as the Monitoring Team. Mrs. Virginia Potts, Civil Defense Secretary, acted as Personnel Coordinator.

For round-the-clock activity, more men and women volunteers are needed in our Control Center. Further information can be obtained by calling Civil Defense Headquarters at DEcatur 2-3330.

Newton Sports

After a fruitless first half in which Newton High was denied three touchdowns by penalties and muffs, the roaring Tigers unleased a rip-roaring second half to blast previously unbeaten Gloucester from the turf with a 26-0 decision. Beaten by Medford the week before, Newton came into Gloucester's back yard thirsting for victory and proceeded to make the Fishermen the victim of the season's most lopsided game . . . The opening two quarters were nothing but frustration for the once-tied, once-beaten Orange and Black. The first time the Newton eleven got hold of the ball, burly Ed Yobaccio was on the receiving end of a Chuck Fogarty 35-yard touchdown aerial. Down went the red flag and back came Yobaccio . . . At the start of the second quarter, a Tiger march ended on fourth down as Fogarty hurled a beautiful toss into the hands of end Billy Reilly in the end zone. Reilly, appparently watching the nearby goal post, bobbled the ball, and possible TD number two went up in smoke . . . The third near-score came as safetyman Al Rogan took a punt on the Gloucester 30, eluded an on-rushing end, and tiptoed down the sidelines until downed a hair's breadth from the final chalk stripe. The referee placed the ball with its nose on the goal line—but another red flag for offside called back that play . . . Newton completely dominated that half, piling up a tremendous 10 first downs and close to 150 yards. Gloucester picked up only one first down, that on a 48-yard pass play.

Newton returned for the second half after a rugged tongue-lashing and blew the Fisherman out to sea. Capt. Don Brigham imitated a man climbing a stepladder to grab a bullet-like Gloucester pass and set the Tigers on the right track . . . From the 35, Newton ground out 34 and 2/3 yards in nine running plays. On fourth down, Fogarty dove over center for the first tally.

That score, and Mike Vassalotti's "automatic" conversion, seemed to break Gloucester's spirit. The touchdowns came fast and furious after that . . . The Fishermen couldn't find the handle on the kickoff, and wound up on its own eight. Rogan, specializing at safetyman, returned the punt to the 17. Two plays later Guy Vassalotti came roaring around left end with a blocker in front and leaped into the end zone. Cousin Mike's conversion made the score 14-0 . . . In the fourth quarter, the Gloucester center's passback flew over the punter's head. The Newton line swarmed all over the kicker on the Fisherman's 8-yard line, setting up the third and easiest score. . . . Dick Lucier, who picked up 115 yards in 16 carries as Newton's chief ball carrier, turned right end to conclude the varsity's work for the afternoon. Mike's kick made it 20-0, and Coach Bud Hawkes called off the wolves . . . But Gloucester couldn't even cope with the substitutes. Again Gloucester couldn't figure out what to do with a bouncing kickoff, and the Fishermen had to start operations from the 12. Gloucester's punt bounced back to the 25, and Russ Putnam, a 126-pound streak of lightning, gained 21 of those yards in four carries, finally going over from the two . . . For an unbeaten team that had pulled the top upset in schoolboy circles with a 6-0 decision over highly-rated Class A Beverly, Gloucester looked pitiful. The Fishermen's running attack amounted to a minus 18. Gloucester had the ball for a total of 31 plays, while the Tigers had 62 plays from scrimmage.

The Gloucester "scrimmage" proved a good tune-up for today's (Thursday) game at the Waltham High Athletic Field. Waltham, loser only to star-studded Brookline, is still smarting from last year's 32-31 defeat in a classic game . . . Sputtering all year under a new coaching system, Waltham hit its stride Saturday in clobbering Fitchburg, 34-7. The Watch City boys seem strictly a ground team—as last year—and are set to give their cross town neighbors a warm welcome.

Our Lady's High School provided one of the surprises of the Catholic League Sunday by rallying for a 19-14 win over unbeaten Archbishop Williams of Braintree, which was supposed to have a fairly easy time against the locals . . . This game featured one of the wildest periods seen this year, as each team scored twice in the second frame. Our Lady's missed one extra point, however, to trail, 14-13, at halftime . . . Our Lady's initiated the scoring when center Jack Barry blocked a punt and tackle Bob Gallagher scooted 40 yards to the end zone. Four plays later Williams took the lead on a spectacular 55-yard pass play, adding the point after. . . . Far from done, Our Lady's struck back in a single play. From his own 44, Jackie Greeley unleased a 26-yard strike to end Dan Corrigan, who dashed the remaining distance to the end zone . . . Williams promptly returned the compliment with a set of 26-yard and 37-yard scampers to tie the count. The kick for point after again sent the Braintree school into the lead . . . In the third period, Williams moved to Our Lady's 12 before being halted, and in the fourth, Williams reached the 24 before the Newton squad halted that attack by the heavily favored team . . . Our Lady's winning touchdown came in the final canto at the end of a 74-yard march. From the Williams 39, freshman Tony Gentile passed to Corrigan on the 14, who made an acrobatic grab of the pigskin and raced into daydirt. This TD threw Catholic League Division 3 into a four-way tie, with the top four teams— including Our Lady's—all sporting 2-1 records.

Santa Claus, Arrival in Waltham Set for Sunday, November 14

Thousands of excited youngsters of all ages are looking forward to welcoming Santa Claus back to his favorite holiday location! Delightedly anticipating his return, Santa has chosen a special helicopter as the swiftest way to rejoin all of his friends. And you'll be as eager as Santa, when everyone turns out to welcome the jolly old gentleman from the North Pole.

Santa lands in his mechanized sleigh at the Reece Manufacturing Company on Prospect street in Waltham at 2:00 p.m. And to make him truly at home, we've arranged to have four of his very own reindeer waiting for him when he arrives; Amid welcoming cheers, Santa and his reindeer will set out, escorted by a dazzling array of floats, marching units and clowns. The line of march will be across Main street from the Reece Manufacturing Company, and down Moody street to Grover Cronin of Waltham.

Throngs of spectators will crowd together along Prospect, Main and Moody Streets as Santa and his entourage take over the town. Store windows, the roofs of parked cars, and every available vantage point will be packed with Christmas-happy faces, both young and old!

1954's Santa Claus Parade promises to be the biggest, brightest eye-opener of them all — thrill packed with color and excitement! National favorites will be on hand, along with the local groups, to add to the heartfelt enthusiasm of the crowds.

Herb Taylor, nationally famous clown, will be along for the ride to tickle the funnybone and to delight children of all ages! And KO-KO, the "Wonder Chimp," will add his capers to the festivities, cavorting about in gleeful "monkeyshines"!

Old-fashioned bicycles will be rolling along the parade route, right beside antique automobiles, including the 2-cylinder Metz, originally made in Waltham!

The new Waltham Civilian Defense Trucks will participate — a tribute to the civic-minded citizens of Waltham. Mayor Henry A. Turner, one of the Guests of Honor at the Santa Parade, will officially welcome Santa to Waltham, and Chief Frank Fleming of the Waltham Fire Department will assist Santa as he climbs to the top of the Grover Cronin chimney.

Marching units will be on hand to represent many of the surrounding towns and cities:

Church of Good Shepherd Country Fair Wednesday

Mrs. F. Brittain Kennedy, chairman of the Olde Time Country Fair to take place in the Parish House of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban, on November 17, has sent out fliers to all interested people giving an invitation:

"Come and join the happy throngs at the Country Fair. Meet your friends and buy some gifts, things to eat and wear. Books and grabs and wrappings, food that just enthralls, knitted goods and handcrafts, aprons, bags and dolls. A snack bar for the hungry, supper, auction, too. And a Curiosity Shop, plus gadgets just for you. All of these and more you'll find, bargains with a flair. Come and join the happy throngs at The Country Fair."

From 10 in the morning until 10 at night, something will be doing. Plenty to eat and to buy; Hiram, Eph and Sophronie to meet and talk with; old times to chew over at the old cracker barrel; and a chance to pick up Christmas treasures for all the family. In other words, everything one usually gets at an old time fair plus some of the unusual.

Serving as the central committee and in charge of the various booths, tables and events are: Mrs. Robert L. Gibson of Wellesley Hills, Miss Sylvia Meadows of Longwood Towers, Mrs. Alfred H. Crampton and Mrs. Horace Morton of Weston, Mrs. Daniel White of Newton Highlands and the following ladies from Waban: Mrs. George A. Winch, Mrs. Neil Swinton, Mrs. W. Deane Preston, Jr., Mrs. Richard Lincoln, Mrs. Edward W. Alley, Mrs. Charles M. Wilson, Mrs. Stanley W. Ellis, Mrs. Gordon B. Gifford, Mrs. Ellsbree D. Locke, Mrs. A. Peter Williams, Mrs. eorge J. Brookhiser, Mrs. Glen O'Roak, Mrs. Paul G. Anderson, Mrs. Harold B. Kenton and Mrs. Charles J. Cawley.

Study Group of Temple Reyim

The Study Group of Temple Reyim Sisterhood will hold its regular session Monday, November 15, at the home of Mrs. Saul Shafman, 18 Milo street, West Newton. A coffee hour will be held at 1:15 p.m. The subject under discussion will be "History of the Jew in America," and Mrs. Robert Schneider will serve as moderator. Rabbi Harold Kastle is the leader of the group.

Norumbega-

ers" join the permanent flock at Norumbega.

Normally, about 450 ducks stay year-round on the river at this point. But when ice closes in the other places where ducks stay along the Charles, they join their feathered friends at Norumbega, bringing the total of "free loaders" up to 750.

To keep the flock from starving costs Mr. Koe close to $8 a day for the grain and bread. A few years ago, when the flock was not too large and prices were lower, he footed the bill himself. Now he relies on contributions from bird lovers and conservation groups to help continue his project.

A Newton Highlands grain plant has granted him unlimited credit, but sometimes, Mr. Koe admits, it takes him all summer before he can repay the mill for all the grain needed by the birds. A Brighton bakery also helps with bread donations.

"Even so, it has taken a lot of money and quite a bit of time. I find deep in my heart that I cannot desert the birds now, knowing that they will go back to starvation," he says simply.

He began his humane project about 10 years ago, when he was "stunned" to find the duck flock "ravenously hungry and actually starving."

"For the first year or two," says Mr. Koe, "it was a common sight to find two or three dead along the banks, due to either starvation or disease caused by malnutrition. I like to feel that with the regular feeding of bread and grain the flock is much healthier and can stand the rigors of winter better and have greatly increased.

"However, that has brought up a very real problem," he continues. "It has grown too large for me to handle and finance alone. I have come to the point where I am forced to appeal to the hearts of my humane friends."

Unlike many other places where ducks live only in the summertime, he explains, the flock at Norumbega is not migrant. Theoretically wild, the ducks actually have become domesticated.

"Most of them were born there, lived all their lives there. People feed them for seven or eight months during the good weather, and during the winter months they are left to shift for themselves. During the years the natural urge to migrate has been subdued."

This places the burden of survival squarely on Mr. Koe's shoulders and he has responded selflessly the past decade. Last year nearly 275 people shared the expense, and this year he is seeking 700 donors at $1 each.

As an example of how much it costs to maintain the flock, Mr. Koe dug into his own pocket for $665.50 at the end of last year to balance his budget. Nearly six tons of grain and a little over eight tons of bread came to more than $1000, and donations covered less than half of that.

A moving plea for help was made by Mr. Koe in a letter sent to last year's donors in the form of a message from Petey, one of the ducks.

"I'm Petey, one of the oldest ducks at Norumbega," the letter begins. "I am not telling my age, but our pal Koe says that I am 12 or 14 years old. I will admit that I have been around a long time. You can pick me out because one of my wing feathers stands up straight, somewhat like a sail.

'My 450 brothers and sisters have chosen me to write a note to you, friends, and thank you for your generous help this past year in helping Koe to keep us alive. Believe me, we are truly grateful. A 'buck' will almost keep one of us alive through the winter, so that is where we got our slogan of 'A Buck for a Duck.'

"You know, like you people, we have our troubles such as lack of food and shelter, sickness, injuries, broken wings and legs. Our pal Koe is doing all he can to help us and we sure do love him. Pardon a pun, but we admit that there are many quacks among us but Koe is not one of them.

In the real cold weather, about 300 of our cousins up north are forced to come to visit us, so you see we have quite a houseful during the winter. It is a big task, and we know Koe worries a lot about us. We do feel that if the people knew that they would help us in this task.

"Some nights when Koe comes he says to us, 'Boys and girls, I have bad news tonight because I have only half enough for you. I don't know about tomorrow but I will dig up something.' Surprising thing is that somehow he manages to do it and very seldom does he disappoint us.

"He also confides to us that maybe someday the state may be persuaded to supply the food if enough of you folks back him up in the meantime. Ask Koe sometime of the things we tell you. I know that he will be glad to tell you.

"So good luck, and thanks to all of you—Petey."

What do you say, Mr. and Mrs. Newton, how about a little help for Petey and his relatives!

Pharmacy Stamps On Display at N'ville Library

During the month of November Dr. Herbert C. Raubenheimer is displaying part of his collection of stamps depicting events and persons connected with pharmacy at the Newtonville branch of the Newton Free Library.

Dr. Raubenheimer is Professor of Dispensing Pharmacy at the New England College of Pharmacy, Boston. For many years it has been his hobby to collect these stamps, which are now very valuable and many of which can not be replaced.

Dr. Raubenheimer has written several papers on this subject. His last paper was delivered before the Section on Historical Pharmacy at the convention of the American Pharmaceutical Association, which was held in Boston last August.

Also on display are several examples of old patent medicines showing private proprietary stamps.

The final three report meetings at United Community Services headquarters in Boston will be held on Friday, November 12, Tuesday, November 16, and Friday, November 19. The speakers at these meetings will be respectively: Mayor John F. Hines, General Omar Bradley, and William M. Rand, former chairman of the board, Monsanto Chemical Co. Speakers at the first three report luncheons were Edward A. Hanify, prominent Boston attorney, Abraham Sachar, president of Brandeis University, and Bishop John J. Wright of the Worcester diocese of the Catholic Church.

At the November 12 luncheon, Benjamin Shattuck, Newton campaign chairman, will be a head table guest and on Tuesday, November 16, the local Campaign organization will celebrate Newton Day with three or four tables of Newton campaigners and Red Feather agency personnel attending.

Monday, November 15, will be the final bank night for the Residential Division in Newton and all workers who have not already completed their solicitation will be out this weekend. Subscriptions will continue to be received and there will doubtless be some late collections. In many cases the solicitor calls to find no one at home and delays making a later call until the end of the Campaign. If, however, any Newton resident has not been called on in the interest of the Campaign by November 16, it will be appreciated if he will call the office of the Newton Community Chest, LAsell 7-5120, and arrangements will be made to have a representative call.

Newton's results at each report date this year have been higher than the comparative report dates a year ago and as Newton's goal is only about $9,000 higher than the amount raised in Newton last year, Chairman Shattuck is enthusiastic about the possibility that this year Newton will go "over the top". He said this week, "If every person in Newton who has not already given will make a generous contribution to our campaign and if newcomers will voluntarily send in their subscriptions, we can make it."

Flags To Fly On Polling Places In City

At the regular monthly meeting of the Newton Veterans' Council, held last week at the quarters of George E. Carson Post, No. 141, AL, in Thompsonville, Chairman Wm. J. Maloney announced that he had received a communication from Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., stating that the Council's request that the Blodgett Memorial in West Newton Square be refurbished and the drinking fountain connected to the memorial be put in operation would be taken care of, also that flags would be displayed in the polling places on election day as far as such flags were available.

Due to the fact that not enough of these flags are available for the thirty precinct polling places, the Council resolved that Chairman Maloney visit these polling places and place flags, furnished by the Council, wherever no flag is displayed.

Mr. Maloney reports that on Election Day, he placed flags in sixteen polling places, which resulted in a flag in all polling places and the Council will later petition through Mayor Whitmore that the Board of Aldermen appropriate the necessary fund for the purchase of suitable flags for future Election days.

It was also resolved that the proper authorities be requested to replace the Memorial flag pole in Newton Centre, commemorating those from that section who made the supreme sacrifice in the first World War.

This pole had been dismantled after World War II due to its deteriorating condition and has never been replaced.

Attending as a new member organization were Commander Edwin H. Duvall and SVC Edmond T. LeFevre of Newton Unit Mass. State Guard Veterans, also introduced was Mrs. Samuel H. Melick, Pres. of Newton Post No. 48 Auxiliary.

Nine out of Newton's ten veteran organizations, also representatives of three Auxiliaries and the Mass. State Guard were in attendance.

Sixteen men will be given a send-off before leaving for the Armed Forces on the morning of Thursday, November 18, at 6:45 a.m. Chairman Maloney announced.

The send-off ceremony will be sponsored by Newton Post No. 211, Jewish War Veterans. Representing the City government will be Alderman Hirsch Sharf and the clergy will be represented by Rabbi Harold D. Kastle of Temple Reyim.

This ceremony will take place at the Civil Defense Building, 430 Walnut st., Newtonville, with the public invited to attend.

The next council meeting will be held at the quarters of Post No. 50, Italian-American World War Veterans, 230 Adams st., on Tues. evening, Nov. 30, 1954.

2 Waban Youths Cited by Associates

Directors of the Waban Baseball Associates at their annual Fall meeting awarded memorial trophies to Waban boys in recognition of their work with the local teams during the past season.

Peter Grogan, 15, 293 Fuller street, was awarded the first annual Directors' trophy, memory of the late Harold A. Wiper, a founder member of the Associates and former all-American end at Ohio State. R. Victor Stout made the presentation.

Thomas E. Stephan, 15, 56 Allen avenue, received the third annual Howard V. Jones memorial trophy, for his contribution to boys' baseball as coach of the Redskins, Little League farm club. This trophy was presented by A. Peter Williams.

The boys are regular members of the Waban Chiefs who, in large part due to Grogan's leadership as team captain, finished first in Newton's International League the past season. Both boys have played on Waban teams of the different age groups for the past five years.

Officers re-elected by the Associates included G. Kendrick Bringhurst, president; A. Peter Williams, vice-president and secretary, and Philip VerPlanck, treasurer. All the directors were re-elected to serve for the coming year; new directors named were Lucien H. Thayer, William A. Durbin and Edward C. Uehlein, all of Waban.

Presides at N.E. Jewish Meeting

Rabbi Harold Kastle, spiritual leader of Temple Reyim in West Newton, was one of 24 rabbis representing every section of New England who heard Dr. Albert I. Gordon, rabbi of Temple Emanuel in Newton, announce a "new era in the relationship between lay leaders and the rabbinate in the American Jewish community."

Dr. Gordon, president of the New England Region of the Rabbinical Assembly of America, presided at a recent meeting to hear a series of proposals from lay leaders representing the Northern New England Region of The Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Newton Not to Share Electric Bills for Christmas Lighting

HOWARD WHITMORE, Mayor of Newton, and Mrs. Gordon S. Pinkham, general chairman of the Christmas Seal Sale for the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association. Mayor Whitmore formally opened the Seal Sale with the enclosed proclamation which precedes the delivery of seals to Newton homes on Monday, November 22.

Christmas Seal Proclamation

Whereas; Newton desires to maintain its reputation as a healthy city for family living . . .

Whereas; tuberculosis still exists in Newton, and being a contagious disease is a constant threat to everyone, regardless of age, race, or economic position . . .

Whereas; the local tuberculosis associations affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association have been credited with the 90 per cent decrease in deaths from tuberculosis and are leading the way toward the eventual eradication of the still number one killer of all infectious diseases — tuberculosis . . .

Whereas; the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has been effectively fighting tuberculosis with these valuable year-round programs: demonstrations by free chest X-rays to show the value of finding tuberculosis in its early stages as well as heart, cancer, and other chest conditions; rehabilitation by counselling and training for Newton tuberculosis patients; health education by channeling health information to all Newton people through many media; and medical research by, contributing financially to extensive research in the treat-

100 Prospective Teachers Sought In School Drive

Newton school department "recruiters" are scheduled to begin a tour of the country's leading universities, schools and teachers' colleges next month with the aim of finding 100 prospective teachers for the 1955-1956 school year.

Assistant Supt. Charles O. Richter and school principals will interview top students to interest the teachers in coming to the city to fill vacancies expected from a close to 13 per cent turnover next year. The school department has prepared a pamphlet listing the advantages of living in Newton and the services available to members of the Newton teaching staff.

Some of the reasons given why the city is attractive to starting teachers are:

"Because Newton regards education as its top 'business.' Because Newton has set aside more land for recreation and schools than it has for industrial expansion.

"Because Newton is away from the hustle and bustle of Boston, yet close enough to the Hub to enjoy the advantages offered by its universities, its theaters, opera.

"Because in the Newton schools the teacher's voice will count in deciding school policies.

"Because Newton is alert to the new education concept.

"Because in Newton, through the Newton Teachers' Federation, a sense of professional colleagueship is enjoyed.

"Because Newton offers a favorable salary schedule for its teachers."

Despite the increasing shortage of trained teachers, the school department last year recruited 139 new teachers. That brought the total number of local teachers to 630.

Appointed at Harvard

Dr. Enrico A. Pepe of 26 Page road, Newtonville, has been appointed assistant surgeon to the Department of Hygiene at Harvard University. Born in East Boston, Mass., he graduated from East Boston high school and received the A.B. (1940) and M.D. (1943) from Harvard.

Rev. Ross Cannon Begins Ministry Here Monday

Second Church in Newton announces that Reverend Ross Cannon, D.D., will begin his ministry to the parish on November 15, and will be heard in his first sermon on Sunday, November 21.

Dr. Cannon was born at Inkster, N. D., in September, 1908, the son of a Methodist minister. He received his B.A. from Lawrence College in 1930, his B.D. from Chicago Theological Seminary in 1934 and the honorary D.D. from that institution in 1950.

After a year as assistant minister in Westminster Presbyterian Church at Minneapolis he began his three Congregational ministries, serving at Sandwich, Ill., from 1935 to 1940, at River Edge, N. J. from 1940 to 1943, and at Wilmette, Ill. from 1943 to date.

In 11 years at Wilmette Dr. Cannon has built his church membership from 550 to nearly 1,100 and his Sunday School from 200 to over 600. Two years ago the church built a splendid addition, costing $180,000, to its educational building. For the past four years the combined capital and current expense budgets of the church have averaged over $100,000 a year.

Dr. Cannon has served as president of the Wilmette Library Board and he is now president of Kobe College Corporation which administers the oldest women's college in Japan.

Mrs. Mary Clark Cannon, the daughter of missionary parents, has been a leader in many church activities in the Chicago area. She graduated from Newton High School in 1923 and from Smith College in 1927 and received an M.A. in religious education from Boston University in 1928. The Cannons have two most attractive children, Joan, 16, and John, 12.

Aldermen Again Hit Construction Snafu

A first-class "snafu" over appropriations for the Emerson School Addition was revealed Monday night as the aldermen continued to find gaps in the city's planning of such construction projects.

Alderman H. Eugene Jones, chairman of the public building committee, explained that $20,000 for playground work at the school, first thought to have been authorized by ex-Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, had just been found still available but not voted on.

In trying to straighten out an error over where the money was coming from, Mayor Lockwood vetoed an incorrect $20,000 appropriation. An authorization for spending the same amount from school bonds should have followed, "but at that point the ball was dropped," said Jones.

The $20,000 authorized Monday was not "new money," and was carrying out the "obvious intention" of the board when the project was first voted.

"I still say this is a caviar taste, whether it is new money or not," declared Alderman Winfield C. Anderson, lone objector to the appropriation. He pointed out that the addition has now run past one-third of a million dollars.

Alderman Earle D. Wood, in giving his finance committee report, said the whole project was "rather ill-ly handled." He noted that "some faces in City Hall are rather red" over this.

Last month the aldermen previously had blasted the lack of central planning while voting "with great reluctance" to spend another $25,000 on the Emerson School playground.

They based their criticism on that fact that a vague estimate of the playground cost was carried through the years as part of the project, while actually a large outcropping of rocks—easily noted had there been a survey of the property —pushed the cost skyward.

$1000 Refused To Aid Business Area Trimmings

An involved hassle over whether the city should share the cost of Christmas lighting in Newton's business sections tied up Monday night's aldermanic meeting for nearly an hour before the board finally refused to "chip in" $1000 toward electric bills.

The discussion — the lone dispute in an otherwise calm meeting—came on a proposal for the city to spend up to $100 in each section of Newton. The board turned thumbs down by a 16-5 count, supporting aldermen who stated this should be supported by merchants and not by the taxpayers.

A petition filed by a group of Newton Centre businessmen asking for a hearing on the matter was described as leading to "considerable abuses" of the public hearing system, but the aldermen agreed to meet with a representative of each group interested in the lighting at a finance committee session December 2.

The businessmen's petition was criticized for seeking the

Vote on Cement Firm Zoning Change Blocked Second Time

For the second meeting in succession, a charter objection blocked action on the controversial moving plans of the Riverside Sand and Gravel Company from 399 Grove street, Auburndale, to just over the Lower Falls line at 300 Grove street.

The objection, which automatically postpones a vote until the December 6 aldermanic session, was made by Alderman John P. Nixon of Ward 3, supported by six other aldermen. Their charter objections were also needed since Alderman Leo M. Cannon had blocked a vote two weeks ago by another protest.

At the November 1 meeting, the claims and rules committee recommended denying the company's petition, which sought a change of zone at 300 Grove street to permit erection of a cement plant. A change in ownership of its present property is expected to force the firm to move, either to 300 Grove street or out of the city, according to testimony at a public hearing.

Alderman William R. Mattson, who supported the charter objection, explained the reasoning behind the sudden outcropping of protests. The committ-

Leading Church Women of City Make Pledge to Build Peace

World Community Day, a day recognized by ten million Christian women in more than 2000 cities and towns across the nation, was observed in Newton November 8 at a service in which leading church women of the city pledged themselves to the cause of building lasting peace. Sponsored by the Newton Council of Church Women, the observance was highlighted by the report on the meeting of the World Council of Churches held in Evanston last August given by Mrs. Albert Buckner Coe, wife of the moderator of the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches in the United States, who was a delegate to the Assembly. The address was preceded by the presentation of gifts and offerings which will go this year in particular to the Founding of Council Here Gives New Emphasis to World Affairs

World affairs was given a new emphasis in Newton with the founding this week of the World Affairs Council—a non-profit, non-partisan educational organization which will present to Newton a broad program of activities on United States foreign policy, the United Nations and world affairs in general. It plans to coordinate all activities in the city in this important field.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., is honorary chairman of the group, which lists as its sponsors many of Newton's leading service and educational organizations. The Council will undertake the planning of United Nations Day activities for the city, will sponsor discussion groups on world affairs, trips to the United Nations, movies, speakers and a program planning service. Its aim is to create an informed public in Newton. Prevented by its constitution from taking a stand on public issues, the Council's only doctrine is "World Affairs Are Your Affairs."

Examples of such a program are to be found in the World Politics Discussion Group, now meeting weekly at the Newtonville library, and the program of acquainting the Newton school children with the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF). The Council has taken over the sponsorship of these two activities.

In addition to Mayor Whitmore, the officers of the new organization are Mrs. John C. McClintock, chairman; William E. Halliday, Jr., vice-chairman; Miss M. Louise Walworth, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Spencer F. Deming, recording secretary; Mr. William H. Wragg, treasurer.

The directors include Mrs. Louis F. Billings, Arthur T. Gregorian, Robert H. Mitchell, Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, Mrs.

Newton Centre Ass'n Suggests Voting Changes

Several pertinent and constructive suggestions have been made to the city government by the directors of the Newton Centre Improvement Association with a view to improving voting facilities at future elections.

Conditions prevalent in Newton as well as Newton Centre at the recent voting were criticized in the letter sent to the city clerk following the regular November meeting of the association. The following suggestions were the basis of recommendations sent to the city clerk:

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Saltonstall and Furcolo Avoided McCarthy in Campaign; McCarthy Playing for Popular Support in Censure

One of the most unusual aspects to the recent political campaign in Massachusetts was what was left unsaid. At no time during the election battling, for example, was more than casual reference made to Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, and the stormy Wisconsin Senator never was made an issue.

It was generally understood during the campaign that Senator Leverett Saltonstall in all probability would vote to uphold the report of the Watkins committee and record himself in favor of censuring McCarthy. Yet, no attempt ever was made by Foster Furcolo, his Democratic opponent, to capitalize on that apparent fact.

Saltonstall parried the questions of reporters by declaring that he would not make up his mind how he would vote on the proposed McCarthy censure until he had heard all the Senate debate on the matter. It was commonly assumed that Saltonstall did not want to commit himself on an extremely controversial question at the height of a critical campaign, and it seemed obvious to almost everyone that the senior Bay State Senator was in as good a position then to decide whether McCarthy should be censured, as he ever would be.

However, Furcolo didn't press any issue along that line, presumably because he was apprehensive that he might wade into political hot water himself. When he issued his challenge to Saltonstall for a series of television debates, which he must have known the Senator would ignore, Furcolo listed McCarthy as one of the possible subjects of discussion, but that was as far as he went.

hearing only if the lighting funds were denied. This type of petition, said Earl D. Wood, chairman of the finance committee, could result in "pressure" politics with all types of groups seeking a public airing only when their requests are turned down.

Strong support for the lighting aid was given by Aldermen Adelaide B. Ball and Stuart M. Spaulding, who said it would encourage the business areas to dress up for the holidays.

"We shouldn't spend a penny" on decorating for the merchants' benefits," said Alderman Winfield C. Anderson. Alderman Joseph B. Davis agreed that Newton's retailers "are plenty capable of taking care of themselves."

Chairman Wood, in reporting the finance committee's unanimous vote of "leave to withdraw," said it was "perfectly proper" for the city to light up municipal buildings, but stated the municipal government should not underwrite a business venture.

He explained that a recent law passed by the state legislature permits committees to pay part of the electric bill for holiday lights. An electric meter would be attached to each section's lights, and the city would pay directly to the electric company, with a top of $100 in any one district.

The Newton Centre petition caused nearly a half-hour's worth of confusion when the aldermen tried to find some way of legally satisfying the request for a hearing.

The confusion was caused by the fact that the petition sought the hearing only if an unfavorable committee report was given. However, a committee report is not considered given until the aldermen vote on it, and therefore the later hearing would do no good.

Alderman Richard H. Lovell said, "It would make us look ridiculous to vote on a matter one meeting and hold a hearing on it the next." Besides, Alderman Wood stated, there is no practical use for the hearing since Christmas would be here before further action could be taken.

A legally - called hearing would require public notices and a specified lapse of time, so the aldermen finally settled on an informal meeting between all interested parties and the finance committee at the committee's December 2 meeting. This would avoid technicalities and at the same time give all aldermen who wished it the chance to attend.

1. MARKING CRAYONS. Toward the end of the day, crayons were scarce, in short lengths, gummy and worn in such a way that it was difficult to tell where the mark was going to be made. Could adjustable pencils of the type used in bowling alleys be obtained, and one held in each booth with a small chain?

2. WRITING SURFACES. The grain in the plywood surfaces made accurate marking difficult. We feel that this item, with the one above, caused many votes to be wasted since the intent of the indistinct marks could not always be determined by the counting votes. Could masonite tops be provided for each booth?

3. MARKING OF POLLING PLACES. Many people still went to the Woman's Club to vote. A large sign on the corner of Beacon and Centre, and one on Centre street and Langley road, informing everyone of the current place to vote, would help to alleviate some of the confusion.

4. VOTING IN MASON SCHOOL. When this question was discussed last spring, we were not in opposition since it was an effort to save money for the city and it seemed logical to use city-owned buildings. However, since the fire department now occupies a part of the building, and since the crowding and confusion was quite marked, we feel that the experiment was unsuccessful and suggest that the polling place be returned to the Woman's Club, as before.

J. He will discuss "The Synagogue and the Jewish Community of Today."

children of the world through the World Health Organization and Church World Service.

The day is set aside each year by United Church Women, the laywomen's organization of the National Council of Churches, and by its 1,900 affiliated state and local councils, to study methods of promoting world peace, and as an expression of their concern for sharing the material blessings of the nation with the needy of the world. The women, nationally and locally, backed up their pledge for peace by rededicating themselves to the United Church Women's action program for peace, a program founded on the conviction that "peace is possible—war is not inevitable." Highlighting one of the aims of the program—the sharing of material resources with needy people of other nations — the women of Newton, along with the Protestant women of the nation, dedicated special offerings and gifts of clothing, household supplies, blankets, and similar gifts to be sent to the homeless and destitute in Palestine, Germany, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Italy, and France. The financial offerings will be used to underwrite the cost of the peace program and for several other projects to which United Church Women contributes, including aid in financing the overseas shipment of U.S. government surplus foods, and the work of the World Council of Churches in processing the papers for refugees coming to the U.S. under the Refugees Relief Act.. In the eleven years since the founding of World Community Day, traditionally observed on the first Friday in each November, American church women have contributed offerings totaling nearly two million dollars. Last year's offerings came to nearly $100,000, several hundred of which came from Newton.

Mrs. Hugh Robinson, president of the Newton Council of Church Women, presided at the service, and Mrs. Kenneth Waite, vice-president, introduced the speaker. The purpose and meaning of the day were explained by Mrs. George Brookhiser, chairman of the World Christian Relations Committee; and Miss Felicia Tan, a Chinese student at Andover-Newton, received the offering. Miss Helen Kenyon, chairman of the National Fellowship Fund of United Church Women, was a guest of the Council and was introduced by the president.

Mrs. Walter C. Tong, president of the Women's Benevolent Society of the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre, was hostess at the tea following the meeting, which was prepared by a committee headed by Mrs. Roger Hazelton. Mrs. C. L. Southmayd and Mrs. George Squier, members of the hostess church, were pourers.

Overseas Xmas Mail Should Be In This Week

All parcels for civilians and the armed forces overseas should be deposited this week at the very latest if Christmas delivery is to be assured, according to postal authorities. As a matter of fact, the deadline for gifts to the Orient, including Korea, Japan, Okinawa and the islands of the Pacific was listed for November 1.

This week also marks the time when Christmas cards must be mailed for the Far East if they are going forward by steamship. Air mail parcels up to two pounds each in weight may be sent to the armed forces overseas for the next few weeks with reasonable expectation of Yuletide delivery.

With respect to the sending of mail to the armed forces overseas, the Department of Defense has requested that the public hereafter eliminate the phrase "c/o Postmaster" on mail addressed for delivery to APO's overseas. The address on mail intended for members of the Armed Forces or civilians receiving mail through overseas APO's should be confined to three lines, if possible, the last line to show the APO number followed by the name of the post office, as for example:

tee vote was only 3-1 against it, but three members of the committee were absent. Their votes could have swung the decision in the other direction, and hence further study was warranted.

Vigorously objecting to another delay, Alderman Earle D. Wood asked why no additional facts had been brought to the attention of other members, if there were any new facts. He called for an executive session of the board to hear the arguments of the objectors.

"I think I know what their reasons are," he said, but they should not be presented publicly. Following the usual custom when there is a disagreement on the board, President Wendell R. Bauckman promptly called for the closed-doors session at the close of the public meeting.

Riverside Sand and Gravel filed a pair of petitions relating to the moving of the company's operations. One calls for a license to erect a garage repair shop at 300 Grove street, and the other for a change of zone from residential "C" zone to manufacturing for the cement plant.

Both petitions have ired Auburndale residents living near the proposed plant, who have opposed both as being part of the relocation. At recent hearings, 150 objected to the garage petition and 300 to the zone change.

The company testified that it will either have to get the zone change or will be forced to locate outside the city, resulting in a substantial loss of tax revenue.

Professor Wood Jr. to Feature Spaulding School PTA Meeting

Professor Theodore Wood, Jr., professor of English at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and well-known ballad singer, will be the featured attraction at the second meeting of the Spaulding School P.T.A., Monday evening, Nov. 22, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium, Brookline St., Newton.

Highlighted by the theme, "Say It With Music," the program's featured speaker will be James Remley, supervisor of music of the Newton schools, who will discuss "music within the family as a way for happier living."

Prof. Wood, a native of Medford, was graduated from Harvard in 1935, received his masters' degree in 1940 and in 1941 joined the M.I.T. staff as an instructor in English and history. In 1949 he was promoted to assistant professor of English and associate professor in 1952.

He has had a unique musical career. His father, who did some professional singing, started him off in taking an interest in music. While doing graduate work at Harvard, he became interested in the vast collection of folk songs in Widener Library. The war interrupted his musical interest but afterwards he purchased a guitar and began to amuse himself with songs gathered from people, books and records. During the past few years, Prof. Wood has sung before church, hospital and social groups of all kinds — including an appearance over television station WBZ-TV.

Professor Richmond of Hartmann road, Newton, is chairman of the program.

By LEE LOUMOS

My approach to the question of color television has been from a different direction than most. I have been concerned by its complexity of operation for the consumer and its instability and frequent need for repairs by a technician. In my estimation these were the major obstacles to color TV and were the reasons why I had advised my friends to hold off pending their solution.

I am happy to state that we now have a color TV that satisfies my basic requirements and in addition has a large enough screen to obviate fear of rapid depreciation. This is the new 19" CBS Columbia Color Television Set. I have studied it closely for the past month or so and find a very stable circuitry solidly based on a 44-tube chassis. Once the proper convergence of the basic colors is set up, (admittely an exact and painstaking job, it took me and my head technician about four hours for this alone) the rest of the job is more or less routine. And so far, after many on and off demonstrations. I have not had to make a single repair or even adjustment! Best of all, I can teach anyone to operate this receiver in hardly more time than it takes for a black and white set. There are only two additional controls to be operated, namely Hue and Chroma, and can be mastered easily by adjusting for proper flesh tones.

As far as prices are concerned, they are really quite reasonable, much less expensive than compaable-sized black and white TV sets were when they first came out. Frankly, I do expect some price decreases in the next year or two, but let me assure you it can not be a very big percentage. A color set is about three times as complicated as black and white and will consequently be approximately three times as expensive. The only part of a color TV set that is not already being mass-produced is the picture tube.

Objection Halts Vote on Barrier At Edmands Pond

The second charter objection of the night stalled action Monday on controlling the overflow of Edmands Pond into Westchester road, Newton, during severe rainstorms — such as Hurricane Edna, when a dozen families fled the road as water inundated their homes.

Aldermen William M. Powers raised the charter objection because he did not have enough time to view the proposed site of a wall across the Westchester street entrance to Edmands Park. He first requested Chairman Edwin A. Terkelsen of the public works committee to hold the proposal for study, and then made his charter objection when Terkelsen declined.

The chairman explained that the wall would have steps on both sides to provide access to the park. At present there is a wall around the park, but a four-foot opening was left across the road. The new wall would close this gap, through which the flood waters poured.

No money would be needed for this work, said Alderman Terkelsen, since the street commissioner has enough funds on hand. Many things could be done at the park, he continued, but this seems to be a simple, inexpensive solution to possible floods.

He declined to delay action on the wall because of the interest shown by residents who remembered swimming to their back doors after the inundation. He said he had received many calls from Westchester road residents, and he advocated action "to show the people we are doing something."

Value of Teachers

The time-tattered theme of Mohammed and the mountain is repeated with major variations by the Newton educational system. The town is shopping for 100 new teachers; but Newton is a canny and careful shopper.

High pay, glamour, excitement are seeming attractions which seldom can be credited with luring young people into the teaching profession. Still, the importance of teachers in the civilized scheme of things is incalculable, in fact, priceless. Teachers should, at least, be made to feel their value and the esteem in which they are held communitywise.

Newton wants more, and good, teachers; she is going after them and is not content to sit idly in the market place awaiting casual passersby who might—or might not—possess the required qualifications.

This prompt, forward step by the city's educational system guarantees a continuance of the high standards of teaching excellence for which Newton has long received well merited commendation.

The city presents itself to prospective teachers with several exceptionally attractive reasons why it would be advantageous to become associated with our school system. This is intelligent, modern selling and merits community acclaim. The idea is not patented or copyrighted; it could be employed profitably by some more apathetic school boards.

Too Much Politics?

Are the census figures influenced by politics? This fear was expressed at a meeting of the New York chapter of the American Statistical Association, which heard a report from three statisticians appointed by Sinclair Weeks, Secretary of Commerce, to check the reliability of the monthly unemployment estimates.

The three learned that in the spring of 1953 the regional offices of the Census Bureau were instructed to hire Republicans as house-to-house interviewers. Conceivably, strong partisans might be interested in playing down the amount of unemployment. It was also found that recent economies in the Census Bureau have made it impossible to check the findings of individual interviewers.

Possibly related is a memorandum distributed by Sherman Adams, assistant to the President, advising Washington bureaus that "qualified loyal Republicans" should be placed in more federal jobs.

The average citizen, regardless of politics, does not want the government services used for political purposes. Neither does the President. Perhaps he will think it worth while to find out whether the above-mentioned happenings signify a general policy on the part of his subordinates.

No Room For Conflict

Before he entered politics President Eisenhower was a great General. Those who wanted him to run for President maintained that his greateset talent was his ability to lead men of diverse temperaments and ideas in a united effort. He has never needed that talent more than he does now.

As might be expected from a man of his stature the President was quick to express his desire to cooperate with the leaders of the opposition party and his intention to confer with them on his legislative program. He has said that he does not consider the gain in Democratic strength a repudiation of his program but he has also demonstrated that he realizes that the election means that without Democratic cooperation very little can be accomplished.

There is no reason why a difference in the political complexions of the executive and legislative bodies should mean an era of "do-nothing." The country cannot afford a conflict which would bar a constructive approach to the problems that must be solved, and leaders of both parties know it.

The elections are over and despite the differences that separate them as politicians the Democrats and Republicans must concentrate on the things they have in common as Americans. With good will on both sides the next two years can be a period of accomplishment.

Extra Caution

A good driver takes the season into account. When winter approaches he has his car checked to see if anything is needed to make it safe for the strains that bad weather driving can impose. He knows that a car that may stop in time when a road is dry may not when a road is wet and slippery.

Just as he pays attention to the care and preparation of his automobile he revises his own mental attitude about driving. He knows that visibility is usually not so good in the winter as it is in the summer, so he slows down. He is more careful than ever in observing traffic laws.

Driving in bad weather is never fun. Yet the driver who uses common sense, who takes the necessary precautions, can avoid danger and inconvenience. Drive carefully this winter and be around to enjoy the Spring.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

British courts intervened last week to end an epidemic of slaps, punches and abuse to which London bus operators have been subjected from their passengers who are still indignant because of a strike forced them to walk to work last month.

William Kinnick was fined $15 for clambering onto a bus and hitting the conductor "because I had been waiting half the morning." Miss Mary Steele, 24, was fined $1.50 for slapping a conductor she thought was rude.

In one of the most unusual cases of all, Joseph Moore, 52, was fined 10 shillings for using insulting language to a conductor, despite his plea that he had dozed off and was talking in his sleep. The judge suggested that he stay awake, mind his language and hand over 10 shillings.

C. F. Colwell, 39, of Fort Worth, Tex., saw a 74-year-old woman in the window of a burning house. He braced himself to catch her, and the lady promptly dropped onto his head a bottle of ketchup and a jar of mayonnaise she was trying to save from the conflagration. While he was still dazed from the ketchup and mayonnaise, she jumped down and sent him crashing to the ground. Mr. Colwell declares that he never really meant to be a hero anyway.

HIS GREATEST DREAM

Newton Family Enjoys Visit Of Young English Pen-Friend

The young man who came to dinner and to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shain and family at 1382 Beacon street, Newton, can stay as long as he wishes, and welcome. He is John Wells, 23 years old, from Oxfordshire, England, Benfield Heath, that is.

Charming, medium - height, reddish-haired Mr. Wells is secretary of the International Friendship League, and is visiting this country on a permanent visa.

Harry Shain, advertising director for Stop & Shop supermarkets, swapped magazines with Wells through a notice in an English newspaper some months ago and thus gave birth to a most unusual friendship. When the young man came to this country, Harry Shain invited him to his Newton home.

Answer to Stamp Collector's Prayer

One of the most delighted of the Shain family at the visit of the personable young Britisher is little Susan Shain, 12 years old, who is an ardent stamp collector. John Wells receives a steady flow of mail from near and far in the free world—which, of course, provides a generous supply of beautiful and unusual stamps, to fill to the brim Susan's cup of happiness.

Marjorie, older sister of Susan, will have the honor and pleasure of escorting the young English visitor to Newton High School in the very near future; arrangements have been made for him to see the operations of an American school from inside the walls. He may also address the assembly of students.

Incidentally, for the exclusive amazement of school kids, young Mr. Wells is astounded at some of the educational procedures in this country. In England, it seems, youngsters spend more hours in school but have no home-work. American girls? "Very lovely," smiled Wells and the Yankee feminine charmers who meet him say, "A swell guy."

The Shain house guest receives mail from all over the world; in fact, holds two bids for jobs, one in Japan and one in Texas. He would like something in New England, preferably near Boston. He counts a legion of friends whom he has met only as pen-pals through his association with the Pen Friends organization; he was secretary of the American section while living in England on his father's Henley-on-Thames farm.

Good Haircut for Just 18 Cents

America stuns the young visitor from Britain; the amazing quantity and packaging of our foods. Harry Shain took him through one of the huge Stop & Shop markets; it was what Wonderland was to Alice. And the American haircuts! A good clippers-and-scissors job in merry England sets a male back about 18 cents; and yet, young Mr. Wells is baffled—all the men seem to be well trimmed. (No pun intended.)

He stated seriously to the Shains that Americans take so many wonders and blessings for granted because they are a part of our every-day life. "A truly wonderful country of amazing people," was his comment. He wants to remain here, get work and be a part of our great land.

The sleek, luxurious, gay-colored automobiles are another cause for wonderment on the part of John Wells. There are so many of them and every one seems so new and shiny. Britishers make their cars last longer, it seems.

Little Austen Car Makes Him Happy

However, there is one time when the young Englishman feels completely at home. Mrs. Harry Shain drives an Austen—and that's for Mr. Wells. He can close his eyes and feel at home again.

The Shains are firm believers in the philosophy of international friendship and are supporting their beliefs by a substantial contribution to the idea—they are showing a young overseas visitor the happy family life of the American behind the walls of his home — not the false front so often erected to confound our European associates, by too many of us.

And, they are enjoying the young man who came to visit very much.

Cerebral Palsy Fund to Benefit From Stage Show

"Slim Pickins," well known radio and television comedian, and other entertainment stars, will combine their talents to aid the Cerebral Palsy campaign with a variety show to be presented on the stage of Newton High School, Friday, November 26, at 8 o'clock.

The program will include: Dick Kilbride, "The Proper Bostonian," and Cindy Lord, the singer of the "Swanboat" TV show. Frank and Pete Lane, in song and novelty numbers; Bill Coleman, the "Friendly Atlantic Dealer;" favorite disc jockeys; the Bates School of Dancing in Cambridge with a line of girls that will "knock your eye out."

A group of cerebral palsied youngsters will manipulate their wheelchairs in a dance number that is almost unbelievable.

Tickets may be obtained from Priscilla Schenck, herself an adult C.P., at 47 Sargent street, Newton 58, or from "Slim Pickens," WBZ television, Boston. Listen to your radio announcers for the names of stores in each village that will handle the tickets.

Proclamation

As Mayor of the City of Newton, I hereby proclaim the month of November 14th-December 15th, 1954, as Retarded Children's Month, in tribute to the families of the mentally retarded in our community.

Let us pledge our support and understanding so that these forgotten children need no longer be overlooked by our leaders, ignored by our schools and shunned by society.

Our Boston Association for Retarded Children, Inc., should be commended for its efforts in bringing before the general public cooperation for a broad, concerted attack upon this major and social problem.

During this Month, I urge everyone in this community to give moral and financial support to the Fund-Raising Campaign of our Boston Association for Retarded Children, Inc.—an organization dedicated to the improvement of facilities and services for all the retarded, regardless of age, color, or creed.

HOWARD WHITMORE, JR.,
Mayor, City of Newton.

There is a sharp difference of opinion as to what the political effect would have been, if Furcolo had taken a stand for McCarthy and had demanded publicly that Saltonstall tell the people of Massachusetts whether he intended to vote for or against the censure of McCarthy.

Some competent observers believe that such a move on Furcolo's part would have won the election for him. They think it would have shifted enough support to Furcolo so that instead of losing by 30,000 votes, he would have won by a substantially greater margin.

Other sound authorities on the public temper, however, challenge that appraisal and maintain that Furcolo would have lost by a much larger plurality, if he had announced himself on McCarthy's side.

There is no way of knowing which school of political thought is correct and whether Furcolo would have gained or lost votes, if he had spoken out concerning McCarthy instead of skirting and avoiding that issue.

What is rather unusual is that Furcolo, an underdog in his fight with Saltonstall, declined to take the political gamble, when it seemed apparent that he was headed for political defeat.

Both Saltonstall and Furcolo adopted a don't-tip-over-the-applecart strategy where McCarthy was concerned. As a matter of fact, an impression developed during the campaign that Saltonstall and Furcolo had made a gentleman's agreement that they would not make McCarthy an issue. When that was put up to them, however, both denied vigorously that there was any basis for such a rumor.

It seems unlikely that there could have been any agreement because the feeling between Saltonstall and Furcolo became very bitter at times during the campaign, with each accusing the other of distorting the facts and misrepresenting the record.

Whatever his reasons may have been, Furcolo did pass up the opportunity of either forcing Saltonstall to tell how he proposed to vote on censuring McCarthy or of making political capital of his refusal to do so.

The explanation probably is that Furcolo believed on the basis of the returns from Maine and Alaska that a Democratic tide of sufficient strength was running in Massachusetts to bring about his election and Saltonstall's defeat and the shrewdest strategy for him to follow would be to avoid any issue that might boomerang against him.

• • • •

From this distance it appears almost certain that McCarthy will be censured by a fairly heavy vote, when the crossfire of heated argument and stormy debate is finally ended, and that Saltonstall will be among the Senators voting for the censure. In fact, the only New England Senator likely to line up with McCarthy is Styles Bridges of New Hampshire. (Senator John F. Kennedy, of course, is still recovering from a surgical operation and will not be able to resume his duties for some time to come.)

But what real effect, if any, the action, will have upon McCarthy other than to serve notice upon the nation and the world that a majority of his colleagues in the Senate disapprove of him, is not apparent to this onlooker.

McCarthy's prestige and standing within the Senate will be dimmed. But he will still be a United States Senator who does not come up for reelection again until 1958, and he will be a political power to be reckoned with because of his public following that extends across the country.

There is considerable speculation as to why McCarthy adopted the tactics he has during the present battle. He has probably increased the opposition to him in the Senate rather than lessened it by his attacks, for example, upon Senator Arthur V. Watkins of Utah.

McCarthy is a shrewd politician and he must realize that he has injured his own cause as far as the Senate is concerned.

The answer probably is that McCarthy knows he will eventually be censured, that he recognizes the censure measure will be adopted, irrespective of what he may say or do, and that he is making his case with the people, seeking to hold the support he has.

In that regard he appears to be succeeding. His popular backing seems to be mounting rather than dropping, and it is obviously rising to an explosive pitch.

Some seasoned and experienced politicians in Washington believe that McCarthy is looking ahead to the 1956 Presidential campaign and to the possibility that he himself might go before the people as a political martyr, in the event that President Eisenhower does not stand for a second term.

One anti-McCarthy Democratic Senator was quoted this week as declaring that McCarthy by becoming a martyr to his following "is establishing a situation in which his nomination by a Republican convention in some circumstances is not inconceivable."

That vein of thinking seems far-fetched, and it is stretching things to conclude that McCarthy may emerge from the present controversy as a Presidential prospect.

It is far from inconceivable, however, that he might have a good deal to say about selecting the G.O.P. Presidential nominee in 1956, if President Eisenhower declines to run again.

The right wing of the Republican party almost certainly would take over the 1956 national convention, if Mr. Eisenhower steps out of the picture, and it could well come up with someone of the stamp of golden-tongued Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois who is one of McCarthy's most energetic allies.

What McCarthy apparently is doing by his present strange maneuvers is placing himself in a position where he would be a tremendous force in the right wing of his party, a man who has a huge and devoted army of admirers throughout the nation who would follow his political leadership.

In accomplishing that objective, he is hurting himself with many members of the Senate, but that comes down to a matter of degree of dislike and distaste because most of his colleagues never liked McCarthy anyway.

Need $48,000 More to Meet Quota Of $310,000 In Red Feather Drive

With the Red Feather Campaign of Metropolitan Boston closing next Tuesday night, Newton had raised $261,400 through Monday night. With one week to go $48,600 must be raised if Newton is to raise its total goal of $310,000.

Benjamin Shattuck, Newton Chairman, expressed confidence this week that this amount is attainable if all those who have not yet subscribed will be generous in their giving. Solicitation will continue throughout the week until all prospects have been called on and reports will be received at the local bank headquarters through noon Monday, November 22, with final reports completed in time for the final dinner of the Campaign at the Hotel Statler, Tuesday evening, November 23.

All Newton residents and businesses who have not been contacted by solicitors are urged to telephone their pledges to Newton Community Chest headquarters, LAsell 7-5120, from 9 to 5 on Friday and Monday, and from 7:30 to 10 Monday evening.

Newton Day was celebrated at the Metropolitan Boston Report Luncheon on Tuesday when 30 representatives of the Campaign organization and from Red Feather Agencies attended. Benjamin Shattuck, Newton Chairman, was a guest at the head table.

Included among those who sat at the Newton table were: Richard S. Williams, Chairman, Manufacturing Division; John F. Crosby, Chairman, Men's Mercantile Division; Monte Basbas, Chairman, Municipal Division; Robert R. Walker, David Berkman, and Franklin D. Jerome, past Campaign Chairman; Anthony Jaureguy, H. Donald Norstrand, and Murray Sholkin, Members of the Board of Directors.

John K. Bottomley, John W. Gurry, and Dr. Frank L. Springer, Campaign Village Chairman; Captain Charles E. Walker, Chairman, Municipal, Police Division; Miss Margaret Ball, Douglas Danner, C. E. Gould Capon and Harry Barber, Campaign workers; H. J. Miller, YMCA Executive; and Gus Mascaro, Newton Boy's Club Executive, and their guests.

Raytheon Manufacturing Company and its employees have subscribed $27,231.85 to Newton's campaign of which $12,731.85 came from the employees, $14,500 from the corporation. This is the largest amount ever subscribed by Raytheon or by any other organization or individual in the history of the Red Feather campaign in Newton.

Newton Girl Is A Bride 1,071 Times

Virginia Bosler, talented native daughter of Newton, has just become a "bride" for the 1071st time, her first in Hollywood and a record-breaker even for that town.

The nimble dancer is making her motion picture debut in MGM's CinemaScope musical "Brigadoon," currently showing in a Boston theatre.

It's as the Scottish bride of the mythical and tuneful village, a role she played on Broadway for two and a half years. In real life, she's still "Waitin' for My Dearie."

Born in Newton, she spent her early life traveling. Her father, John Bosler, now a hospital manager in Albany, was a marine engineer who spent much time in Florida and New York.

Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bosler, live at 6 Brooks avenue, Holyoke, and she is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fairbanks of 53 Whittier road, Wellesley Hills.

Despite the sameness of her role, Miss Bosler says she found her performance quite different from the screen.

"Of course," she says, "the musical numbers aren't presented in the same manner at all. Agnes deMille did the choreography for the stage, and Gene Kelly has designed the dances for the picture.

"She created her numbers for the more confining theater stage and its audience. Gene did his for the larger film sets and for a camera that moves all over the place.

"They tell me, as this is my first picture, I wouldn't know from personal experience, that this even differs from previous film musicals. That's because of the even broader range of the CinemaScope camera."

The graceful young dancer says she's been too busy with her "marrying" career to bother with romance.

"But when it comes," she says, "I expect an even longer run than I've had in 'Brigadoon.'"

1955 Oldsmobile Goes on Display

The 1955 Oldsmobile, featuring a new concept of two-tone body color, important engineering improvements and a completely restyled appearance, will go on display tomorrow (Friday) in dealerships throughout Oldsmobile's popular low silhouette and wide vision panoramic windshield are enhanced by the flying colors styling that Oldsmobile designers have incorporated in the 1955 models. Oldsmobile again presents three series of cars with a total of 10 body types. There are three Fisher body styles in the luxury "98" series — four-door sedan, deluxe Holiday coupe and Starfire (convertible). The flashing Super "88" Series has four body types — four-door sedan, two-door sedan, Holiday coupe and convertible coupe. In the economy-priced "88" Series are the four-door sedan, Holiday coupe and two-door sedan.

Distinguishing the front end appearance of the 1955 Oldsmobile are the recessed headlights, with chrome-lined caps that extend two inches beyond the lens at the top, the name Oldsmobile spelled out in chrome block letters across the upper bumper bar and a more rugged bumper that curves gracefully into the fender contours at each end of the grille opening.

Improvement of "Rocket" engine power, torque and performance has been achieved through newly designed combustion chambers, higher lift camshaft and valves, larger exhaust valves, cooler operating sparkplugs and full chrome top piston rings. Horsepower is raised to 202-h.p. in the "98" and Super "88" and to 185-h.p. in the "88" Series, with compression ratio at 8.5 to 1 in all series.

A new feature in 1955 is the 202-h.p. "Rocket" engine as optional equipment at extra cost on the "88" Series. Standard equipment on the "88" Series is the 185-h.p. "Rocket" engine, which this year is equipped with a new dual carburetor.

Riding qualities of the 1955 Oldsmobile have been further improved through incorporating direct-acting shock absorbers that are mounted vertically within the springs and attached directly to the frame and the lower control arm. Tubeless tires will be standard on the 1955 Oldsmobiles.

A major styling change is the adoption of sweep-cut front fenders on the Super "88" and "88" Series. These fenders were introduced last year on the "98" Series and add a distinctive flair to exterior appearance.

IT'S THE '55 DESOTO FIREFLITE SPORTSMAN

Introduced for the first time in 1955 is the De Soto Fireflite Sportsman hardtop, all new in every detail and powered by the new Fireflite 200-horsepower Fireflite hemispherical combustion V-8, the most powerful De Soto engine ever built. Exterior design and interior styling are entirely new, including a buyer's choice of almost unlimited color, fabric and trim combinations. The Sportsman is lower, longer, roomier and offers such De Soto exclusives as Powerflite automatic transmission, Full-Time, coaxial-type power steering, Power Brakes, electric window lifts, electric four-way front seat adjustment, and Airtemp air conditioning.

50th Anniversary

New Phone Book Deliveries Will Begin Tomorrow

Delivery of the new annual edition of the Boston and Vicinity Telephone Directory, dated November 1954, will begin tomorrow (Friday) and will take about three weeks to complete in the whole area the directory covers.

This area is as shown by the map on page three of the directory now in use. About 755,000 copies of the new book will be distributed, according to the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Delivery of the yellow-paged classified directory — a separate volume — will be made starting December 6.

For the first time in the Boston and Vicinity directory, information on the dialing of out-of-town calls by telephone users themselves — called Direct Distance Dialing will be listed. This information will be on the inside front cover for the need only of persons in Randolph (WOodlawn) and Roslindale-West Roxbury (PArkway and FAirview) using one-party and two-party telephones. It does not apply to any other exchanges in the directory.

One and two-party users in Randolph may already dial certain other places in eastern Massachusetts, which are in addition to the places in the directory area.

Tickets for the "Starlet Show" may now be obtained from members of the Newton Kiwanis Club. The annual show will be held Friday evening, December 3, in the high school auditorium; tickets will be available at the door. Of these, only ten or eleven will be chosen for the "Starlet Show," with a like number from the Senior Division. Auditions will continue on the mornings of November 20 and November 27. Chairman of the Auditions Committee is William E. Halliday, Jr.

Proceeds from the ticket sale are employed to help underprivileged children of Newton. The special fund for this purpose is also greatly aided by Newton men who advertise in the "Starlet Show" program.

Newton Recount Gives Holtz 14 Extra Ballots

Democrat Jackson J. Holtz gained only 14 votes in the recount of Newton ballots cast in the contest between him and Cong. Laurence Curtis for Curtis' seat in the House of Representatives.

The recount, starting Monday morning and continuing to late Monday night, resulted in final figures of 21,806 for the congressman and 15,828 for Holtz. This gave Holtz two more ballots than the original tally, and was 12 less than Curtis' first total.

The recount in three Boston wards out of the seven included in the 10th Congressional District gave Curtis a gain of 25 votes. Brookline, also included in the district, will recount its ballots tomorrow (Friday).

Yesterday (Wednesday) the recount began in the contest for the Third Councillor District. In this race, David B. Williams was upset for re-election by Democrat Endicott "Chub" Peabody.

Newton's third recount will begin tomorrow (Friday) of the ballots for the Middlesex-Suffolk Senatorial contest, in which Sen. Richard H. Lee of Newton was returned to the State Senate by a 1278-vote margin over Democrat Leo M. Cannon. Sen. Lee's victory over the Newton alderman was made possible by the 7000-vote bulge he carried out of the city into several Cambridge and Boston wards.

A fourth recount will begin Monday for Middlesex County Register of Probate. Mayor John B. Foley of Cambridge narrowly leads in that race over Republican Warren J. Fitzgerald. Fitzgerald received an almost 2-1 vote in Newton.

A special service by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, at 10:45 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day, will be held in the church edifice at 391 Walnut street, Newtonville. It will be open to the public.

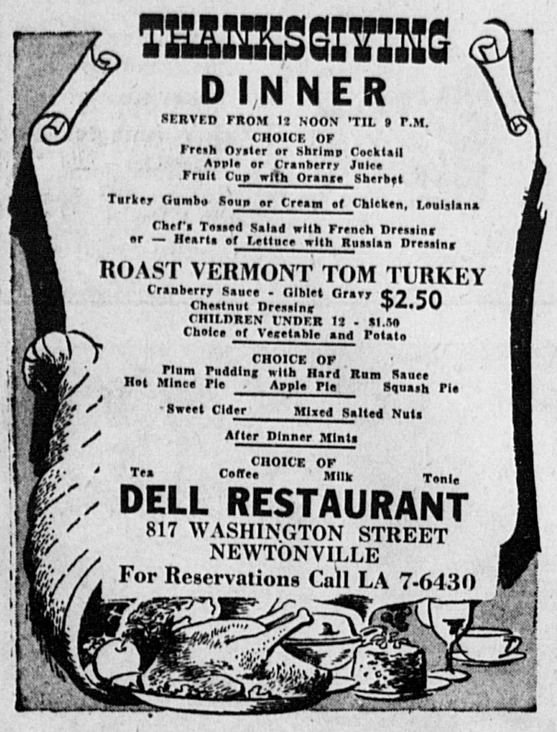

Selections on the subject of praise and thanksgiving to God will be read from the King James version of the Bible and from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, in a specially prepared lesson-sermon entitled "Thanksgiving." The music and hymns will express a similar theme.

The latter portion of the service will be devoted to spontaneous expressions of gratitude by Christian Scientists. No collection is taken at this service. Local members have invited everyone to attend.

An item in the New York Times informs us that in India there are only three seasons. American baseball fans insist that there is only one worth talking about in this country.

Spotlight on Weeks

The following article has been taken from the November issue of The Spotlight:

Affiliation Council

Weeks has been affiliated since last spring with the Joseph Leckie Comprehensive Secondary school in Walsall, Staffordshire, England, under the auspices of the American Friends Service committee.

Weeks is among the first American schools to affiliate with an English school.

Affiliation started after the war as an organization to get American schools to send clothes and school supplies to less fortunate French and German schools in war-torn Europe. Schools are chosen for common characteristics, like size and type.

The Leckie school, with which Weeks is affiliated, is not like the usual English school. There are about 900 pupils, and it is co-ed. It has three streams or curriculums: grammar, to prepare students for college; secondary modern, not academic; and the technical courses, like our trade schools. There are seven forms or grades, starting with form I—like our sixth or seventh grades. School continues from September until July, with three-week vacations in winter and spring.

The Weeks English Affiliation Council, under the sponsorship of Mr. Knowlton, expects to start immediately with penpals and group to group correspondence, social studies information, track meets with the English school by mail, and a possible student exchange in a few years.

By STEVE COHEN.

News of the Day

Open House at Day, November 9th, an annual feature of American Education Week, was well attended. Many parents visited the school and attended classes with their children. Also a window in Newtonville Square showed many of the academic and extra curricula activities of the school. This project was under the direction of Mrs. Curtin.

N.C. Methodist Church Annual Fair in Country Atmosphere

"Thanksgiving" will be the theme for the annual fair to be held by the Newton Centre Methodist Church today (Thursday) from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m.

The decorations will be the golds, browns, and greens of fall, with bittersweet, cedar, gourds, and pumpkins to create a country atmosphere. The emphasis this year will be on home-made articles and food.

Fragrant bread and rolls, fresh from the oven, pies and cakes "like the ones mother used to make", and pickles, jams, and preserves from shining cupboards will fill the hall with tempting reminders of an old-fashioned New England kitchen. There will be candy, too—from fudge to chocolates—all home-made. Morning coffee and doughnuts, luncheon at noon, afternoon tea, and an old-fashioned baked ham dinner at 6:30 will provide opportunity for relaxation and conversation.

Dozens of home-made aprons, piles of hand-blocked linens and knitted and crocheted articles will fill the tables. Hand-dipped candles in all designs will be featured. The Attic Corner wil hold china, jewelry, and "what-nots." There will be a Kiddie Korner with surprises for the children, as well as old-fashioned tonic and freshly made popcorn. Outside, the tunes of a merry-go-round will lure the youngsters for a ride.

During the entire day, there will be a "grandmother" or a "big sister" in the nursery to take care of children and babies so that mothers can browse, shop, or pause for tea without worries.

Among the women taking part in the fair are Mesdames Leonard Baker, Edgar S. Brightman, Harold Brown, Norman Ferguson, Robert Fraser, Merton Knowles, E. Tyler Parkhurst, Charles Renker, George Richardson, Roy Robinson, Harold Temperley, and the Misses Maida and Marguerite Flanders.

Proceeds of the Fair will be used for home and foreign mission projects, and toward repairing the damage done to the church, including the breaking of the stained glass window by hurricane "Carol."

Costello Named To Board of Boston Chapter

Joseph P. Costello, 23 Riverside street, Needham Heights, was recently elected by the board of directors to membership in the Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

Local Camp Fire Girl Leadership Training Course

The Newton Camp Fire Girls, having just completed a weekly Leadership Training Course, awarded Leader's Certificates to new Camp Fire and Blue Bird leaders at a ceremonial meeting yesterday (Wednesday).

Through the planning of Mrs. Nathan Kay, training chairman, both new and old leaders have benefitted a great deal by the course. The course consisted of discussions and workshops on the significance of Camp Fire today and in the community, understanding girls of different ages, program building, behavior problems, crafts, outdoor crafts, and Camp Fire Ceremonials.

Resource people came from our own community as well as those nearby. They were: Dr. Wesner Fallaw, Andover-Newton Theological School; Dr. Pearl Rosenberg, Wellesley Human Relations Center; Miss Ruth Maynard, Newton Public Schools, Division of Instruction; Miss Anna Austin, Newton Public Schools, Division of Counseling; Mrs. Eric Lindemann, Newton Camp Fire Girls; Mrs. Virginia Coogan, District Director, Greater Boston Camp Fire Girls; and Mrs. Richardson Rice, Mrs. Dwight Strong, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, and Miss Goldeth Myers, all of the Greater Boston Council of Camp Fire Girls.

Those who attended the course were: Mesdames John Cavanaugh, Richard Dunham, E. J. Dunn, Albert A. Freeman, Wm. Gladstone, Milton Levy, Eric Lindemann, Laurence Margolis, A. S. McGrath, Russell Monto, Horace Ransom Jr., Raymond Smith, Leon W. Freeman, Benj. Berman, Frank Flaschner, Albert Seidler, Max Siegel, Walter Harrelson, Manuel Shotz, Samuel Stubbs, Harry Farren, Leo Milner, Samuel Tannenbaum, Myer Hilton, George Powell, Joseph Bloom, Edward Appell, A. Moscow.

Proposes Change In Enrollment Of Independents

In an effort to strengthen the two-party system in Massachusetts, Secretary of State Edward J. Cronin has filed a bill to enable so called "independent" voters to enroll in either party at any time.

Cronin's bill would eliminate the present 31-day ban which prevents an unenrolled voter from joining either party during that interval prior to a primary. The proposed legislation, however, would bar enrolled Democrats and Republicans from changing their party labels during the same interval.

"Our country has grown and prospered through the operation of the two-party system, which has been weakened in recent years," Cronin said. "This measure should have strong support from the chairmen of both major political parties."

Newton Sports

Local football reverted back to the old-style rock-em, sock-em version this week as Newton held off Waltham in a 0-0 tie on Veterans' Day and Our Lady's remained tied for the top of Catholic League Division II Sunday with a 7-6 edging of St. Columbkille's of Brighton . . . Both Newton and the Watch City elevens turned in sparkling defensive stands on their goallines in their stalemate, the 48th meeting between the traditional rivals. The almost identical stands ended with the ball changing hands on the six-inch line. Newton made its deepest penetration at the start of the second period, while Waltham threatened in the final quarter . . . After muffing some good chances to break the game wide open in the first half, Newton spent the remainder of the game on the defensive. A terrific break for the Tigers came when quarterback Chuck Fogarty picked up a bobbled punt on the Waltham 20. He darted into the end zone with the ball as the Waltham safetyman made no effort to recover his fumble, but the ball was ruled dead at the 20 . . . The Tigers rolled to a first down on the nine, then suffered a killing offside penalty. A third-down pass carried the Orange and Black to the three, but Dick Lucier was nailed the length of the ball from paydirt on the final down . . . Waltham, disdaining to kick, immediately gave evidence of its strong running game by racking up three first downs. Ripping through and around the Newton line, Waltham reached Newton's 48 before kicking.

The Orange and Black's line, which gave up 16 first downs and 240 yards, stiffened amazingly in that fourth-period stand. Eight running plays moved the ball to a first down on the five. Few of the spectators jammed into the stands and ringing the field four and five deep would have wagered that Newton could possibly hold the onrushing Watch City backs.

The first play was halted at the line of scrimmage. The second was rushed by Stanley Krol, Waltham's "moneyed player" who had always produced vital yardage when needed most, through the right tackle slot of huge, 230-pound Angelo Mosca. Krol was stopped on the three, then reached the two on his second try . . . With the stands virtually bouncing with excitement, Krol slammed behind Mosca once more but was dropped a half-foot short of the chalk stripe. Newton's punting end Billy Reilly promptly bailed the Orange and Black out of the hole with a line-drive kick that soared over the Waltham safetyman for a 58-yard gain. A clipping penalty on the same play really set Waltham back on its heels . . . The game was far from over as the Watch City team flew back to the Newton 25 before Newton's line again stiffened. This drive ended with a very questionable call by Coach Joe Zeno as on fourth down he had Waltham kick from the 29 . . . Newton then picked up a first down on the 31. Two rushes failed to gain, and Fogarty skipped back to pass. Waltham linebacker somehow came through the line before Fogarty could even turn around, and Chuck lost the ball as he tried to spin away at the 14. . . . On the next play Al Rogan made a diving interception for Newton, and the game ended as Fogarty threw a short, incomplete pass. Both teams looked emotionally exhausted at the end. The tie was especially bitter for the Waltham two-year veterans who had been nosed out spectacularly in last year's 32-31 "spectacular."

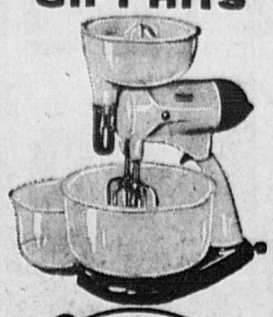

It would be useless to start "if-ing" with the results of this game. Action-packed and thrill-studded from start to finish, the clash could have exploded in favor of either team on every play . . . Although the direct opposite of the 1954 scoring extravaganza, the tie remains as another outstanding encounter in the long line of sparkling Newton-Waltham clashes.

Our Lady's pulled a surprise win for the second Sunday in a row in its 7-6 edging of St. Columbkille's. The win put the Newton school in a first-place tie with Archbishop Williams for the Division II crown. A victory next week over arch-rival St. Patrick's would assure Our Lady's of at least a tie for the championship. . . . St. Columbkille's figured—on paper—to pass Our Lady's off the gridiron. The Newton squad hadn't read the paper, however, and proceeded to outplay the Brighton school on all points . . . Our Lady's one-two punch of halfback George Duffy and fullback Fred Dubois carried the ball on 39 of 45 ground plays, picking up 136 yards between them. St. Clumbkille's had the ball for only 26 rushes and was held to 76 strides . . . In the air, the Brighton team could complete only two out of 11 passes for a weak two yard profit, while Our Lady's made 30 overhead. Jackie Greeley's pass to halfback Bova Rufo, catching the defenders completely by surprise, provided the winning point-after . . . Our Lady's scored its touchdown in the second period, when Duffy went over from the one-yard line at the end of a 45-yard march. St. Columbkille's counted after recovering a fumble on Our Lady's 20, but the play for point after was messed up by a fumble. . . . The Brighton squad unleashed a march in the fourth quarter, but Our Lady's held on its own 30 with crushing line play. A pair of first downs made on the ground ate up most of the time remaining until St. Columbkille's took over on its own 31 with only seconds left.

First Unitarian Society Gives To Temple Fund

The First Unitarian Society of 1326 Washington street, West Newton sent a contribution to the building fund of Temple Shalom of Newton, last week

"Dear Mr. Grossman:

On behalf of the First Unitarian Society in Newton I would like you to accept the enclosed check to be applied toward the Temple Shalom Building Fund.

I know I express the feeling of all our members when I say that it gives us a great deal of pleasure to make this contribution. We wish it could be much more, but with it goes our best wishes, and the hope that the good feeling and fellowship between us will continue.

Very sincerely,
Fabian Bachrach"

The fellowship of the two congregations had its inception with the founding of Temple Shalom five years ago when the Unitarian Church invited Temple Shalom to use their beautiful building for the High Holy Day Services. An exchange of pulpits and visits of each to the others' services followed.

Temple Reyim Sisterhood

Temple Reyim Sisterhood held its regular meeting at the Temple with Mrs. Saul Chipman presiding. Following a coffee hour, the meeting opened with the singing of "Hatikvah" led by Mrs. Samuel Rosenfield.

Mrs. Norman Platt read the prayer. Reports were given by Mrs. Robert Schneider, recording secretary; Mrs. Jack Bernstein, chairman of National Women's League; Mrs. Samuel Ludwig, chairman of Remembrance and Happy Day Fund; Mrs. Portnoy, membership committee; and Mrs. William Gordon, chairman of ways and means.

Mrs. Jack Bernstein, program chairman of the afternoon, introduced Mrs. Thomas A. Rudkin, who presented her program, "Books in Brief." She first reviewed "Blessed Is The Land" by Louis Zara and dramatized several scenes from the book. This is a story of the arrival and life of a small group of Dutch Jewish settlers in New Amsterdam 300 years ago. "Goodby, My Lady" by James Street tells of a boy's love for a dog he has found. How he trains the dog and wins its confidence make for a very touching story. "The Laughton Story" by Kurt Singer is the biography of Charles Laughton and tells how he overcame great obstacles in his determination to become an actor.

Mrs. Rudkin concluded her program by reading several selections of light verse from "Light Armour" by Richard Armour. Other books reviewed were: "View from Pompey's Head" by Hamilton Basso; "Katherine" by Anya Seton; "Good Morning, Miss Dove" by Frances Gray Patton; "Madami" by Ann Eisner Putnam; "RSVP" by Elsa Maxwell; "Shocking Life" by Elsa Schiaparelli; and "I Looked and I Listened" by Ben Gross.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Louis Sinofsky and Mrs. Samuel Shelman. Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Albert Weinstein and Mrs. Harry Heyman.

There were also selections from Musical Comedy, including "Deep in My Heart," from the Student Prince, and the "Merry Widow Waltz." In conclusion and beautifully sung was "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes."

Work meetings and board meetings have been running overtime with enthusiasm for this event, being held in celebration of the association's 5th Anniversary. Mrs. J. Marshall Leydon of Newtonville, general chairman, will meet with the bazaar committee before the regular business meeting.

Chairmen of the various tables include: Mrs. Eugene Stone, Mrs. Reed C. Rollins, Mrs. Melvin Gulbrandsen, Mrs. Ned Erne, Mrs. Thomas Franks and Mrs. Gilman W. Conant of Wellesley; Mrs. Robert T. Steinsieck and Miss Joan Gordon of Newton and Mrs. Robert I. Carney of Weston.

Moolah-Dagmar Clash Features Wrestling Bill

In the semi-final, Chief Blue Eagle, big Injun from Oklahoma, will collide with Ben Lewin of Chicago.

The show will start at 8:30 p.m. with a contest between Nature Boy Ricco, 19-year-old Hollywood, Calif., star, and German Herman Schmidt, reported to be tough and pugnacious.

The more experienced and resourceful Moolah can be counted upon to inject a full measure of fistic fireworks, inasmuch as she's a past mistress of such un-ladylike gestures as a belt on the beezer, the rabbit punch and gouge.

Nature Boy Ricco, 230-pound, six-foot weight lifter, is regarded by cauliflower circuit cognoscenti as one of the most promising grunt and groaners to come along in quite some time.

The blond adonis has already built up an enthusiastic following, including, of course, some of Liberace's bobby sox devotees.

Cadillac Prices To Remain About Same as in 1954

Prices on Cadillac's 1955 models were revealed today by J. M. Roche, general sales manager of the Cadillac Motor Car Division. All prices include a new General Motors freight and price adjustment recently announced.

"This adjustment will result in a marked savings to Cadillac buyers in West Coast and Gulf State areas as the maximum charge for freight in areas 1200 miles from Detroit will average about $200," Mr. Roche stated.

Cadillac list prices on all volume lines are identical with last year's list prices except for the addition of $43 covering the new General Motors freight and price adjustment. A slight price increase has been made on the Eldorado and the seven passenger sedan and limousine. The prices range from $3,568.77 for the Series 62 Coupe to $5,85.17 for the Series 75 Imperial Limousine. The accessory price list remains approximately the same as last year.

Members of the West Newton Women's Educational club visited "Europe Through the Camera's Eye," last Friday when Lawrence Levine presented color movies of a trip which totalled 12,000 miles on the continent.

Mrs. George O. Bagnall and Mrs. Leonard G. Trowbridge were hostesses, and Mrs. John F. Boyle and Mrs. Francis H. McCrudden, poured at a dessert-coffee which preceded the lecture. Mrs. Sidney R. Williamson, club president, introduced Mrs. Walter C. Gorenflo, director of the 12th district, who gave a brief talk on the work of the district in the state federation of women's clubs program.

French Teacher Visting in C. H.

An interesting visitor to Newton this winter is Miss Odile Guitton from Saint-Etienne in the southeast of France, who is spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Edmonds in the Chestnut Hill section of Newton.

The Edmonds, formerly Boston residents, moved out to 545 Hammond street this year, and Miss Guitton arrived in September to stay with them. She has been very much of a leader in the youth movement called The Experiment in International Living centered at Putney, Vermont. On her last visit to this country, Miss Guitton studied with The Nursery Training School in Boston, and she has now joined the French Department at The Beaver Country Day School.

Davis School Executive Board Meets to Discuss Reports

The executive board of the Davis school Parent-Teacher Association met on Tuesday evening, November 16 at the home of Mrs. Wayne V. Schell on Elliot Avenue in West Newton.

Miss Mary J. Nugent, principal, reported on numerous school activities. Seventy-five pupils signed up for the first skating trip to the Boston Skating Club on Tuesday, November 16. Mrs. Paul Rielly and Mrs. Russell Palmer are Co-chairmen of the Skating Committee.

Education Week at the Davis School was a very successful educational experience. Nearly 200 parents and friends signed the "guest register," visited the various classes and were impressed with the many pupil activities they witnessed.

Mr. Raymond R. Forte, president, explained the details of the Human Relations Workshop, which is to be sponsored by the Newton Council of P.T.A.'s. It was agreed that the Davis School was greatly interested and would like to be represented.

Mr. Paul O'Donnell, chairman of the Building and Play ground Committee announced that plans for the improvement of the Davis play area are underway. The portable building in the schoolyard formerly used by the West Newton Community Center is to be removed in the near future.

Until such time as the West Newton Community Center's proposed new building on Cherry street is available, space in the Davis School has been placed at its disposal. Other members of the Building and Playground Committee are: Mrs. Richard W. Noyes, Mrs. Joseph Heizer, Mr. Thomas F. A. Flynn, Mr. Anthony J. Farrington, and Mr. William B. Price.

A By-Laws Committee to bring the Constitution and By-Laws up to date, and a Health and Welfare Committee to aid the physical well being of the students is to be appointed by the president in the near future.

In addition to those already mentioned, members of the board who were present were: Miss Anne E. Gorman, Mrs. William H. Bright, Mrs. Carl E. Hartbower, Mrs. Oscar Murphy, Mrs. Eli Feldman, Mrs. Melvin Taymor, Mr. J. Ellis Bowen, Miss Helen C. Laganas and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. A. Flynn.

The next executive board meeting will be held on January 24, 1955 at the home of the president.

Mrs. John Chase Given Surprise Birthday Party

In Celebration of her birthday, Mrs. John A. Chase of Newtonville was given a surprise party last week by a group of friends and some of her former business associates.

Until her resignation last summer, Mrs. Chase had served for 15 years with the Newton Red Cross Chapter, chiefly as its director of home service. Although the Newton American Legion Post had previously recognized her aid to servicemen and veterans by presenting her a framed citation, the Post further lauded her work by means of an orchid birthday corsage.

Mrs. Chase also received the American Red Cross Certificate of Appreciation which the local chapter had voted her at its annual meeting October 5.

Should Mail Now For Christmas Delivery Abroad

All parcels for civilians and the armed forces overseas should be deposited this week at the very latest if Christmas delivery is to be assured, according to postal authorities. Actually, the deadline for gifts to the Orient, including Korea, Japan, Okinawa and the islands of the Pacific was listed for November first.
This week also marks the time when Christmas cards must be mailed for the Far East if they are going forward by steamship. Air mail parcels up to two pounds each in weight may be sent to the armed forces overseas for the next few weeks with reasonable expectation of Yuletide delivery.
With respect to the sending of mail to the armed forces overseas is concerned the Department of Defense has requested that the public hereafter eliminate the phrase "C/O Postmaster" on mail addressed for delivery to APO's overseas. The address on mail intended for members of the armed forces or civilians receiving mail through overseas APO's should be confined to three lines, if possible, the last line to show the APO number followed by the name of the post office, as for example:
Pvt. Willard J. Roe, RA12378967
Company F, 167th Infantry
APO 801, New York, N. Y.

Matter of Courtesy

It is well for employees on every level to realize that their economic welfare is tied to that of their employers and that anything they can do to promote the employers' business will directly or indirectly benefit them.
Too often firms which spend huge sums on public relations programs designed to present themselves to the public in the best possible light see their efforts dissipated by discourtesy on the part of employees. A rude bus driver, an impolite waiter, an impatient clerk, an unsmiling receptionist, can undo the work of the best public relations expert.
A smile, a kind word, a helpful suggestion, can build business. A firm may be made up of thousands of people, may have millions of dollars worth of property and capital. Its rating as far as customers are concerned, however, often is dependent on the personality and ability of a secretary who answers a phone.
Courtesy costs nothing. It makes living easier and more pleasant. The employee, or the self employed, no matter how hard he works, is giving less than his best if he forgets the need for courtesy in dealing with people.

. . . Spotlight on Weeks . . .

7th GRADE RALLY

The 7th grade rally of Weeks Junior High was held on Thursday, November 4. There were 49 speeches, all of which were excellent. The pupils of the seventh grade listened while the candidates for president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer gave their speeches.

There were candidate parties consisting of a candidate for each office. A few names of the parties were, "The Four Aces," "The Four Leaf Clovers," "The Four Horsemen, "The Political Four," and many others.

A primary election was held first, and then a final election. Those pupils who were elected to office are: George Crevoshay, president; Jane Sutherland, vice president; Barbara Gorney, secretary; and Jon Barron, treasurer.

Good luck to the officers and the cabinet for a successful year.

By Carol Bloom.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Saturday night, all the witches and goblins were at Weeks. They were haunting all the spooky corners of the Chamber of Horrors, which was one of the main events at the eighth and ninth grade Hallowe'en Party.

Ticketholders were assigned to either of two groups. At separate times the two groups saw a movie called, "The Bandit of Sherwood Forest," which was about Robin Hood. It was a very good movie, and was in color.

Another feature was a carnival type of party which was held in the gym. Many different games were set up at booths. There were prizes for the winners of most of these games. Another attraction was a fortune teller who could tell the secrets of one's future.

Dancing took place in the library. An orchestra made up of Weeks students accompanied it.

The refreshments, which were ice cream, cookies, and cider, were served in the cafeteria.

THANKS SUPPORTERS

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I wish, through the columns of your paper, to express to my many supporters my appreciation of the confidence which they showed in me by my re-election to the House on November 2.

Believing that public office is a public trust, I shall be always on the job as in the past, and I will continue to stand for clean, honest, economical and humane government. The only standard considered will be what seems to be in the public interest. I will also do my utmost to support our great Governor in his program.

George Rawson,
Representative, 4th Middlesex District.

CAMPAIGN THANKS

Editor, Graphic:

May I express through the columns of your paper my sincere thanks to my many friends and workers who gave so much of their time and worked so vigorously in behalf of my campaign for the office of Register of Probate and Insolvency for the County of Middlesex.

Avery Lecture Features India

Miss Eunice Avery will make "Democracy and India" the subject of her next lecture at the Community Playhouse in Wellesley Hills, Wednesday at 10:30 o'clock. All of the Avery lectures are open to the public. Tickets are obtainable at the door.

To know India, Miss Avery points out, we must know some of the colossal problems this country faces. It has half the area of the U.S.A. and a population equal to that of the U.S.A. plus that of the Soviet Union. Feeding her rapidly growing population may well be of greater public concern than the competing ideologies of either Russia or the democracies. India's independence is new; her leaders, ambitious for her future; Nehru studies both the western democracies and the communist world.

1955 DESOTO

With all its power the accent is on STYLE!

Fresh, modern style sets the pace for the longer, lower (barely 5 feet) 1955 De Soto. Style in the gleaming bigness of its new grille—along the clean, taut body lines—in the massive New Horizon full wrap-around windshield. This fresh, vibrant style extends inside, too. Luxury in the feel of new fabrics—hearty vinyls and soft leathers—all blending with the gay interior color schemes. De Soto's "Dual-Cockpit" instrument panel is modern, beautiful. The "Flite Control" gear selector lever is mounted on the dash. And to power this '55 De Soto are two new V-8 engines: 200 horsepower in the new Fireflite series and 185 horsepower in the Firedome series—now selling at a new, low price. Today, drive the car that's STYLED FOR TOMORROW—THE '55 DE SOTO!

Memorial School P-TA Schedules Discussion Units

"Oak Hill Park Faces New Stage of Development—as Our Children Grow Up" is the subject scheduled for a P.T.A. meeting on Monday at 8 p.m. in the Memorial school auditorium.

Three discussion groups, covering the problems and the hopes of parents of tots to subteens will meet to discuss the answers to their questions. A unique aspect of the meeting is the "Workshop" approach where the discussion "tools" will be in the hands of the parents.

Mrs. Louise Keller, director of the Page Memorial Nursery School of Wellesley College, will be the guest expert for the 3 to 5 year age group.

Miss Adelaide Ball, former president of the Newton Community Council and the first woman to become a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen, will be the expert for the 6 to 8-year age group.

Jerry Angino, director of attendance and a member of the Division of Counseling Service of the Newton School Department, will be guest expert for the 9 to 11 age group.

Newton Sports

Last year's script will be reversed when unbeaten Brookline runs into Dickinson Stadium Thanksgiving Day seeking a win to tie for the Class A championship of eastern Massachusetts. Newton's 1953 team was in the same situation a year ago when the Tigers met an undefeated, often-beaten Brookline eleven. Then Newton was fortunate to emerge with a 20-19 win after being pushed all over the field in the second half . . . Traditional scraps always produce wild and woolly games, with past performances thrown out the window as far as predictions are concerned. On paper, Brookline enjoys a wide margin over the Orange and Black based on scores run up against common opponents, but the game will not be played on paper . . . Newton has been an in-and-out team all season. It seems to be following a pattern of playing its best football every other Saturday. At its best, Newton appears to be as good as any other team in Greater Boston. On its off-days, Newton can play some pretty ragged ball . . . Like last year, all the pressure for Turkey Day will be on Brookline. The visitors must win to share the Class A title. Newton is far out of the running with a loss and a pair of deadlocks.

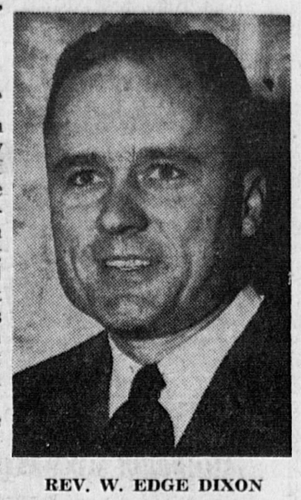

If we were gamblers, we might list Newton as a good "long-shot" prospect An upset over Brookline is not just wishful thinking, for the Tigers certainly have the potential . . But the Orange and Black will really have to be on its toes for this one, as Brookline sports a fast, tricky, clever squad which flashes to scores the minute the defense let up.

Brookline has shown it can score both on the grounds and in the air, both on short, hard-fought drives that punch out a few yards at a time, and on sudden, spectacular sprints by its "touchdown twins," Charlie "Choo-Choo" Ritter and John Fay . . . Ritter is no stranger to Newton fans, as those who witnessed last year's throbbing encounter can testify. With Brookline trailing, 13-0, and seemingly spiritless and lackluster, Ritter took a handoff on the second-half kickoff and scooted 95 yards down the right sidelines to put the underdogs right back in contention . . . Ritter has developed since then into perhaps the best schoolboy runner in the state As soon as he has the ball slammed into his stomach by clever quarterback Jim Hennessey, Ritter is traveling at top speed either through the line or wide around the ends on Brookline's favorite play . . . He never stops trying until the whistle blows, churning out of tacklers' arms and making yardage with players draped across his shoulders Typical of his runs was a close to 70-yard dash against Watertown. Coming through the line, Ritter was grabbed by a backer-up—but as Watertown relaxed, thinking him caught, Ritter spun out of the tackle and outran the other Watertown defenders who, as Newton well knows, are no slouches afoot Also against Watertown, Ritter hid the ball so well on a dash over guard that no one knew he had it until he was crossing the goal line . . . Fleet-footed Fay, his running mate at halfback, is not as fast or as spectacular, but only by a hair. Ritter and Fay both circle the ends, receive passes and rip through the line with almost equal success.

So how can we say that Newton has a chance, with these two runners backed up by a solid team? Because the Tigers have some weapons of their own that can stand up in any company . . . Halfback Dick Lucier and fullback Bobbie Lee are hard and devastating runners. The key to the possible upset is quarterback Chuck Fogarty who—if he is feeling "right"—can pass Brookline—weak on pass defense—right out of the title.

And here's a big bouquet of cheers for the gallant Our Lady's football squad. Lowly-rated at the beginning of the season and off to an unimpressive start, Our Lady's turned in a pair of upsets over strong Archbishop Bishop John Wesley Lord of the Methodist Church has announced the appointment of the Rev. W. Edge Dixon to the pastorate of the Harvard-Epworth Methodist Church, Cambridge, effective December 1.

New Course for Social Welfare Aides to Start

A Training Class for volunteers will start next Tuesday and continue thereafter on Tuesdays and Thursdays through December 16, according to Miss Lucy A. Turner, chairman of the Social Welfare Aid Service of Newton Chapter, American Red Cross.

Under the direction of John A. McCarthy, Jr., executive director of the Chapter, Social Welfare Aides work with Home Service, which is the line of communication between the Armed Forces and their families.

Mature women, with warmth and understanding, can be trained to perform certain tasks which do not require the skill of a professional social service worker. Among other duties, Social Welfare Aides will be trained to do Registration and Information Service in time of disaster. Provisions have been made for the care of young children during the training period.

Among the neighboring chapters which have been invited to send candidates to this course are Wellesley, Waltham, Weston, Framingham and Natick. Newton women interested in joining may call Miss Turner at LAsell 7-7024 or the Chapter House, LAsell 7-6000.

Project Approved To Meet Inter-Group Relations Problems

At a recent meeting, the Newton PTA Council Executive Board approved a project presented by the Human Relations Committee of Newton to set up workshops in inter-group relations problems.

The proposal described by Dr. Thaddeus Krush, chairman of the Human Relations Committee, follows suggestions made by the National Conference of Christians and Jews for a six-weeks' training program for teachers and parents with emphasis on inter-group understanding.

"Programs similar to this have been tried with great success in other communities, and there is every indication that Newton, also, will find the project worthwhile," Dr. Krush said in conclusion.

Details of the plan have been sent to the board of directors of all PTAs in Newton for their discussion and approval.

Representing the Human Relations Committe with Dr. Krush was Mrs. John McClintock. Dr. Benjamin Brown of the National Conference of Christians and Jews was also present at the meeting.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Gov. Herter Has Not Closed the Door to the Possibility That He May Be a Candidate Again in 1956

Governor Christian A. Herter, who has demonstrated himself to be probably the best vote-getter the Republican party in Massachusetts has had since Calvin Coolidge, made it plain the other day that he has not closed the door to the possibility of standing for a third term in 1956.

It has been generally assumed that Mr. Herter would not want to serve more than four years in the punishing and gruelling role of Governor. That impression was strengthened at last June's G.O.P. State convention, when Lieutenant Governor Sumner G. Whittier announced that he would be a candidate for the Governorship in 1956, if Herter did not seek the office.

But it is possible that circumstances may exist 20 months from now which would make it extremely difficult for Governor Herter to decline to spearhead the Republican drive in this State in the 1956 campaign.

Tremendous pressure will be exerted on President Eisenhower to stand for reelection to another term and abandon his own desire to retire to the calm and quiet of farm life. One of the men waiting upon Ike to urge that he carry the G.O.P. banner again in the next Presidential election will undoubtedly be Christian A. Herter who was one of the leaders in the pre-convention Eisenhower campaign in 1952.

Creative Dance Term To Start At Y Next Week

A new term of Creative Dancing will start next week at the Newton YMCA, under the direction of Mrs. Janet Faxon. There are still a few openings in the classes, but people are advised to register early at the Y.M.C.A. at 276 Church street, Newton.

The next term for adults opens on Monday evening, November 29 at 8:00 p.m. No previous training or experience is needed.

A beginners class for children starts the following week, on December 1. Those from 5 to 7 years of age will meet at 2:00 and those from 8 to 10 years of age will meet at 4:00 p.m. on Tuesdays.

Girls in the lower age group with previous experience will meet at 3:00 p.m. on Tuesdays and girls with previous experience in the older group will meet on Wednesdays at 4:00 p.m., starting on December 8.

The creative approach to dance has gained popularity and importance during the past year, especially among teachers and educators.

A National Dance Teachers' Conference, devoted to studying these methods, will take place this winter for the first time. The approach is based on the belief that all people can enjoy movement as a means of expression while they benefit from healthy exercise and training in coordination. The classes are designed for people of all ages and backgrounds as an interesting recreation for the average person.

State Finds Reiss Associates' Operations Safe, Reasonable

New Ward Lines Nearly Finished By Committee

Newton's new ward line boundaries—creating an eighth ward and readjusting the other lines to equalize voting strengths in all sections of the city—have been almost completely revised by the Aldermen's Ward Lines Committee.

Following a meeting of the committee in City Hall last week, Alderman Sharf stated that the final lines will probably be set this week or next.

Only one boundary remains unsettled, between Wards 3 and 4. There is some disagreement over how this should be drawn, and the committee is attempting to have all citizens involved agree on the lines before they are finally set.

A slight dispute over the line between Wards 1 and 2 was resolved by placing five streets in the Nonantum district in Ward 1. Nonantum residents had requested that their district, oldest in the city, remain intact under the new lines.

Nearly two years have been spent by the Ward Lines Committee in the complicated task of overhauling the wards. Alderman Sharf has guided the group from the start. Current members are Adelaide B. Ball, Harry H. Ham Jr., H. Eugene Jones, John P. Nixon, William M. Powers and Stuart M. Spaulding.

Hayden, Treasurer, Mrs. Alex Miller, Secretary, Mrs. James Clare, Mr. John Guiney, Mrs. Eugenia Copeland, Miss Catherine MacDonald, Mrs. Henry Plimpton, Mrs. Raymond Blaisdell, Mrs. Peter Reuter, and Miss Charlotte Fantony, Nutritionist.

JOHN A. BALDWIN

Baldwin Again Heads Newton March of Dimes

John A. Baldwin, 28, of 17 Wilde road, Waban, has been named chairman of the Newton March of Dimes drive for the second straight year. Under Mr. Baldwin's direction, the Newton March of Dimes campaign grossed $32,505 last January.

At the Middlesex County report meeting in February, he was named to the 22-member Middlesex County Executive Committee for a one year term. The committee votes disposition of funds to the county's polio patients.

A Boston insurance broker, Mr. Baldwin was stricken with polio himself in 1937 and spent one and a half years in hospitals. After spending part of this time in the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, he was transferred to the Lakeville Sanatorium, well known for its recuperative work among Middlesex County polio patients.

In accepting his reappointment, Mr. Baldwin cited the need for increased income from the 1955 fund campaign. Pointing out that 185 new polio patients have come under the care of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation in the 10 months ending this Oct. 31, he stated that money will be needed both to care for these additional patients and to finance the stepped-up polio vaccine program.

Symphony Needs Players of Oboe, Bassoon, Fr. Horn

The Newton Symphony Orchestra held its third rehearsal Tuesday evening at Newton High School under the direction of Donald S. March. Among the works performed were the Symphony No. 8 in F Major by Beethoven and the "Clock" Symphony by Haydn. This brings the total number of major works rehearsed this season to nine including four complete symphonies.

Membership in the orchestra is open to musicians capable of reading the standard repertoire of the symphony orchestra. A membership fee of $3 per year for Newton residents is required by the Adult Education Department, which sponsors the orchestra.

Conductor Donald March wishes it known that openings exist in all sections of the orchestra except flute and piano. Particularly crucial right now is the need for experienced players of the oboe, bassoon and French horn. These gaps in the instrumentation must be filled if the orchestra is to make its music available to the public in the form of concerts.

Applicants may write to Newton Symphony Orchestra, 40 Elm road, Newtonville, or may attend the next rehearsal which will take place Tuesday night in Room 2312, Newton High School.

The Columbus left her home port of Boston to participate in NATO exercises with the Fleet. She expects to spend five months in combat training exercises, drills and engage in goodwill tours to European and Mediterranean countries. This tour of duty marks her third visit to the Mediterranean.

Complaint Is Filed By Court

Judge Says Unsafe Conditions Could Bring Complaint

Following a state ruling that Reiss Associates' operations at 49 Elmwood street, Newton, were not "unsafe or unreasonable," a complaint against the company of keeping inflammables without a license was filed last Thursday in Newton District Court.

The company previously had admitted a finding of guilty after the complaint was issued last week at the request of the State Fire Marshal's Office. Judge Donald E. Mayberry placed the charge on file when a representative of the Fire Marshal said the state would issue a license for the firm to store inflammables on a small scale.

Judge Mayberry pointed out, however, that if the situation at the plant became unsafe, then another complaint could be sought. The Fire Marshal's representative admitted the action in issuing the license was unusual, but said he could not see anything "unsafe or unreasonable" in the operations.

A temporary permit for storage of the inflammable resin used in the company's plastics manufacturing was issued by the city for storage, but had expired on September 14. Fire Chief John E. Corcoran told the court that the company was now using less inflammables than previously.

The city has been engaged in a running battle with the plastic company for five years. City officials have objected to odors emanating from the plant, danger from explosion and traffic hazards in the predominantly residential area near Elmwood street.

Reiss Associates have regularly applied for licenses to store the phenolic resin in tanks, but the aldermen just as regularly have turned down the company's petitions.

The company has tried to overcome the strong plastic odors by "washing" the air as it leaves the factory. A number of safety measures inside the plant, recommended by a safety expert hired by Newton, have also been accomplished.

The aldermen have made their majority attitude toward the plant evident several times this year: they would like to see it leave the city, or at least get away from a residential area.

Three petitions have been turned down this year, the latest on August 9. Early this year the company sought permission for both a 500-gallon and 5000-gallon tank in separate petitions. They were refused in April, and the company later asked for a 5000-gallon tank to store less inflammable fluids. This was also denied.

Williams of Braintree and St. Columbkille's to wind up sharing the crown in Catholic League Division II with the Braintree school . . . It's good to see Our Lady's enjoying the rarified atmosphere of championship heights again, after breaking into football a few years back with some of the most powerful teams in Catholic League history. Let's hope the Purple has bounced back from the depths for good. They will find that Newton has enough active fans to give vocal and financial support to outstanding parochial teams . . . Our Lady's grabbed a share of the crown with a 22-12 pasting of arch-rival St. Patrick's of Watertown. St. Pat's played on even terms with the Newton squad until it made the mistake of scoring. Behind 6-0, Our Lady's roared back with 15 points on two quick touchdowns and a safety . . . George Duffy started things off for Our Lady's with a 63-yard dash through right guard. Newton's charging line then forced a St. Pat's end sweep all the way back from the 15 to the end zone for two more points. This play also set up Our Lady's second tally as the parochials immediately launched a 45-yard drive for the score, the finishing touch on the two-play series being a sparkling, 39-yard pass from quarterback Jackie Greeley to left end Dan Corrigan . . . Greeley added Our Lady's third TD in the third period as he grabbed a short enemy aerial at the St. Pet's 27 and scampered into the end zone untouched. St. Pat's had the pleasure of scoring last on a 89-yard pass play, but Our Lady's had the game well under control by then . . . Congratulations are due Coach Jim "Gus" Sullivan, both on his team's inspired performance after dropping the first game of the Catholic League season, and also for his tenth wedding anniversary, which Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan celebrated Monday.

Newton Savings Bank Launches "Stork Club" Savings Plan

NEWTON n 23 scb

The Newton Savings Bank today officially launched a new and unique idea to encourage systematic savings before the Stork's arrival... called the "Stork Club" Savings Account plan. A "happy name given to a happy idea," the new service, the only one of its kind in Massachusetts, is aimed at providing ready cash for those inevitable, necessary and extra expenses that always accompany a new arrival.

There are no dues, membership fees or cost of any kind. All that prospective parents, grandparents... or even uncles and aunts need to start a "Stork Club" Savings Account is to decide on a definite amount ($2.00, $5.00 or $10.00) to be saved each week for either 25 or 50 weeks. At the end of this period this will mean cash-on-hand whether the blessed event is planned for the immediate or near future.

A specially prepared "STORK CLUB" coupon book is issued to members showing the amount chosen to be saved each week. Then when Junior or Junior Miss arrives, the entire amount saved is available in a specially prepared check issued in the infant's name . . . or, part or all of the money can be transferred to a "regular" savings account for which a beautifully illustrated pass-book is issued. The pass-book has a distinctive front cover with provision for the new baby's picture. Parents will treasure this attractive sentimental souvenir of "Baby's first bank account." This is a "grownups" savings account, too, showing the total amount of money deposited... money that will grow each year through regular dividends and spell security and independence in the years ahead. The Stork Club Savings Account plan is available at all three offices, Newton Corner, Wellesley Square and Needham Square.

"A Stork Club Savings Account," stated Mr. Benjamin Louis, Treasurer of the Newton Savings Bank, "is one of the most intelligent and rewarding ideas for the future of our youngsters. It is a "FIRST" in the history of savings This plan", he continued, "permits prospective parents and grandparents, or both, not only to start a Stork Club Account in anticipation of the "blessed event", but it makes for far happier living for all concerned. Besides", he added, "all or part of the money saved may be put into a dividend-bearing savings account to assure a college professional or business future."

Newton Art Association

The guest artist at the regular meeting of the Newton Art Association was Harold Lindergreen, well known teacher, artist, and critic. A member of the Guild of Boston Artists and many other notable art groups, Mr. Lindergreen referred to his recent trip to Europe and some of his experiences. He then revealed his own ideas concerning paintings done by members of the Association. In his comments he observed that an artist may, by thoughtful planning, and making preliminary sketches, develop his own successful painting style, using only those elements interesting and pleasing to the eye. A certain melodic feeling can be obtained by adhering to simplicity and orderly composition, with a constant thought in mind relative to a focal point of interest.

President Carl Stiles called attention to the current exhibition of oil paintings by Mrs. Clare Hudson now showing at the Newton Highlands Branch of the Public Library. This exhibit is well worth a visit as Mrs. Hudson's New England and Florida scenes, as well as her portraits, reveal a thorough knowledge of painting technique.

On Thursday evening December 2nd at the Newtonville Public Library, Mr. Arthur Safford of Boston and Gloucester, will be the guest artist. Mr. Safford is a well known portrait painter and teacher, and will demonstrate by painting an oil portrait of one of the Association members.

Back in civilian life, he enrolled in the Law School of the University of Texas and graduated in 1922 with the LL.B. degree. While practising law he became convinced that he belonged in the Christian ministry. Shortly after, he was licensed by the Methodist Church to preach and went to Amarillo for this first pastorate. After serving several other churches in Texas and one year as District Superintendent of the Sweetwater District, he became pastor of the First Methodist Church in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, where he had a highly successful pastorate of six years.

During his Oklahoma City years Dr. Hooton held numerous positions in the Methodist Church; among them, President of the Jurisdictional Board of Hospitals and Homes, Trustee of Oklahoma City University, and delegate to the Jurisdictional Conference. He also served as President of the Oklahoma City Council of Churches and chairman of its Christian Action Committee. For several years he was ministerial representative on the city-wide, court-supported Marriage Clinic. For eleven years he conducted widely-known religious radio programs in the Southwest, among which were "A Voice from the Churches" and "The Soul's Sincere Desire." In 1942 he was given an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree by Southwestern University.

Since June, 1949, Dr. Hooton has been the Executive Secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, with offices located at 100 Maryland avenue, N.E., in Washington.

Lights for Christmas

The date set by the Board of Aldermen for a further airing of the plea by Newton Centre merchants seeking a financial lift towards adorning the streets of the business district with Yuletide electrical cheer may be too, too late.

Most communities have this annual worthwhile project well advanced at this date; a few, maybe, are already illuminated and have the 1954 Christmas season launched, even if it does crowd Thanksgiving somewhat.

The request of the businessmen cannot be rejected arbitrarily; it contains much merit. Christmas lighting does not benefit shops and stores exclusively and the idea was not accepted and expanded by our New England communities solely for the purpose of luring the lucre from the pockets of citizens into the cash registers of the bazaars. If it assists in bringing more business to our local merchants, let us all be happy about it.

Christmas decorations along the streets are a community benefit, and a municipal project which concerns everybody; the request of the Newton Centre merchants should not be construed as a selfish, callous raid on the public treasury.

In the meantime, the businessmen of Newtonville Square have inaugurated their own neighborhood contribution to the city's festive, holiday attire. Mayor Whitmore will officially set the bulbs a'blazing at special exercises on Wednesday.

The dilemma of the lights could be approached with more zest for its civic interpretation; if a premature rush of Christmas warmth and happy and hearty holiday awareness should engulf our stalwart city fathers, there is an excellent possibility that we could exile old Scrooge and his tight-fisted tendencies. Let Newton light up from border to border. The bil Oh, well, who gives Christmas bills any consideration—before Christmas?

If President Eisenhower yields to the appeals of Republican leaders that he remain in public life, he undoubtedly will request that Governor Herter run again in Massachusetts, and the latter would be in no position to refuse to do so, irrespective of what his own personal deisres might be.

That may well have been what the Governor had in mind, when he told newsmen at a press conference that he had never said he was not going to run in 1956. He declined to go any further in his statement, observing that it is "a little premature "to say anything about an election nearly two years away.

Top Republicans, however, are already giving a good deal of thought to the 1956 campaign, and they are virtually agreed that the G.O.P. will have little chance of regaining control of Congress two years hence unless President Eisenhower consents to bid for another term.

One Republican Senator, who declined to be quoted by name, recently offered the opinion that the G.O.P. might as well hold a convention in 1956, if Eisenhower doesn't run again.

That's going a little far, but it is a fact that there is no one else in the Republican party or, for that matter, in the Democratic party either, who appears to have anything approaching the vote-getting appeal that President Eisenhower commands.

Governor Herter would probably be the outstanding Presidential prospect within the G.O.P., aside from Ike, if it were not for the fact that he was born outside the continental limits of the United States, creating some doubt as to his constitutional right to hold the office.

The possibilities, if Eisenhower retires from office, are Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Senator William F. Knowland, both of California; Senator Everett M. Driksen of Illinois and possibly Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin.

While the McCarthy partisans might offer a dissenting view, none of those four could match the political strength of President Eisenhower.

A great deal can happen to change the political picture in the next 20 or 22 months, but it would appear at this stage that President Eisenhower would be a heavy favorite over anyone the Democrats might pit against him in 1956. If he declines to run again, the Republicans will have just as troublesome a problem as the Democrats in picking a standard-bearer.

* * * *

A rugged fight for the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee appears to be in the making, and it may determine who will control the Massachusetts delegation to the next Democratic national convention.

John C. Carr, present State Committee chairman, is reportedly planning to resign within the next few weeks to become city manager in Medford, and William H. Burke, Jr., has been working energetically to line up votes to step into his place.

Burke's supporters declare that he has the backing of Congressman John W. McCormack. While the Congressman has not openly taken a part in the struggle, his brother, Edward J. "Knocko" McCormack of South Boston, is Burke's campaign manager, and "Knocko" usually does not go counter to the Congressman's wishes.

Now it is reported that Robert F. Murphy, the unsuccessful Democratic nominee for Governor, will step out as a candidate for the committee chairmanship and that ex-Governor Dever will throw his influence behind Burke.

This would amount to a renewal of the conflict that was waged within the Democratic party, when Murphy and Governor's Councillor Patrick J. McDonough were the opponents for the gubernatorial nomination at the Democratic State convention in Worcester early last June.

Burke and Congressman McCormack's brother were two of Councillor McDonough's most active lieutenants, and they played a major part in the drive which saw McDonough lead Murphy on the first three ballots at the convention.

After the convention McDonough protested bitterly that he would have achieved the nomination but for the intervention of ex-Governor Dever. As recently as last week McDonough charged publicly that the convention was "bossed" and sharply criticized the manner in which Murphy's campaign was conducted, maintaining that the professional politicians in the Democratic ranks were prevented from having any part in it.

Two Democratic State Committee members, Harry J. Silva of Dorchester and Peter Cloherty of Brighton, who more than any other two individuals held the line against McDonough at the Worcester convention and frustrated his drive for nomination, are now heading the forces arrayed against Burke.

Burke has heatedly declared that he would not want the State Committee chairmanship, if it had to have the votes of Silva and Cloherty to get it. That is a strictly academic observation since he would have no chance of attaining the chairmanship, if his fate rested upon their votes.

Cloherty and Silva in their own right probably do not command the political strength to block Burke from the chairmanship. But the picture will take on an entirely difference complexion, if Dever now rolls up his sleeves and wades into the fight.

This amounts to a struggle for control of the Democratic machinery in Massachusetts, and before it is completed the battle may leave some scars upon the Democratic party.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Governor's Councillor Charles J. Gabriel of Hingham, whose district takes in West Roxbury and most of Roslindale, reported last week that he spent only $222 on his successful campaign for reelection to a second term. Gabriel disclosed that he received contributions amounting to $222.

* * * * *

William Bergman of Thornton Heath, England, a bricklayer, disclosed this week that he has been sending his weekly wages home to his wife by carrier pigeon for the past 16 years. Bergman explained that he gets paid Friday morning before he starts his day's work. So each payday he takes his carrier pigeon to work with him, straps the money to the bird's leg and releases him. "Been doing it for 16 years," he observes, "and no pigeon has let me down yet."

* * * *

New York police are trying to track down the persons involved in a dog-trapping racket. Several traps obviously intended to snare canines have been discovered in parks in Queens, and a collie was rescued last week from one of the steel-jawed devices.

* * * *

Amateur forecasters insist that the coming winter will be a hard one, and officials in most communities have made extensive preparations to cope with more snow than we have had during the past few years.

* * * *

Oregon Democrats have delivered what amounts to an invitation-ultimatum to Wayne Morse to enroll as a Democrat. Morse was originally elected and reelected to the Senate as a Republican. He plans to vote with the Democrats early in January to organize the Senate and has declared that he will stand for a third term as an Independent in 1956. Now Democratic leaders in Oregon have told Morse either to join the Democratic party or to expect the party's strongest candidate to run against him in 1956.

Arraigned in a Denver court on a charge of driving an automobile with one arm around a woman, Murel Webster was acquitted after his argument that the woman was his wife and that it was therefore "not logical" that he would be driving through town with his arm around her. That's a fairly convincing point. It would be interesting to know how his wife felt about it, however.

Letter To Editor

Must We Surrender to Criminals?

Editor, Newton Graphic:

This is the first public letter I have ever written, but it won't be the last. Four weeks ago in the middle of the afternoon, our twelve-year-old daughter was molested by a sex exhibitionist, who will probably be a sex murderer sometime in the future. Since then, there have been four more similar incidents that I know of in our small section of Newton which never appeared in the papers.

Six days ago our son, just turned fifteen, and two friends of the same age were mauled, threatened and robbed by six thugs varying from about thirteen to seventeen years old. They were very brave behind the knife, choke chain and single-edge razor they wielded. They took the $15.00 my son had earned and the $15.00 one of his friends had been saving up for three months. This happened at ten o'clock on a bright Saturday morning in the M.T.A. Copley station and a subway car between there and Boylston Street, ending behind a small building on Boylston Street. At Copley station, our son broke loose and appealed for help to the man in the ticket booth but was ignored. On the car the boys were surrounded by the hoodlums and told to shut up when they tried to attract the attenion of near-by grown-ups who also shushed them.

Being free Americans, our children were never taught to cope with terrorists. We're all afraid of losing our freedom to the slavery of Communism. Must we surrender it to criminals who may be young in year but not in heart? Must we keep our children shut up in the house in broad daylight like frightened rabbits, or will we end this regime of terror? If our laws and courts hold more sympathy for these "poor, misguided boys" than for their victims, enraged and frightened people may soon be going armed. But in America an angry people can accomplish its will in better ways. Let's bombard our State Representatives and Senators with demands for laws with teeth in them. My husband and I, at least, are not going to wait until our children are killed. Get mad, now! you will, anyway, when it happens to a child of yours.

I want to say that the Boston Police are very efficient, but they must not have their work undone by a week law or a lenient judge. But, Judge Paul G. Kirk deserves the heartfelt thanks of all decent people for the fine start he made on Wednesday in giving nine young monsters five-year sentences for attempted rape.

A. B. H.

SHOULD HELP LIGHTING

Editor, Graphic:

Now that the Christmas season is here and that glorious birthday approaching, I think it would be most appropriate and proper for the honorable members of our Board of Aldermen to reverse their previous vote and to record the entire board as unanimously in agrement as to the distribution by the city of Newton of $1000 to help defray the cost of the electric lighting bill for the display in our different villages.

To my mind, this is not a commercial display for business-like purposes, but a real tribute to the Prince of Peace and the Light of the World. Viewed from an unbusinesslike attitude, it is really a community project and not worthy of debate as such.

I was happy to see that very good lady who represents my district voting in favor of such a worthy cause, when viewed from an impartial manner and as fitting due the season and purpose of such. It is too bad that a question such as this should be the subject of a political debate, as it theoretically is a civic and community project to be shared in by all citizens and visitors alike.

These displays as such are truly in keeping with the season, and represent the light of peace on the world and good will toward all men. It is absurd to think that the majority of our taxpayers would object to such a worthy cause and to such a noble endeavor on the part of our elected officials.

It is very foolish and unbecoming to us as Christians to make this minor matter a subject of debate and discussion when the real purpose of the display is viewed with an unbusinesslike attitude. We should be thankful to the Giver of all good gifts and show our respect in some worthy community lighting displays as proposed, and not leave it to some group of citizens to foot the bill, when it is a civic responsibility.

We should take pride in our capital city which sponsors displays on Boston Common and throughout the Public Gardens. Let us not be outdone and above all less selfish in this matter.

To my way of thinking, this is truly a civic and community responsibility to be shared in by all citizens and taxpayers alike as a tribute to the Light of the World and to the Birth of the Prince of Peace.

EDWARD F. DURKIN,
56 Gardner Street.

FROM CONG. CURTIS

Editor, Newton Graphic:

May I through your columns express my deep appreciation to the Newton election officials who were responsible for the recent recount of votes in the election of a Congressman from the Tenth Congressional District. The recount was conducted with great dispatch and efficiency.

Congratulations are also in order to the Newton election day officials for their extraordinary accuracy in tabulating the vote on election night. It is indeed a tribute to these hard-working and conscientious men and women that out of a total of more than 37,000 votes cast there was a difference of only 14 votes between the recount and the original tally.

To all who have worked for my re-election I extend warmest thanks. I shall always have in mind my obligation to be worthy of the trust which you have placed in me and to represent you to the very best of my ability.

Yours sincerely,
LAURENCE CURTIS

CEREBRAL PALSY SHOW

Editor, Graphic:

On Friday, November 26th, at 8 p.m. in the Newton High School Auditorium, many of our well known radio and television entertainers and disc jockeys are giving a performance for the benefit of the Cerebral Palsied children and adults in the Newton, Wellesley and Weston area.

The proceeds from this entertainment will be used to support the five facilities for the care and treatment of cerebral palsy that now are available in this area. These include the services of a speech therapist who goes into the homes a physiotherapist who instructs parents and works with the child when the need is indicated by the family physician; family counseling services; also the purchase of braces, wheelchairs or walking aids; and the operation of a summer Day Camp. As a Cerebral Palsied adult, confined to a wheel chair, my whole interest in life now, is to see that these services are made available to every child who can benefit from them.

This Variety Show at the Newton High School Auditorium next Friday, is a Thanksgiving Benefit—thangs from those who can sing and dance and play because they are not handicapped or crippled. I would greatly appreciate any help that you can give us in publicising this worthy event.

Sincerely,
PRISCILLA SCHENCK

Health for All

Christmas Sealed

Signed, Christmas Sealed, and delivered to the post office —your Christmas cards. That's one of the holiday tasks ahead that most of us enjoy. Happy memories are recalled as we sign these annual messages of good will to our friends. And there's a special pleasure in adding a pair of Christmas Seals to the flap of the envelope to symbolize our message of good will to the whole community.

Americans are the most generous people in the world. Every year they contribute billions to charity, and especially during the holiday season their hands are outstretched to give so that as many as possible may share in celebrating this happy time. But the Christmas Seals we use represent much more than charity toward the sick and unfortunate. They represent a gift for the welfare of the entire community, a gift for ourselves.

Christmas Seal money is spent to help protect you and me from tuberculosis, an infectious disease that recognizes no social barriers. No matter which side of the tracks we live on, TB is our enemy. When TB enters a household, it can devour the savings of a lifetime, weaken family ties, damage health permanently. And it can kill. Although modern medical science has saved many from TB, it takes more lives than all other infectious diseases. Yet this need not be so. TB can be prevented.

Your contribution to your tuberculosis association is used to prevent TB in your home town. How the money will be spent is decided on the basis of local conditions by people you know who live in your community. The small percentage that goes to the state association and to the National Tuberculosis Association comes right back home in services and materials, and in the results of a broad national program of medical and social research.

Christmas Seals work toward "Health For All." Christmas Seals are for you, against TB.

Temple Shalom Sisterhood

The Sisterhood of Temple Shalom of Newton will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday, December 1 at 12:30 p.m., at the Temple in West Newton in the form of a Hanukah Luncheonette to honor the mothers of the members.

The prayer will be offered by Mrs. Herbert Winer, Mrs. Kenneth Huberman will preside, and Mrs. Leon Fentin will be the Hostess of the Day.

A delightful program has been arranged which includes the modeling of hats which were in high fashion in mother's earlier day, and a medley of popular Jewish songs sung by the Three Lockes, a mother, father, and son trio.

The guests of honor will receive corsages, and the Sisterhood members are urged to bring their mothers and-or mothers-in-law for an enjoyable luncheon and an afternoon of pleasure.

Female Tag-Team Match on Friday At W.N. Armory

Four of the best girl wrestlers in the nation feature the Thanksgiving week mat menu at the West Newton Armory.

The girls, each tough, talented and colorful, will clash in a tag team match Friday night under the auspices of the Burns-Kerr Post, A.L.

Slave Girl Moolah, queen of the junior heavies, and explosive Jean Hogan will tackle hill-billy Daisy Mae and Darling Dagmar, pinup girl of matdom. A feud between Moolah and Dagmar is expected to highlight the unusual female fracas.

Daisy Mae, wiry, agile bubble gum-chewing star, figures to help Dagmar plenty, and if Moolah goes on the war path, Dagmar's going to need all the help she can get.

Like Moolah, Miss Hogan is flamboyant, rough, tough and quick-timpered. They loom as the villains of Friday's feature fray. Two other clashes, involving leading matmen, will complete the card. The program starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Auburndale P.T.A. Hears Talks On "Parents Need Understanding"

The Auburndale P.T.A. met Tuesday evening, November 16, at the Leighton Auditorium of the Williams School, with Mrs. Catharine Holden, Executive Director of the Newton Family Service Bureau, and Mrs. Elinor Evison Case, Supervisor, as guest speakers. Mrs. Evison's subject, "Parents Need Understanding" was preceded by Mrs. Holden's description of the background and objectives of the Bureau, and how it operates.

Mrs. Holden explained that when the Family Service Bureau was founded in 1889 by a group of citizens interested in helping people, it was then staffed by volunteer workers, and the emphasis was on help in the form of food or money for the worthy poor. The aim today remains the same, but the scope has increased. Counsel is supplied to people of all income levels, and a fee system exists whereby a charge is made according to ability to pay. The Bureau is now staffed by paid, skilled workers, and a Psychiatrist Consultant. Its purpose is to promote healthy family life in our community, and to cooperate in improving any economic or social conditions in the community which are unfavorable to unhealthy family living.

Some of the problems helped are marital, parent-child personality adjustment, physical and mental health handicaps, service to the handicapped, service to the child, service to the aged, financial, budgeting, debt, employment, and vocational guidance, as well as many others.

Mrs. Holden concluded by quoting a Chinese saying that "When the heart is set right, the personal life is cultivated. When the personal life is cultivated, the family life is regulated. When the family life is orderly, there is peace in the world."

Mrs. Evison then told how parents are better able to cope with child behavior problems with better understanding themselves, and how the Bureau helps them accomplish this. She stressed the importance of parents trying to discover how some behavior manifestations are particularly annoying to them, as an individual parent. She advises the parent to ask himself not "How should I react to this?" but "How do I feel about it?" and then he must not be afraid of the answer he finds in himself. It has been found that this approach very often changes the attitude of the parent to one more helpful to the child.

Mrs. Evison suggested as a formula for successful child rearing, a combination of love, consistency in the relationship, and a relaxed and confident attitude.

At the conclusion of the talk, parents were shown colored slides of the Halloween parties in all three schools — Williams, Murray Road, and Burr, photographed by Dr. Emerson Sylvester, last year's P.T.A. President.

A. G. Asaff, P.T.A. President presided over the meeting, and refreshments were served in the gym.

Newton-Waltham Bank Pays Real Estate Tax Bills

William M. Cahill, president of the Newton-Waltham ank and Trust Company, announces that the bank recently sent checks totalling nearly $500,000 in payment of real estate taxes to the tax collecting departments in Newton, Waltham, Wayland, Weston and surrounding areas.

These checks represented the 1954 tax bills on 1200 homes and other properties on which the bank holds mortgages in these vicinities. This system of group payment saves the tax collectors the task of handling a large number of individual checks. Mr. Cahill stated that the checks were accompanied by a list showing which individual taxpayer in each community should have his bill stamped "paid-in-full," for 1954

Thanks to My Neighbors

By ESTELLE MASON

On this day to be thankful I am truly thankful for many many things. Thankful for good health, and for my loved ones, and that I live in the U. S. A. I am especially thankful for having neighbors, people who live next door and across the street and down the street and on the streets close by. For it is these good and ordinary folk who share my life in a great many ways even though I may not speak to them, and they are not aware of their importance to me.

It is neighbors who are there in an emergency. Like the time my 7-year-old son was rushed to the hospital in the night for an emergency operation. At 1:00 a.m. I phoned a next-door neighbor from the hospital and said, "Take care of my other two children who are sleeping alone in the house." For a whole week neighbors looked after my two kids.

Or the time one neighbor needed a rare type blood transfusion, neighbors rallied and our friend is well today. Or like the time after the hurricane when half the people on our street couldn't cook because of the lack of electricity in their stoves. Others shared their gas ranges or sent in hot food.

Neighbors are important in many little ways. I am glad that my neighbors go to P.T.A. meetings even when I neglect to. For they look after the welfare of my children as well as their own. I am glad that they are respectable people who set high moral standards, for their children ,for my children have well bred companions. My Neighbors keep their lawns and gardens beautiful and colorful. I have the pleasure of walking along park-like streets. And my children have a healthy atmosphere in which to play and grow up.

When I go shopping there is always someone from "My street" to give me a lift, or a mother to take home the youngsters if it should rain on a school day. My neighbors will lend me a cup of sugar, an egg, or an onion if I run short.

I meet my neighbors at the polls on election day. On Sunday I meet them on the way from church and temples of all creeds. They help run the hospital, and the Y.M.C.A., and the Scouts. They help keep our town clean and healthy, a place to be proud of. My neighbors and I, together we are strong. We are the U.S.A. On this Thanksgiving day I am thankful for my neighbors. God bless all of them.

Spotlight on Weeks

New Report Cards

By JUDIE BECKER

This year we have at Weeks a new type of reporting. This consists of a booklet in which a student writes at intervals during the year. He may refer to it at times to see his progress. In most of our classes we have made up lists of our strengths and weaknesses. The booklet is called, "Toward Successful Living."

The new report card, which is taken home to the parents, is also entitled, "Toward Successful Living." In addition to the old system of letter grades there is now a list of different subtopics under each subject, with a space in which the teacher may comment on a pupil's progress in the various areas of his subject.

The entire plan has been worked on carefully for the past several years.

Newton Highlands Women's Club

Boston Edison's Home Service Division will present an electrical homemaking demonstration for the Newton Highland's Women's Club American Home Day, at the Work Shop, 72 Columbus Street, Newton Highlands, on Wednesday afternoon, December 1, from 1:00 to 2:00 o'clock.

The program will feature the use, care and convenience of the various "plug-in" small electric appliances commonly used in so many homes. In addition, there will be an audience quiz on the practical uses of electricity in the home.

The class will be conducted by Boston Edison Home Economists, Joan Sullivan and Sheila McKenna.

Mrs. Franklin Hawes of 186 Lincoln Street, Newton Highlands is chairman of the program. Special features have been arranged to make this affair popular and timely to all who attend.

Boston Gas Announces NEW GAS RATES

STREAMLINED RATES TO SAVE COMPANY'S CUSTOMERS $¾ MILLION!
THE MORE YOU USE, THE MORE YOU SAVE

Automatic water heating down approximately 10%!
Automatic house heating tumbles as much as 20%!

Read how this affects your gas bill.

On December 3, brand new rates go into effect for all Boston Gas customers. These new rates make it cheaper than ever to use Gas for your major household tasks. Customers who use Gas for more than one purpose (for example, cooking and water heating) will save money. And the more Gas you use, the more you save.

Think of it!

Gas house heating now becomes competitively priced with other fuels. Now everyone can afford to have their major household tasks done automatically — with Gas. No lugging fuel, no fuel deliveries, no dirt, no work. And of course, Gas cooking, clothes drying and incineration remain unchallenged for speed and economy.

Commercial, industrial and building heating customers also will now save through rate reductions for large volume use.

For smaller use, slightly higher bills.

When a customer uses only a small amount of Gas, his bill for that month will be slightly higher — from a penny or two a month to a penny a day.

Under our new rates, any customer can save on his total fuel bills by using Gas for all household services now being performed by other more expensive and less convenient fuels.

We're extremely pleased that our streamlined rates go into effect in time for customers to save on this season's heating bills. We're also pleased to announce our new Budget-TEN Plan for residential heating customers — whereby you may uniformly spread over 10 months your estimated seasonal bill for all Gas you use.

If you have any questions about the new rates, contact your nearest Boston Gas office. And for better, thriftier living, go Gas. Because the more you use, the more you save.

Boston Consolidated Gas Company

Now — more than ever — Gas is your best buy for cooking, water heating, refrigeration, house heating, kitchen heating, clothes drying, and incineration.

Fifth Anniversary of Junior Aid Ass'n To Be Held Dec. 2

The Fifth Anniversary of the Newton - Wellesley Hospital Junior Aid Association will be celebrated by a Christmas Bazaar to be held Thursday, December 2, from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. at the Newtonville Methodist Church. Proceeds from this event will be used to purchase equipment for the hospital—including an incubator for premature babies. This will be the second incubator given to the hospital nursery by the Junior Aid. Due to the continued interest and entnusiasm of the association members, the past five years of fund raising activity has made it possible to provide the hospital with an artificial respirator, an incubator, books for the children's ward and smocks for volunteer workers.

December 2 is a day for all friends and supporters of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital to mark on their calendar. This is the day that Junior Aid members will have an interesting and useful array of gifts available for your shopping pleasure. A delightful puppet show "Winnie the Pooh" will be given at 4 p.m. and 4:45 p.m. by Miss Marjorie McCullough. Children will also be kept busy, while mothers shop, in the "Grab" corner which is arranged by Mrs. Melvin Gulbrandsen of Wellesley. TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

If you could take a tour through a modern TV set manufacturing plant, you'd get a pretty good idea of what is meant by "precision engineering." Every job is important in the making of a TV set, from the original design on paper of the TV circuit down to the soldering of the smallest resistor and the final assembly. Constant checks are made along the assembly line of the set in the process of being put together. Electronic testers have been developed, for instance, which can detect in about a minute any flaw in every electrical circuit in the chassis. These testers can even point out in what circuit a correction is needed . . . and this is only one of the exacting tests a TV set must pass before it's ever on its way to the showroom.

Research has shown that the chance of failure of the many component parts of a TV set comes primarily during the first hour or so of use, because of the heat generated during that time. That's why today's fine TV set undergoes final tests under trying conditions at the factory . . . so that any part failure will occur there, not in your living room. Add this final "test run" to the elaborate system of checks that are made all along the assembly line, and you'll see why today's quality is worth its weight in better performance.

You'll find a large selection of quality sets in our display, including such precision engineered sets as CBS Columbia. For a better choice in the finest in TV, visit our showroom.

Directors of High School PTA Hear Talk by Dr. Lee Barry

The Board of Directors of the Newton High School Parent Teacher Student Association Monday evening, November 15 at Newton High. Dr. Leo Barry outlined to the 31 members present the background of the high school to aquaint them with the kind of a high school they would be working with. Newton High is individual in that it is a comprehensive high school built on one campus, covering all types of education including a technical-vocational high school. Newton High pioneered in a school for slow learners. Two years ago it became a pilot school for the Kenyon plan-one of seven such schools in the U. S. and the only public high school in New England. This is an enriching program for the able student. It has a well established School and School Exchange Program and was a leader in the Driver Education Field. "As we are operating a threefold parent teacher student association", continued Dr. Barry, "the keynote of success is cooperation and understanding."

Mr. Beckwith, president, presented everyone present with a copy of the proposed by-laws, which had been drawn up by the Messrs. Brauninger, Rinker and Medaglia. The name and policies were adopted with but a minor change. The article on membership and dues was discussed. Newton High students their parents, faculty of the school and any interested person in the city of Newton may become members. Dues are 10 cents for students, 25 cents for faculty and 50 cents for parents. This article and the one on officers of the PTSA were read and discussed but as time was limited it was moved that the directors take home their copies, which includes 13 articles, and study them carefully and suggest changes before the next board meeting, to the by laws committee. Article 9 which creates standing committees was read and passed so that the work of the organization could get underway. The first meeting of all chairmen of standing committees will be held Friday evening, November 26, at Mr. Beckwith's at 51 Kingswood road, Auburndale.

Wesley Merritt, a member of the music department, stated that this year Newton is to be host to the All-State Choir on February 23, 24 and 25. Three hundred fifty-six students from all parts of Massachusetts will come to Newton, of which 215 will be housed here. Mr. Merritt is the chorus chairman for this year. The project is under the Mass. Music Association. It was moved that the board of directors of the PTSA take over the mechanism of housing the students and Mrs. Swanton will be responsible for providing the necessary accommodations with the cooperation of the parent directors, over and above those provided by the members of the high school music groups.

A correction in last week's board of directors is as follows: Mrs. Paul Mineai is our director from Newton Centre, Mr. Kazmier is director from Oak Hill Park. The boys' and girls' vice president of the associates are also on the board of directors. Ann Dedrick is the girls' vice president and Robert Schwartz is the boys' vice president.

Ross, associate professor of economics at Smith. The meeting will open with dessert and coffee at the home of Mrs. Winship Clapp Kelley, 503 Walnut street, Newtonville, next Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

As an extra precaution, always leave a window open a little when the heat is on.

Local TB, Health Ass'n Expanding Education Dept.

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has reported an expansion of its Health Education Department by bringing audio-visual materials and literature to teachers in the Newton public schools.

In the elementary grades, a number of teachers are using the Association's pamphlets "Ways to Keep Well and Happy," "Building a Better World," and colorful health posters. Junior High students are being shown the Association's film "Rodney." Requests from teachers for information on tuberculosis and general health conditions are filled weekly. These teaching aids help make the children aware of the desirability of good health habits.

The health education program, as well as the rehabilitation, case finding, and medical research programs of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, is supported solely by the sale of Christmas Seals.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton. Sunday morning service at 10:45, and Sunday School at the same hour. The Wednesday evening testimony meeting will be at 8. The vital importance of detecting the false suggestions of evil and correcting them with the spiritual truth concerning God's unfailing goodness and all-power will be stressed Sunday, November 28.

ORDERED, that due notice of said intention and of said hearing be given by publication in the Newton Graphic and the Newton Villager on November 25, 1954, under the provisions of the General Laws.

Read and adopted,
MONTE G. BASBAS,
City Clerk.

List of Recommendations accompanying order of hearing for amendments to the Zoning Ordinance is shown below, as recommended by His Honor the Mayor, Communication #106796:

Amending Section 23.23 of the Revised Ordinances of 1952 to read as follows: "Section 23.23. Effect of chapter on prior permit. This chapter or any amendment thereof shall not affect any permit issued or any building or structure lawfully begun before notice of hearing before the planning board on the question of adoption is first given; provided, that construction work under such a permit is commenced within six months after it is issued and the work, whether under such permit or otherwise lawfully begun, continues in good faith to completion so far as reasonably practicable under the circumstances. The issuance of a permit or the beginning of work upon a building or structure, or a change of use, after such notice has been given or such warrant has been issued, shall not justify the violation of this chapter or any amendment thereto subsequently adopted as the outcome of such hearing and in substantial accord with such notice, provided the subsequent steps required for such adoption are taken in their usual sequence without unnecessary or unreasonable delay."

Amendment of Section 23.9 (a) of the Revised Ordinances of 1952 by striking out everything through the word "ordinance" in the fourth and fifth lines and inserting in place thereof the following:

"(a). Except as provided in section 23.23 this chapter or any amendment thereof shall not apply to existing buildings or structures, nor to the existing use of any building or structure, or of land to the extent that it was used at the time of adoption of the same or of any corresponding provision of any prior ordinance."

Amendment to Section 23.21 (a) of the Revised Ordinances of 1952 by striking out the word "and" in the 16th line and inserting in place thereof the words "to the planning board and to".

"(e). The board of appeal shall adopt rules, not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter, for conducting its business and otherwise carrying out the purposes of this chapter. Meetings of the Board shall be held at the call of the chairman and also when called in such other manner as the board shall determine in its rules. Such chairman, or in his absence the acting chairman, may administer oaths, summon witnesses and call for the production of papers. All hearings of the board shall be open to the public. The decision of the board shall be made within a reasonable time. The board shall cause to be made a detailed record of its proceedings, showing the vote of each member upon each question, or if absent or failing to vote, indicating such fact and setting forth clearly the reason or reasons for its decision, and of its other official actions, copies of all of which shall be immediately filed in the office of the city clerk and shall be a public record, and notices of decisions shall be mailed forthwith to parties in interest as designated in paragraph (a) of this section, to the planning board, and to every person present at the hearing who requests that notice be sent to him and states address to which such notice is to be sent."

Attest:
MONTE G. BASBAS,
City Clerk.

Motorists Cost Insurance Firms $29,000 Here in '53

Newton motorists cost the insurance industry over $29,000 in losses in the year 1953, Attorney Robert A. Penney, representing the Casualty Insurance Companies serving Massachusetts, told the Newton Lions Club at their dinner meeting last Thursday evening at the Newton Y.M.C.A.

The bulk of these losses is due to those drivers under 25 years of age, Penney said. This under-25 group, while comprising but 17 percent of the drivers, are responsible for 26 percent of the claims. The drivers above the age of 25, who comprise 70 percent of our driving public, not only paid their own way, but carried the cost for this accident-prone under-25 group.

In an effort to have rates reflect the collective records of a given group, the so-called age and use classification was first evolved during 1954. The under-25 group that year was charged 60 percent more than the ordinary driver. This allowed the older drivers to enjoy a rate reduction which experience has shown was warranted.

Penney stated that the age and use classification will be continued during 1955, with one change. Those drivers under 25, who are married and have one or more children will, like the high school trained driver, pay the same rate as owners in the business use classification.

Everyone in Newton will enjoy a rate reduction for 1955. While the figures for 1954 are not yet available, the first six months in 1953 showed a 3 percent drop in claims over the previous year. It is believed that this trend will continue.

The reason for this, said Penney, is the point system which became effective in January of 1954. This plan has reduced the number of claims. Beginning in 1956, accumulated points may mean higher insurance rates for the poor driver. It is not possible at this time to say just what increase will be levied on these drivers, who are prone to have accidents. However, these surcharges will be reflected in subsequent reductions of the rate for the careful driver.

"Of course," continued the speaker, "the Utopian dream of completely accident-free highways will never be reached. I believe that courtesy is contagious. Be as courteous in your car as you are on foot. In this way each of us will achieve better driving habits, fewer accidents and a reduction in automobile insurance rates."

Civil Defense Auxiliary Fire Department Holds Meeting

A meeting of the Newton Civil Defense Auxiliary Fire Department was held Thursday evening, November 17, at the Civil Defense Headquarters under the direction of Auxiliary Chief Milton P. Young, assisted by Assistant Chiefs, Fred A. Cole, Jr. and Philip Gilfix.

Motion pictures of the recently acquired fire truck were shown. These films had been made during drill periods which the Auxiliary hold each week. Slides were shown of a demonstration in fighting oil fires.

A Rescue Truck, purchased by Newton Civil Defense, is expected to arrive in the city this week. In connection with this, films made at the Federal Civil Defense Rescue Training School at Olney, Maryland were shown to the group. These films were shown to demonstrate some of the duties performed by a rescue squad in disaster. Rescue squads are to be organized in the city in the near future. Many of the cities and towns in Massachusetts are being assisted in this work by Veterans' organizations.

A First Aid training program was discussed under the direction of James Campbell of the Newton Chapter of American Red Cross. Classes will be held each week at the Civil Defense Headquarters. One class is for beginners and one a refresher course for those who have had previous First Aid training.

Four new members of the department were present: Martin Berman, Richard Krukonis, Merrill Damon, and Willard Hatch. There were forty-five regular members present.

A drawing was held and Jason Denenberg was presented with a ten-pound turkey.

Guests at the meeting were; Assistant Chief Henry Murphy, Lt. Louis Collela, and Lt. Lawrence Clark, all of the Newton Fire Department; also, Harold Ames, member of the Mayor's Advisory Board on Civil Defense, Chief Deputy Director Wallace E. Allen, Administrative Assistant Frank F. Wasson, and Deputy Director of Control Center, Herbert S. Robbins.

Famed Traveler Speaks to Newton Post

At the meeting of Newton Post No. 48 last Thursday, E. H. Cooley, economic and industrial consultant spoke at length to a large group of legionnaires and friends in the cafeteria of Newton City Hall.

The meeting was preceded by a fried chicken supper which was served by members of the Executive Board and volunteers from the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Commander Cunningham administered the oath to the following new members: Joseph A. Ferguson, William E. Lucey, Jr., Antonio Capello, Brendan C. Feeney, Ernest F. Dietz, Joseph L. Burke, George F. Seiferth, Jr., and Edward Joseph Power.

According to Mr. Cooley, from an economic standpoint the United States is now spending 14 times as much as it did 25 years ago. He also said that women hold 65 per cent of all the wealth in the country, and spend 86c of every dollar spent. On another side of the ledger, however, he says more people are beginning to talk religion, and he said in dealing with our friends overseas, quoting Proverbs 4:7 "Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding."
